FREDERICTON.

[Progress is for sale in Fredericton at the bookstore of W. T. H. Fenety and by James H. Hawthorne.] Oct. 29.—Weddings and anniversaries of weddings have certainly been the order of the day this week. Yesterday afternoon there was a wedding, in the evening three anniversary celebrations, and this morning another wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Temple's golden wedding was a decided success, both in the afternoon and evening. The reception in the afternoon, between 4 and 6 o'clock, was largely attended by the middle aged friends of Mr. and Mrs. Temple, and there were almost entirely of comparatively young people. The decorations were exceedingly pretty and characteristic. The bride and groom of fifty years ago, received their guests standing under a beautiful floral bell, which was made of autumn flowers, emblematic of the lives of the couple over whose heads it swung. From this bell to the gallester were suspended yellow ribbons, while the gas light was adorned by very pretty yellow shades over the globes, some representing sunflowers; there was also an elegant mantle drapery of yellow silk, embroidered in delicate shades. A profusion of exquisite yellow roses, besides other flowers adorned the rooms. Dancing was enjoyed in the evening in the large drawing room. Choice dance music was furnished by the L. C. orchestra. Ice cream and cooling drinks were served through the evening, and at 12 o'clock the supper room was opened, showing the supper table a marvel of beauty and attractiveness. Over the centre of the table swung a large golden bell, suspended by yellow silk ribbons, and a bow to the four corners of the table. Directly under this bell was the wedding cake, three tiers high. After was beautifully decorated with flowers. After the ladies returned to the drawing room, the gentlemen drank to the health and long life of Mr. and Mrs. Temple, while his worship, the mayor, made a short speech to the four corners of the table, and company sang three cheers for their genial host. There were a number of handsome new dresses among the ladies. Mrs. Temple wore an elegant black silk and lace dress, with yellow trimmings; a white cap, with yellow ribbons.

Mrs. Forrester, a beautiful costume of cream crepe embroidered in gold, and cream silk dress on train; gold ornaments. Miss Grosvener, granddaughter of Mrs. Temple, wore white tulle over yellow silk. Mrs. Hilyard, very handsome costume of yellow crepe, embroidered in gold, yellow satin trimmings. Miss Burns, of Gloucester, white silk with white ribbons, natural flowers. Mrs. Harry Beckwith, an elegant costume of old gold and black satin, richly trimmed with gold fringe and gold cord; gold ornaments. Mrs. Godkin, a very pretty grey silk with black lace trimmings, white flowers. Mrs. Charles Beckwith a very pretty and becoming costume of red fabric with pale yellow and red ostrich tips, red fan. Mrs. T. C. Allen, a rich black velvet, on train, skirt perfectly plain, bodice trimmed with jet fringe. Mrs. George Allen, a beautiful dress of cream satin, richly embroidered in front in gold, yellow ribbons. Mrs. Douglas Hazen, yellow silk, on train. Mrs. Bond, pale green corded silk, on train, ostrich tip same shade in her hair. Mrs. John Black, rich black velvet, long train, feather trimmings. Mrs. Capt. Mansell, black lace over black silk. Mrs. Henning, handsome black lace over black satin, old rose ostrich tip in her hair, old rose ribbons. Mrs. Jeannie Winslow looked lovely in pink silk, long train, bodice trimmed with pink pearls, pink ostrich tips. Mrs. Inglis, white tulle trimmed with white satin ribbon, over white satin. Mrs. Edou Winslow, pale blue silk trimmed with gold passementerie. Miss Bodford, cream striped silk, natural flowers. Miss Lella Bodford, white lustré with white ribbons, natural flowers. Miss Frank Tibbitts, blue silk. Miss M. L. Tibbitts, white silk and ribbons. Miss Blanche Tibbitts, blue silk and silver brocade. Miss Maggie Allen, pink silk with steel buckles and pink ribbon, pink aigrette in her hair. Miss Randolph, a handsome cream silk with cream spotted gauze overdress, trimmed with narrow satin ribbon, cream roses. Miss Claxter, black lace and ostrich tips. Miss Alice Tippet, black stripe silk, with yellow trimmings. Miss Sophie Tippet, blue silk and brocade. Mrs. James Tibbitts, black moire, long train. Mrs. Bernice, black silk and ribbons. Mrs. Burnside, cream henrietta cloth, cream ribbons. Miss Bailey, yellow silk, trimmed with narrow black velvet, yellow roses, rhinestones. Mrs. Hazen, black silk. Mrs. Bridges, dark green velvet, trimmed with pink satin and coral. Mrs. Bradley, brown silk and feathers. Miss Bessie Jack, heliotrope cashmere and velvet, on train. At the reception the ladies wore handsome evening costumes with bonnets to match. Among the strangers at the ball, I noticed Mr. Flood, of St. John, Mr. De Wolf, of Halifax, and Mr. Haggerty, of McAdam Junction, also Mr. Bond, of St. John. Mrs. Hilyard's little girls looked very pretty in white, with yellow ribbons. The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Temple presented them with a number of elegant presents, which were exhibited on the piano. A party of over sixty friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. H. Fenety took them by surprise on Tuesday evening at their residence, St. John street, with an abundant supply of gifts of every conceivable kind, it being the tenth anniversary of their wedding day. Among the party were the following ladies and gentlemen: Mr. and Mrs. Beck, Judge and Mrs. Wetmore, Dr. and Mrs. Colburn, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Loring, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Babbit, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Fiewelling, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Tibbitts, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Fenety, Mrs. Milledge, Mrs. E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Allen, Rev. F. Alexander, Rev. G. Fenety, Hon. Judge Fraser. The party had a most enjoyable time, and dancing and amusements were kept up until a late hour. Congratulations were freely bestowed upon the young couple, and everyone wished them many years of combined happiness. The fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Dr. and Mrs. Tarron was celebrated at their residence, on St. John street, the same evening. A large number of their friends were present to participate in their happiness, each taking useful or ornamental gift, in glass, with them. This was also a very pleasant gathering. At the cathedral, this morning, at 10 o'clock, there was a quiet but impressive wedding, when Mr. Frank White of the printing department of the Millan's, St. John, was united in marriage to Miss Annie M. Hart, only daughter of Mr. Marven
