As the Old Fashioned Flint Lock Musket is to the Present Perfected Rapid Firing Rifle, so Compares Other Kidney Remedies with Dr Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

The old flint lock often missed fire, and when it did discharge would re-coil with such force the user would of-ten be knocked over; and this will apply to the use of ordinary kidney medicines. They are prepared with-out sufficient consideration for the other organs, and while relief is being obtained for the kidneys, the stomach or other organs suffer.
When Dr. Pitcher worked out the formula for his Backache Kidney Tablets, the action of each ingredient used separately was carefully watched, and as one ingredient after another was added, the action in combination was a study which resulted in the perfectly balanced medicine, Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, the only preparation that has been able to establish itself by depending on local endorsement by people you know. Watch the columns of this paknow. Watch the columns of this paper and you will read scored of statene. like the following from Mrs. P.

Morga. Wellington St., east, Chatham, who says:—"For many years I have suffered with backache from kidney trouble and neuralgia; nothing ney trouble and neuralgia; nothing did it any good though I doctored a good deal. The pain was very bad across the small of the back, ran up into the shoulder, and down into the limbs. At times I could hardly move. I went up to A. I. McCall & Co.'s drug store and got a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets and they acted splendidly. I took but the one bottle, and have had no trouble since; this I think fine, as nothing else ever stopped the pain so completely. They are very easy to to take and gentle, and I am glad to recommend them to others."

Yarns Told at the Late Church Con ference la Chicago.

The Rev. Dr. Frank Bristol, pastor of the Metropolitan Church in Washington, which is attended by President McKinley, tells a story which he heard one evening while dining at the White House with the President and Bishop Candler of the Methodist Church South. The party was talking about revivalists and revivals, and the case of the well-known exhorter, "Sam" Jones, was brought up. was brought up.

"The best characterization of Sam Jones' preaching T ever heard," said the heard, was that of a good colored brother in Virginia. He had just heard Jones preach, and was describing it to some of his fellows.

"Jist as long as Bre'r Jones sticks to de scripters,' said the colored man, 'he ain't no better preacher than eny uv de rest of us.

But when he cuts loose from de acripters and jist lets er sail den he's de doggondest preacher dat ever pounded a pulpit."

"I consider Bisbop Joyce one of the most eloquent preachers in the church," said a delegate yesterday, "but I remember one case in which all his eloquence proved unavailing. I was living at the time in Tennessee. The pastor of a neighboring church was confined to his house by illness, and the bishop rode over for a number of Sundays to occupy his pulpit. It was in the summer occupy his pulpit. It was in the summe time, and the windows of the little church were flung wide open. As he rode up to the church the bishop had noticed a man working in his garden. As he looked out of the ch windows he could still see the Sabbath-breaker working away, almost within reaching distance.

When it came time for the sermon Bishop Joyce announced as his text, "Remember to keep holy the Sabbath day." He preached a most powerful and effective sermon. As he anneunced his text the man in the garden locked was the same and the same a most powerful and electric section.

he anneunced his text the man in the garden looked up for a moment, but shortly turned and went on with his work. For several Sundays the bishop preached on the evils of Sabbath-breaking, and each Sunday the old man kept busy in the garden, though he heard every word of the sermons and fully appreciated that they were aimed at him.

Finally, as Bishop Joyce rode away rom the church on the last Sunday, he stopped and called over the fence t othe hardened Sabbath-breaker: "Brother," he said, "why don't you stop work on Sunday and come to

"Because, bishop, if I did the bugs 'ud get all these potato vines. But I must say you are the most eloquent preacher I ever listened to. I'm right sorry you're going away."

We ministers have many strange experiences in performing the mar-riage ceremony," said Rev. W. F. Sher-idan, of Pontine, Mich. "One of the most curious in my experience ocmost curious in my experience oc-curred not long ago, A large and heavy woman, accompanied by a com-paratively small and meek-looking man, had come in and asked to be married. Everything was regular, and the ceremony was performed. Af-ter it was over the bride explained her

'You see, Mr. Sheridan,' she said 'farm hands are mighty hard to get in this part of the country, and they are eyen harder to keep. You can get a good hired man and get him well broke in to the work around the farm and the first thing you know he quits the job and goes off to town or somewhere else. Last spring I had a first-class hand, about as good as I ever expect to get, but just when the season got right busy he up and quit "I just made up my mind that I wan't going to be left in the same fix this summer, so here we are.' "The bridegroom in the case simply study and smiled meekly. He had nothing at all to say."

"If the bishops had had my experi ence in the lecture field," said an Indiana delegate, "they would be glad to be relieved from the work. I remember on one occasion I was billed to lecture in a small town in Illinois. The minister in whose church the lec-The minister in whose church the lectures were held had had some trouble with some of the attractions in his course. The Rev. Dr. Robert Forbes, of the Northern Minnesota Conference, is not only a man of splendid personal appearance and a most eloquent orator, he is also noted as being one of the wits of the conference. The question of the admission women as delegates to the conference, which was happily settled this year by the withhappily settled this year by the with-drawal of the only woman elected to the office, has been a burning question at several of the previous quadrennial conferences. On the last of these occasions Dr. Forbes made a speech on the subject which nobody who

"God made the earth, and then He rested," said the doctor. "He made man and then He rested. Finally He made women, and neither God nor man has ever rested since."

"A man can easily see as he watches the proceedings of the conference," said a western delegate, "the resemblance" in methods between this and a regular political convention. I remember at least one occassion where the resemblance went further than it will here. It was a conference in a western state. One of the presiding elders was sick and unable to be present. The interests of this district were accordingly put into the care of another elder. When the elders came to arrange the distribution of the ministers for the coming term each of the five elders who were present picked out the weakest and least desirable of the ministers in his district and assigned them to the weakest and least desirable of the ministers in his district and assigned them to to charges in the district of the elder who was absent. When the list was finally made out and submitted to Bishop Fow'er, who was presiding, the poor man who was ill had all the weakest ministers in the state on the list. Bishop Fowler said nothing at the time, though aware that the absent elder was not being fairly treated. He evened matters up, however, when he came to announce the presiding elders for the succeeding term. The elder who had been appointed to look after the

A FUND OF HUMOR interests of the sick man had succeeded in getting a large share of the brightest ministers in the conterence appointed to his district. Bishop Fowler simply took him away from the district and made him presiding elder for the district which had been fixed for the sick man, while the absent elder was given charge of the star district which he had arranged for himself."

"No longer ago that 1881 I was rid-ing a circuit of 40 miles a Sunday in Dickinson county, Kansas, said Rev. Dr. Locke, who is associate editor of the Daily Advocate, "and preaching three times during each trip. During three times during each trip. Duri the first six months of my charge rode 2,400 miles altogether and preached an average of four times a week ed an average of four times a week, counting the week-day services. The first wedding I performed, was that of the nephew of a pioneer congressman and a young woman whose father lived in a sod house. After the ceremony the family gave me a place to sleep for the night. When I woke up next morning and reached out of bed for my shoes and stockings I found bed for my shoes and stockings I found them entirely covered with a drift of snow. During the night an old-fash-ioned blizzard had come us, and the snow had been blown through the cracks and openings of the house. The joke of it is that I had gone out to Kansas from Illinois for my health, but although some of my experiences. but although some of my experiences may seem like hardships to the aver-age man the result was that I gained in weight from 115 pounds to 185."

Bishop Walden is one of the most striking figures at the conference. The long cape of his overcoat is lined with red and his smooth-shaven face is framed in heavy white hair. In the commencement of his ministry he was

Ohio is not only the state of pre-sidents and office holders. It seems to be the state of Methodist bishoris as well. At any rate, the records show that out of the twenty men who are at present bishops, no less than seven were born in the state of President McKinley .- Chicago Tribune.

LIFE ON A FARM

AS TOLD BY ONE WHO HAS UN DERGONE ITS HARDSHIPS.

Hard Work and Exposure to All Kinds of Weather Plays Havoc with the Strongest Constitutions - How Health May be Obtained.

While life as a farmer is one of con siderable independence, it is very far from being one of ease. The very nature of the calling is one that exposes its followers to all sorts of weather, and it is perhaps not surprising that so many farmers suffer from chronic ailments. Mr. Thos. McAdam, of Donagh, P. E. I., is a fair example of this class. Mr. McAdam himself says:—"I was always looked himself says:—"I was always looked upon as one having a rugged constitution; but the hard work, coupled with the exposure incident to life on a farm, ultimately proved too much for me. About eighteen months ago I was attacked with pains in the small of the back and thighs. At first they were of an intarmittent nature, and while they were extremely painful, would pass away after a day or two, and might not bother me again for weeks. As the attacks, after each interval, grew more and more severe, I became himself says :- "I was always loc As the attacks, after each interval, grew more and more severe, I became alarmed and consulted a doctor who said the trouble was lumbago. His treatment would give temporary relief but nothing more, and ultimately I was almost a cripple. To walk, or even to move about in a chair, or turn in bed caused intense agony, and in going about I had to depend upon a cane. If I attempted to stoop or pick anything up the pain would be almost inhearable. This condition of affairs had its effect upon my whole system and for a man in the prime of life, my condition was deplorable. I think I had tried at least half a dozen remedies before I found relief and a cure, and this came to me through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which a friend urged me to try. I felt some relief before the first box was all gone and by the time I had taken five boxes, I was as well and smart as ever, and although months have now passed I although months have now passed have not had any return of the trouble My cure is entirely due to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the only regret I have is that I did not try them at the outset. Had I done so I would not only have been saved much suffering, but considerable money as well."

When it was Discovered That the Reide was Divorced From Her First flusband.

New York, May 19.—The details of the Huneker-Bracken wedding, were even more embarrassing that at first appeared. Dr Morgan, who refused to perform the ceremony, and Mr. Bracke-en, the groom, were friends. Bracken is a member of the British Universities club, of which Dr. Morgan is president. Two months ago the two men took teatogether and Dr Morgan promised to together and Dr Morgan promised to perform the ceremony. Bracken told him the bride-to-be was a widow. Dr. Morgan came in from his country home to perform the ceremony, when he received not one, but many intima-tions that Mrs. Huneker had been "widowed" by law and not by death. He despatched a note to Bracken ask-ing the truth and declaring that no divorcee should be married by him or by any of his curates. Mr. Bracken by any of his curates. Mr. Bracken sent the following reply:

Dear Mr. Morgan: Pardon haste. As stated in cirtiffcate, the lady is widowed, not divorced. Sincerely.

WILLIAM BRACKEN.

WILLIAM BRACKEN.

The scene in the vestry was painful when Bracken denied that his bride had a divorced husband still living.

"He insisted," Dr. Morgan said, afterward in describing the scene, "that Mr. Huneker was dead. He held up his right hand and swore it.

Dr. Morgan had accepted Mr. Bracken's assertion as fact, and had donned his stole and cassock when a member of the congregation came to him and said that he had seen "Jim Huneke" at the Waldorf only a few evenings before."

DIAMOND DYES Are the Favorites of All Mat and Rug Makers

Mrs. P. L. Stanhope of Victoria, B.

"I recently discovered that I had sufficient old materials, such as flannel, cloth, yarns, and discarded unflannel, cloth, yarns, and discarded un-derwear stored away from which I could make a couple of good sized rugs for the floor. I sent to Wells & Rich-ardson Co., Montreal, for two of their handsome rug designs. After they were received I washed my old ma-terials and colored them with Diamond Dyes to match! the shades on the rug byes to match the shades on the rug patterns. I hooked the two rugs, and they are so handsome that all my friends adire them. The Diamond Dyes are, I think, the best and most reliable for home dyeing. I certainly recommend them to all who make nats and rugs."

The unexpected is the great secret of Romanticism. In words it creates style; in ideas, hilosophy; in story, the drama.

The popular view of the relation of the blood to human character and The popular view of the relation of the blood to human character and conduct is marked in many a familian expression. We speak of there being "bad blood" between people at enmity, of "blue blood" as indicating ancestry, of "black blood" as describing a trencherous nature, and in many another phrase mark our belief that in the mental, moral and physical man, "the blood is the life." The one basis of a healthful, happy and useful life is pure blood. With the blood pure, disease has no permanent lodging place in the system. For this reason the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery rids the body of diseases which have their origin in impurity of the blood. It absolutely purifies the blood, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter, increasing the action of the blood making glands, and building up the body by supplying the blood in quantity and quality such as is essential to a condition of health.
