Another week of awareness

On Monday, March 8th, Native Awareness Week begins.

Once a year the Native Student Club, with the support of the Office of Native Affairs, hosts the Native Awareness Week program. It's aim is to promote fellowship amongst Native and non-native students on campus as well as encourage an awareness about our history, culture and current political movements.

This year the Club chose five topics of current concern to be addressed in forum settings each afternoon throughout the week.
 The hour and a half panel sessions will begin each day at 2 p.m. in the Kiva room at the Education Building North. Native expertise has been invited to present opinions and viewpoints on each of the various subjects, they have also agreed to participate in general discussion periods which will follow each of the panel sessions. The Canadian Constitution, the proposed Native Studies College at the University of Alberta, Indian Control of Indian Education, and Indian Art and Culture are the headline topics.

 Each of the events will be moderated by one of the Native students on campus.

"I hope that the non-native students on campus will feel welcome and that they will accept our invitation to attend some of the events", says Kim Kopola, chairperson of the Native Student Club. "We are a small minority on this campus, just over 100 in all, but there is a great need to understand each other. I think that is why most of us are here on campus, to learn all that we can about each other."

If anyone would like more information about the events they are asked to call the Native Affairs office at 432-5677.

GRANTS

AVAILABLE FOR ENVIRONMENTAL RESEARCH

Who May Apply?

Any person, institution, corporation or society may request research funds. The Trust endeavours to apportion its funds equally between public institutions such as universities and the private sector such as industries or individuals.

Joint funding with industries or individuals is of considerable interest to the Board of Trustees.

Any logical proposal will receive consideration, such as: • Environmental problems related to human behaviour • Social, Cultural, and Organizational difficulties • Cost/Benefit Analysis of Environmental Impacts • Energy resource development and the environment • Problems of the natural environment • Urban & Rural pollution control and any other related concerns.

Deadline for submission of application for grants is March 19, 1982. Early submission is advised. All applications are reviewed upon receipt by the Grants Advisory Committee. Applicants will be notified as to the Boards of Trustees' decision by April 15, 1982. Research projects should be planned to start after this date.
