Miss Grierson's Funeral

The funeral of the late Miss Jean E. Grierson, whose remains were taken from Yarmouth to Kentville took place from her old home on Belcher street on Thursday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. Robert I. Layton of St. Paul's Presbyterian church. The hymns "Now the Laborer's Task is O'er", "Rock of Ages" and "Peace, Perfect Peace" were beautifully rendered by the choir of that church.

Rev. Mr. Layton, in a brief address from the text: "O, God Thou hast taught me from my youth." Psalm 71:17, spoke eloquently of the deceased and the great good she had done for the young children during the many years she had spent in their education, and by that ennobling power that only can emanate from a great-hearted teacher she inspired those children with ideals that will be lasting all down through their lives.

The remains were laid away in the family lot in the beautiful Oaks Cemetery at Kentville, which overlooks the picturesque Cornwallis River Valley. The bearers were Messrs. G. E. Calkin, A. E. Calkin, A. A. Thompson and C. L. Baird.

The following is a tribute from the Editor of the Yarmouth Herald.

through your paper, add my weak tribute to the life which has just ended in the death of Miss Jean E. Grierson?

To one who has been so intimately associated with her in the last few years of her work, the news of her death causes a deep consideration of the inner purposes and ultimate value of human effort. Human beings work for various ends, worthy and unworthy. The one aim of Miss Grierson's labors seemed to be that others might be benefited or made happy. All life's battlefields are not in Europe, neither are all the heroes and heroines. A constant sufferer from ill health, afflicted and sometimes almost overwhelmed with a large share of sorrow, she always and under all conditions of weather was found true and devoted to her school of little children, only giving them up when failing health made further work impossible.

As a primary teacher Miss Grierson was unexcelled. Sympathetic, unselfish and patient her only fears seemed to be that she might not do justice to her small charges or that one of them might be misjudged. Even after the day's school work was over she was ever busy preparing clothing for those who, without her efforts, would often have been unable to attend school.

A true friend, just and lenient in judgement, sound in advice, a lover of peace and harmony, her counsel was always of highest value in the many problems that confront the principal of a large school.

We cannot, and should not attempt to estimate the value of a human life, but to one who has witnessed its strong uplifting influence on hundreds of little children, the life just closed cannot but remain a lasting inspiration.

Thanking you for thus allowing me to express my sympathy in the loss which Yarmouth has suffered I am,

Yours Sincerely,
Chesley Allen

Potato Spraying

BY G. E. SANDERS,
Dominion Entomological Laboratory
Annapolis Royal, N. S.

Of all operations conducted on the farm it is probable that spraying potatoes is the most profitable. In fact when one considers that the increased crop due to spraying one acre of potatoes at a cost of about $15, is about 100 bushels, it becomes apparent that probably the operation or investment that can be relied upon to give the greatest returns of any open to farmers at least is potato spraying. It is equivalent to buying potatoes at 15 cents per bushel and it is more than probable that the price of potatoes will be more than ten times fifteen cents during 1918-19. Experiments carried on by the laboratory staff on the school plot at Annapolis in 1917 show that an acre of potatoes at the height of the growing season will store about 5 bushels of potatoes per day. The potato being mostly starch is made up almost wholly of materials that are gathered from the air by the leaf and not of materials taken from the soil. As soon as the top dies the storing of starch in the form of potato tubers stops. Unsprayed potatoes are likely to be and usually are attacked by potato blight when the normal crop of tubers is from one third to one half stored, and as soon as the tops are killed by the blight the storage of tubers ceases. Spraying with Bordeaux will protect potato plants absolutely from blight and will result in a normal season in keeping the tops green from ten to fifty days longer than normal. potatoes, and this year the country seeds the potatoes. Potatoes should be sprayed when about eight inches high with a poisoned Bordeaux mixture, repeat every one or two weeks until the tops are done growing. Make sure that all parts of the plant, the tops and undersides of the leaves and the stems are thoroughly wet with the mixture. To make Bordeaux mixture—dissolve 4 pounds of bluestone in 20 gallons of water and slake in another barrel 4 pounds of stone lime making it up later to 20 gallons of milk of lime. Pour the two by alternate buckets into the spray barrel and add the poison. In using hydrated lime, dissolve the 4 pounds of copper sulphate or bluestone in 40 gallons of water and add 5 pounds of hydrated lime stirring rapidly all the while.

As a poison one can use any of the following they being arranged in order of value, present prices considered. To 40 gallons use.
1 1/2 lbs. arsenate of lime powder.
2 " crystal arsenate of soda.
1 " fused arsenate of soda.
1 1/2 " arsenate of zinc powder.
4 " arsenate of lead paste.
2 " arsenate of lead powder.
