ANOTHER STEAMER TRAIN IN AN ACCIDENT

Mail Express to Queenstown Broke in Two—No One Was Badly Hurt.

QUEENSTOWN, Oct. 21.—The American mail train which left Dublin at 8 o'clock this morning carrying the mails and passengers to Queenstown for the Cunard Line steamer Umbria, met with a serious accident at Tivoli station, near Cork. The train had to pass over a stretch of line which was flooded from the very high due to a southerly gale accompanied by heavy rain. On this stretch a coupling gave way and the train was divided into two sections, one portion dashing on over the engine and the other being left behind. The sudden break caused great alarm among the passengers, several of them sustained slight injuries from being thrown down. The two portions of the train were eventually rejoin and proceeded.

ALASKAN MINING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—No romance is of lesser interest the story of the development of the mining industry in Alaska during the past decade. It was attested roughly by the increase in the value of its annual output from $2,400,000 in 1895 to over $15,000,000 in 1902. The gold production of 1902 according to reports of the United States geological survey, increased probably sixty per cent, over 1901.

Your Liver

You cannot possibly enjoy good health when the liver is inactive and the bowels constipated. You must keep the liver active. You must have daily action of the bowels. Ask your doctor if this is not true. Ask him at the same time if he knows a better laxative than Ayer's Pills. All vegetable, sugar-coated. Dose, only one pill, at bedtime.

SOCIALISM.

A Toronto clergyman of some repute recently preached a sermon dealing with economic conditions, and left to be answered by his congregation the question, which raised a doubt in his own mind, Can a Christian be a Socialist?

The first child born on this earth put the same query a different form, when Cain asked, "Am I my brother's keeper?" and in the world of today there are none who would answer otherwise than in the affirmative. Why then is there any doubt as to the relation of Christianity and socialism?

No Christian can be other than a socialist; we are all socialists if we stop long enough to think about it, but the trouble is we are not half earnest enough, nor do we apply in everyday life the true principles of socialism or what includes these, the principles of Christianity.

Socialism, pure and simple, is not that creed or platform set forth by a certain class of people for the purpose of bringing about a wished for improvement in economic conditions, a platform which varies with time and place. It is rather the inward realization that we are all here as members of one family, that we owe to others fair treatment, kindness, generosity, and when necessary hearty assistance, that in endeavoring to do our duty to the world we can best reach the desired end by helping others as we go along, not by selfish strivings after great things for the individual, but for the betterment of the community as a whole. No man can truly say that he owns anything. The first of all ownership was stealing, when the more powerful robbed the weaker, when one nation seized the territory of another, and all our so-called clear titles to lands can be traced back to a dishonest transaction on the part of someone who was stronger than the person robbed. In the same way today the men of wealth are the strong, and as a rule their wealth is gained by their strength, not vice versa. Their superior ability gives them an advantage over their fellows and through industry and application they succeed where others equally industrious fail. It is often true that the accumulation of property is carried on selfishly and at the expense of the community, that the poorer classes suffer in order that one or two men may store up more gold than they can ever need. This is in opposition to the principles of true socialism but these principles are not opposed to the accumulation of wealth. The only question is regarding the manner in which it is gained. Large sums of money in the possession of the individual are of as great benefit as if they were expended on society, and thus communism is not one of the plans of the socialist platform. In a family the earnings of the elder brother are divided among all the other members who receive smaller pay, but if one of the latter is suffering, the more fortunate should and, as a rule, does, come to his aid. Society should be looked upon as one large family and in it the wealthy members need not divide their possessions among all, but rather help, but in trust to aid the suffering and down-trodden. A man who grows rich through the misery of his fellows is neither a Christian nor a Socialist; but a millionaire who acts justly with society as a class, may be both. If the idea of fraternity prevails, the man who honestly accumulates wealth wins respect, he may be depended upon for the benefit of humanity, but the one who gets six figures in his bank book by robbing others is not worthy of regard.

For thousands of years the spirit of socialism has been struggling for recognition. The many different economic theories evolved and advocated, none of which will ever be accepted, are merely the efforts of the suffering to secure better treatment, but at the same time they contain the germs of that higher ideal which through years will become real, the fraternity of the human race. We have gone a few steps on the road, several have been established on the underlying principles of socialism, the franchise, our public schools, and gradually fuller recognition will come, though the ultimate adoption of the creed will be delayed by the well intentioned but frequently misplaced efforts of those classes which now strive for recognition.

BUYING A DREDGE.

The members of the board of works will meet this afternoon for the purpose of again trying to make up their minds whether they shall decide to reverse several of their former decisions about buying a dredge. The report of Inspectors Wright and Dalton will be heard and they will likely be able to give figures of the cost of the different plants examined. A dredge would be a good asset for St. John to have, when the state of the harbor is considered, but it will involve the expenditure of a great deal of money, more than the city can afford. The public debt is now away up in the millions. The interest charges absorb a very large portion of the gross revenue, and there are works now under way which will require heavy additional burdens on the taxpayer.

The present intention in buying a dredge is to have the berths at Sand point cleaned up before the winter port season opens. Six weeks remain for this and the Board can do the work. On No. 3 crib site one week or perhaps a little more if much sliding occurs will be spent. After that it will not be difficult for the Board to spend a few days and nights at Sand Point helping the city dredge and there is little doubt if the work is properly managed, that this can be performed without interfering seriously with the progress of the new wharf. Anyway the preparation of Sand Point is of the first importance.

There is an understanding that the federal government may at a later date purchase from the city the dredge which is likely to be bought. But the trouble is that years will elapse before the city is prepared to sell. Any amount of work is required to be done here, the Navy Island bar should be removed, and the whole channel widened and straightened. If the city buys a dredge it will be kept continually at work using up very large sums of money for dredging plants are expensive and in going ahead with extensive and costly works by which the country, as a whole, which does not contribute anything to this city, is to be benefited. The majority of the citizens will think it is not.

"THORNS HAVE ROSES."

It isn't so much the way things are as the way you look at a thing: There's always the note of a merry song.

For the thorn that ready to sting,
And "roses have thorns!" is a stupid thing.

For though it may all be so,
I think we would better be telling the world.

That thorns have roses, you know.

We cannot expect to live our lives
From what is bitter and apart.

But each one knows when he's felt a thorn
From the pain it has left in his heart.

He doesn't need us to tell him it's there,
Or murmur a maxim of woe;

We'd better be singing a psalm of hope,
For thorns have roses, we know.

—Florence J. Boyce, in Park's Magazine.

A MORMON ROMANCE BLASTED.

(From the Outlook.)
Through my acquaintance with the apostle's daughter I met one of the Young boys, and we forthwith fell in love. The meetings were not as frequent as our ardent passion craved, for he went to the Mormon school, while gentle children attended the schools of Episcopal, Methodist or Presbyterian churches. The ministers of the different churches were called "pre-fessors" during the time of the war, and the intervention of the war having no stamp for my billet d'oux, and having squandered my last nickel in frothy persuasions, I resorted to the waste paper basket and found what seemed to be a perfectly good stamp. The postmaster was not of the same opinion, unfortunately, and he actually broke the seal of my sacred communication and took the letter to my father. The rest of the story is veiled in tears, and before the wounds had fairly healed I made the acquaintance of my beloved's father, Brigham Young.

WHAT LABOR M. P.'s COST.

(From the Spectator.)
An interesting official statement is made with regard to the finances of the labor party. Each of the twenty-nine M. P.'s qualified to receive benefits from the parliamentary fund is paid £200 a year, and this, with other necessary expenses—percentage of returning officers' fees, salary of a clerk to the whips, etc., and percentage to general fund—bring the total expenditure to £5,250 per annum. Last year's income being only £4,000, the executive committee that they will propose at the next annual conference to twopenny per member per annum. With an income of £5,000 a margin of £1,500 would be left to meet the further charges of maintenance.

Turning officers' fees anticipated from the increased representation of labor in Parliament.

WATCHING HIS TOP COAT.

An engineer from Sunderland was spending a few days in London with a friend, and after a busy morning sight-seeing the Londoner chose a large restaurant for luncheon, thinking it would be a novel experience for the man from the north. The visitor appeared to enjoy his luncheon, but kept looking in the direction of the door. "What are you watching?" asked his friend, rather annoyed.

"Well," was the quiet reply, "As 'keepin' an eye on ma topcoat." "Oh, don't bother about that," said the other, "You don't see me watching mine."

"No," observed the guileless engineer, "there has no call to it's ten minutes sin' thine went."

Private (after deep cogitation)—"And do I draw the beer for a company when I get back to camp?"

LEAK IN THE SUBMARINE CAUSED HER TO SINK

The Vessel Nor Can They Get the Bodies Out.

Diverted Have Not Yet Succeeded in Raising

BIZERT, Tunis, Oct. 21.—The divers working on the French submarine boat Lutrin, which went down off this port October 16, with 14 men and two officers on board, succeeded today in digging a tunnel under her stern through which a hawser was passed. These operations were conducted under the personal supervision of H. Thomson, the French Minister of Marine. A heavy chain has been placed in position under the submarine's bows, and the preparations for lifting her are now complete.

All efforts to remove the bodies from the Lutrin have proved vain. Through the window of the hatch divers have seen two corpses with arms interlocked. This position of these bodies is such as to make it impossible to open the manhole. The two bodies seen from outside cannot be identified, but there is reason to believe that one, clad in a white shirt, is that of Lieut. Fepoux, commander of the Lutrin.

The weights of the submarine, with the exception of those on the star-board bow, are in position. The star-board weight has been broken off and has been fastened on the bottom.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—A telegram received by the Ministry of Marine from Bizert says that according to information taken by the commission investigating into the affair it seems certain that the submarine boat Lutrin, as the result of some defect, went down by the stern and that she must have filled with water almost immediately.

CAMPBELL-BANNERMAN MAY GO TO HOUSE OF LORDS

While Refraining the Position of Premier—Other Changes in British Cabinet are Mentioned.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—According to the Morning Post the close of the autumn or the beginning of the next session of Parliament is likely to see important changes in the cabinet. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the premier, will lead the Liberals in the house of lords, remaining as premier. This would be the first time since the death of Ripon to retire as Liberal leader in the house of lords, and H. M. Asquith would become Liberal leader in the house of commons. Chief Secretary for Ireland Bryce, is also expected to go to the house of lords, succeeding the Marquis of Ripon as lord of the privy seal, and Winston Churchill will enter the cabinet as chief secretary for Ireland to carry out the devolution policy.

MANY LITTLE CHILDREN DO NOT ATTEND SCHOOL

Some Under Eight Years of Age are Working for Their Living.

The enumerators recently appointed by the school board to take the names and ages of children in the city wards have nearly completed their work. The result of the enumeration has proved that a compulsory educational act is wanted in St. John.

The enumerators had no trouble in gathering their information, as most of the parents are anxious that the compulsory educational act shall be applied.

Few cases of truancy were found, the most of the children having been kept away from school, either on account of employment or contagious diseases being in their homes.

It was found that a large number of boys and girls were at work in the season, were working in factories. In one ward it was found that 9 per cent. of the children were absent from school.

NEARLY TWO HUNDRED PERSONS DROWNED

Russian Passenger Steamer Struck a Floating Mine and Foundered.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—A despatch received here from Vladivostok by Lloyd's agency, says the Russian wooden coasting steamer Warjagin struck a floating mine and foundered Oct. 20. A portion of her passengers and crew was saved, but the remainder, numbering 189 persons, were drowned.

Another message received by a news agency, says two hundred persons perished on board the Warjagin, only one being saved.

FOURTEEN INCHES OF SNOW IN DAKOTA

ABERDEEN, S. D., Oct. 21.—What is regarded as the worst snow storm that has occurred so early in the season since the settlement of South Dakota, raged yesterday and part of today. Fourteen inches of snow had fallen up to dark last night.

Railroad traffic is blocked, and telegraph and telephone wires are down.

BIG FIRE OCCURRED IN WELLINGTON, N. Z.

STOLE THE PRISONER WHILE THE GUARDS SLEPT

Mobile Mob Lynched Dan Dove, a Negro Charged With Theft.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 21.—Robert Clark, alias Dan Dove, a negro, from Kansas City, was hanged from a telephone pole near the Lucedale Depot of the Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City R. R. by 300 masked men, at an early hour today, after being spirited from the jail of Jackson county. Miss Dove was arrested Friday night by a posse who followed him to within two miles of Mobile from Lucedale, where he had, it is said, attempted to assault two white women and stolen a horse and a shot gun. The negro offered assistance and he was shot in the shoulder. Deputy Sheriff M. W. Hinton, of Lucedale, took the prisoner from the posse and managed to evade a Mississippi mob bent on lynching him. Hinton placed the negro in the Lucedale jail, and with another deputy guarded him until early this morning, when both guards fell asleep. When they awakened, the negro was missing. The body was subsequently found strung up to a telephone pole a short distance from the jail.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 21.—Robert Clark, the negro lynched at Mobile today had a bad police record here. For ten years, up to the time he left Kansas City a year ago, Clark was the bully of the Collage Lane, a negro settlement, and had served many sentences in jail for participating in cutting affairs.

BRIEF DESPATCHES

PASRON, W. Va., Oct. 21.—Worth B. Jennings, of Jennings town, county, president of the First National Bank at Hendricks, shot himself in the head today and died at a hospital. Despondency, due to ill health is said to have prompted him to take his life. His estate is estimated at over $1,000,000.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—One man was killed, another hurt so seriously he will die and six other persons sustaining cuts and bruises as a result of a street car collision tonight in Knoxville, a suburb. The dead man is Michael Sullivan, a conductor, and the fatally injured is Lewis H. Davis, treasurer of the Foundry and Machine Company, of Carick, a neighboring borough for Knoxville.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The steamer Euraris, of the Cunard Line, which while anchored in a dense fog off Staten Island yesterday, was struck and slightly damaged by the Atlantic transport liner Minnehaha, made repairs today and later proceeded for Liverpool. The Minnehaha was practically unharmed.

STOLE JEWELLRY TO THE VALUE OF $1000

WELLESLEY, Mass., Oct. 21.—Jewelry valued at $1,000 was stolen today from the house of Arthur Hunsweil by two men who were seen to make their escape in an automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunsweil were away at the time. Servants who were in the rear of the house saw the men as they ran down the lawn and jump into their machine. The robbery was discovered immediately after.

UNHAPPY LEPER WAS GIVEN POISONED FOOD

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 21.—The body of George Raschid, the Syrian leper, was cremated yesterday at the leper colony here. The body had been staying in a room on fire and the body was consumed with it. Many people at Clarksburg say the leper was given poison in his food. Pickens' citizens opposed the presence of the man with the loathsome disease.

An advertisement should be plain and honest, not dovey—nothing need be said in it for mere ornamentation. It should contain nothing which is not strictly true, but should be sure to claim as much as is true.—Publisher, c. The quality is good.
