

men.

heart attuned, under the eminently devout, and methodical arrangement any other means, to the possession of a child of gave her infinite advancially, or more partially, holding continually her tures in attempting to all the secret iniquity se from godliness, be-the Omniscient, she was of herself more highly slight, no rudeness, no surface of her patient ingly cheerful, and by our often won a smile t.

beloved Marie's history thrilling interest, those alluded; but her chagent circumstances to who knew her; nor tive to those who love manner as the holy could have made my rather lead them to xhibition of what God equally able, equally