The most striking characteristic of the present campaign is the absurd weakness of the proposed congressional representation of this city at Washington. Good or bad, Republican or Democrat, no matter who is elected, the representation will be painfully and worfully weak. There is only one man among the nominees who is adequately fitted and logically entitled to a seat in the house of representatives. That man is George B. McClellan, who has been nominated in the Twelfth Congressional district, and will be re-elected. Mr. McClellan is a Democrat.
