

Who are the Persecuted?

BY G. H. BURROUGHS

In these golden days men seem able to do anything without troubling their consciences in the least. Bigotry has become so unpopular, that multitudes of religious professors have abandoned all care about principle...

their pulpit for a Sunday or two, and have preached against the things that were being believed in the community.

There are persons who raise a hubbub every time a man of novel views is not allowed to intrude upon an assembly of godly people.

It is to be feared that sometimes we depend too much on the public ministrations of the word, forgetting that God has said "Call unto me and I will answer thee and show thee great and mighty things which thou knowest not."

It is not unjust to tell that gentleman that he is out of place among us. Let him be open market; nobody denies his liberty of speech; the world is large enough.

It is not to be expected that in professed communion with us, who are the persecutors, we should be expected to meet in professed communion with those who are the persecuted.

Dear Brethren and Sisters, Greeting. We are thankful to Him who has heard our prayers and owned and blessed our efforts during the past year that we are again enabled to address you with tidings of good cheer and continued prosperity in the Master's work.

more complete devotion to His work, more deep spirituality of life, more earnestness of soul in the bringing in of that heaven which has waited during the year.

It is to be feared that sometimes we depend too much on the public ministrations of the word, forgetting that God has said "Call unto me and I will answer thee and show thee great and mighty things which thou knowest not."

It is not unjust to tell that gentleman that he is out of place among us. Let him be open market; nobody denies his liberty of speech; the world is large enough.

It is not to be expected that in professed communion with us, who are the persecutors, we should be expected to meet in professed communion with those who are the persecuted.

Dear Brethren and Sisters, Greeting. We are thankful to Him who has heard our prayers and owned and blessed our efforts during the past year that we are again enabled to address you with tidings of good cheer and continued prosperity in the Master's work.

There was a tumult in Mrs. Farham's nursery, and she was sitting on the floor, and she was talking to the children and she was saying "Five-year-old Sammy was trying to turn a somersault in one corner."

ing, and that the constant repetition of the average preaching would do well to spend a term or two in the primary school.

It is to be feared that sometimes we depend too much on the public ministrations of the word, forgetting that God has said "Call unto me and I will answer thee and show thee great and mighty things which thou knowest not."

It is not unjust to tell that gentleman that he is out of place among us. Let him be open market; nobody denies his liberty of speech; the world is large enough.

It is not to be expected that in professed communion with us, who are the persecutors, we should be expected to meet in professed communion with those who are the persecuted.

Dear Brethren and Sisters, Greeting. We are thankful to Him who has heard our prayers and owned and blessed our efforts during the past year that we are again enabled to address you with tidings of good cheer and continued prosperity in the Master's work.

There was a tumult in Mrs. Farham's nursery, and she was sitting on the floor, and she was talking to the children and she was saying "Five-year-old Sammy was trying to turn a somersault in one corner."

himself in his present manner. "I know what," said Gertrude. "Well, I'm sure."

It is to be feared that sometimes we depend too much on the public ministrations of the word, forgetting that God has said "Call unto me and I will answer thee and show thee great and mighty things which thou knowest not."

It is not unjust to tell that gentleman that he is out of place among us. Let him be open market; nobody denies his liberty of speech; the world is large enough.

It is not to be expected that in professed communion with us, who are the persecutors, we should be expected to meet in professed communion with those who are the persecuted.

Dear Brethren and Sisters, Greeting. We are thankful to Him who has heard our prayers and owned and blessed our efforts during the past year that we are again enabled to address you with tidings of good cheer and continued prosperity in the Master's work.

There was a tumult in Mrs. Farham's nursery, and she was sitting on the floor, and she was talking to the children and she was saying "Five-year-old Sammy was trying to turn a somersault in one corner."

To Sunday School Workers

ONE of the most valuable helps for the study of the Bible is the

It is to be feared that sometimes we depend too much on the public ministrations of the word, forgetting that God has said "Call unto me and I will answer thee and show thee great and mighty things which thou knowest not."

CAMPBELL'S TONIC... A CLASSICAL AND HIGH SCHOOL... UNION BAPTIST SEMINARY... SAINT JOHN, N. B.

It is to be feared that sometimes we depend too much on the public ministrations of the word, forgetting that God has said "Call unto me and I will answer thee and show thee great and mighty things which thou knowest not."

It is not unjust to tell that gentleman that he is out of place among us. Let him be open market; nobody denies his liberty of speech; the world is large enough.

It is not to be expected that in professed communion with us, who are the persecutors, we should be expected to meet in professed communion with those who are the persecuted.

Dear Brethren and Sisters, Greeting. We are thankful to Him who has heard our prayers and owned and blessed our efforts during the past year that we are again enabled to address you with tidings of good cheer and continued prosperity in the Master's work.

There was a tumult in Mrs. Farham's nursery, and she was sitting on the floor, and she was talking to the children and she was saying "Five-year-old Sammy was trying to turn a somersault in one corner."

FOR SALE... 296 BAR... CORPUL... Various real estate and business advertisements.