THE RESCUE OF JOASH

Saved From Death by Jehoshabab's Heroic Deed.

CHURCH THE BEST HIDING PLACE

Rev. Dr. Talmage Draws Some Comforting Lessons From This Incident, and Shows That All Around Us Are Royal Natures That We May Help to Deliver.

Washington, Oct. 21.—In this discourse on a neglected incident of the Bible Dr. Talmage draws some comforting lessons and shows that all around us are royal natures that we may help deliver. The text is II Kings xi, 2, 3: "Jehoshabab, the daughter of King Joram, sister of Athaliah, took Joash, the son of Ahaziah, and stole him from among the king's sons which were slain, and they hid him, even him and his nurse, in the bedchamber from Athaliah, so that he was not slain. And he was with her hid in the house of the Lord six years."

Grandmothers are so lenient with their children's children that they were with their own. At 40 years of age if discipline be necessary chastisement is used, but at 70 the grandmother, looking upon the misbehavior of the grandchild, is disposed to sympathize with the child, and to take confectionery for whip. There is nothing more beautiful than childhood. Grandmother takes out her pocket handkerchief and wipes her spectacles and put them on and looks down into the face of her mischievous and rebellious descendant and says: "I don't think he meant to do it. Let him off this time. I'll be responsible for this behavior in the future." My mother, with the second generation around her, a boisterous crew, said one day: "I suppose they ought to be disciplined, but I can't. I don't think he meant to do it. Let him off this time. I'll be responsible for this behavior in the future." My mother, with the second generation around her, a boisterous crew, said one day: "I suppose they ought to be disciplined, but I can't. I don't think he meant to do it. Let him off this time. I'll be responsible for this behavior in the future."

I have been at Jerusalem, where the occurrence of the text took place, and the whole scene is vivid before me while I was going over the site of the ancient temple and climbing the towers of the king's palace. Here in the text is old Athaliah, the royal murderer. She ought to have been honorable. Her father was a king. Her husband was a king. Her son was a king. And yet we find her plotting for the extermination of the entire royal family, including her own grandchildren. The executioners' knives are sharpened. The palace is red with the blood of princes and princesses. On all sides are shrieks and hands thrown up and struggle and death groans. "No mercy! Kill, kill! But while the ivory floors of the palace run with carnage and the whole land is under shadow of a great horror a fleet-footed woman, a clergyman's wife, Jehoshabab, name, stealthily approaches the imperial nursery, seizes upon the grandchild that had somehow escaped massacre, wraps it up tenderly but in haste, snuggles it against her, flies the palace, and escapes. Athaliah, in her throat lest she be discovered in this compassionate abduction. Get her out of the way as quick as you can, for she carries a precious burden, even a young king. With this youthful prize she presses into the room of the ancient temple, the church of olden time, unwraps the young king and puts him down, sound asleep as he is and unconscious of the peril that has been threatened, and there for six years he is secreted in that church apartment. Meanwhile old Athaliah, smacking her lips with satisfaction and thinking that all the royal family are dead. But the six years expire, and it is time for young Joash to come forth and take the throne and to push back into disgrace and death old Athaliah.

The arguments are all made for political revolution. The military come and take possession of the temple, swear loyalty to the boy Joash and stand around for his defense. See the sharpened swords and the burnished shields! Everything is ready. Now Joash, half-awakened at the armed tramp of his defenders, scared at the vociferation of his admirers, is brought forth in full regalia. The scroll of authority is put in his hands, the coronet of government is put on his brow, and the people clapped and waved and huzzed and trumpeted. "What is that?" said Athaliah. "What is that sound over the temple?" And she flies to see, and on her way they meet her and say: "Why, haven't you heard? You thought you had slain all the royal family, but Joash has come to light." Then the royal murderer, frantic with rage, grabbed her mantle and tore it to tatters and cried until she foamed at the mouth: "You have no right to crown my grandson. You have no right to take the government from my shoulders. Treason, treason!"

While she stood there crying that the military started for her arrest, and she took a short cut through a back door of the temple and ran through the royal stables, but the battlements of the military fell on her in the barnyard, and far many a day when the horses were being unloaded from the chariot the fiery steeds would snort and rear passing the place as they smell the place of the carnage.

The first thought I hand you from this subject is that the extermination of righteousness is an impossibility. When a woman is good, she is apt to be very good, and when she is bad she is apt to be very bad, and this Athaliah was one of the latter sort. She would exterminate

That Mark Means Quality.

Carling's Trade Mark—the Maltese Cross—is an absolute guarantee of the quality of the goods it distinguishes. It is a sign you can rely upon when all others fail.

The last scion of the house of David, through whom Jesus was to come. There was plenty of work for embalmers and undertakers. She would clear the land of all God-fearing and God-loving people. She would put an end to everything that could in anywise interfere with her imperial criminality. She folds her hands and says: "The work is done. It is completely done." Is it? In the swaddling clothes of that church apartment are wrapped the cause of God and the cause of good government. That is the scion of the house of David. It is Joash, the God-worshipping reformer. It is Joash, the friend of God. It is Joash, the demoralizer of Baalish idolatry.

Rock him tenderly, nurse him gently. Athaliah, all you can kill all the other children, but you cannot kill him. Eternal defenses are thrown all around him, and this clergyman's wife, Jehoshabab, will snatch him up from the palace nursery and will run down with him into the house of the Lord, and there he will hide for six years, and at the end of that time he will come forth for your dethronement and obliteration.

Well, my friends, just as poor a batch does the world always make of extinguishing righteousness. Superstition rises up and says, "I will put out the light of religion." Doubtless, 40,000 Christians, Diocletian slew 844,000 Christians. And the scythe of persecution has been swung through all the ages, and the flames hissed, and the guillotine chopped, and the fates of the world have been decided by the Christian's extermination.

Infidelity says, "I will exterminate the Bible," and the Scriptures were thrown into the street for the mob to trample on, and they were piled up in the public squares and set on fire, and mountains of indignant contempt were hurled on them, and learned universities decreed the Bible out of existence. Thomas Paine said: "In the Age of Reason, I have annihilated the Scriptures. Your Washington is a pusillanimous Christian, but I am the foe of Bibles and of churches." Oh, how many assaults upon that word! All the hostilities that have been waged on earth are not to be compared with the hostilities against that one book. Said one man in his infidel desperation to his wife, "You must not be reading that Bible, and I have annihilated the Scriptures. Your Washington is a pusillanimous Christian, but I am the foe of Bibles and of churches." Oh, how many assaults upon that word! All the hostilities that have been waged on earth are not to be compared with the hostilities against that one book. Said one man in his infidel desperation to his wife, "You must not be reading that Bible, and I have annihilated the Scriptures. Your Washington is a pusillanimous Christian, but I am the foe of Bibles and of churches." Oh, how many assaults upon that word! All the hostilities that have been waged on earth are not to be compared with the hostilities against that one book.

How many individual and organized attempts have been made to exterminate the Bible? Have they succeeded? No! Have they exterminated the American Bible Society? Have they exterminated the British and Foreign Bible Society? Have they exterminated the thousands of Christian institutions whose only object is to multiply copies of the Scriptures and spread their broadcast around the world? They have exterminated instead of one or two copies of the Bible, they have created eight or ten, and we pile them up in the corners of our Sabbath school rooms and send great boxes of them everywhere. If they get on as well as they are now going on in the work of extermination, I do not know but that our children may live to see the millennium. Yes, if there should come a time of persecution in which all the known Bibles of the earth should be destroyed, all the lamps of life that blaze in our pulpits and in our families extinguished, in the very day that infidelity and sin should be holding jubilee over the universal extinction there would be in some closet of a back-

With a church, a secret copy of the Bible, and the Joash of eternal literature would come out and come up and take the throne, and the Athaliah of infidelity and persecution would fly out the back door of the palace and drop her miserable carcass under the hoofs of the horses of the king's stables. You cannot exterminate Christianity! You cannot kill Joash!

The second thought I hand you from my subject is that there are opportunities in which we may save royal life. You know the profane history is replete with stories of strangled monarchs and of young princes who have been put out of the way. But why should we spend our time in praising this bravery of execution when God asks the same thing of you and me? All around us the imperiled children of a great king. They are born of Almighty parentage and will come to a throne if permitted. But sin, the old Athaliah, goes forth to the massacre. Murderous temptations are out for the assassination. Valens, the emperor, was told that there would somebody in his realm who would usurp his throne and that the name of the man who should be the usurper would begin with the letters T, H, E, O, D, and the edict went forth from the emperor's throne: "Kill every man whose name begins with T, H, E, O, D," and hundreds and thousands were slain, hoping by that massacre to put an end to that one usurper. But sin is more terrible in its denunciations. It says: "When you are on your dying bed and your knife, under its sword, under its doom, unless there be some omnipotent relief brought to the rescue. But, blessed be God, there is such a thing as delivering a royal soul. Who will snatch away Joash?"

This afternoon in your Sabbath school class there will be a prince of God, someone who may yet reign as king forever before the throne; there will be someone in your class who has a corrupt physical inheritance; there will be someone in your class who has a father and mother who do not know how to pray; there will be someone in your class who is destined to command in church or state. There are sleeping in your cradles by night, there are playing in your nurseries by day, imperial souls waiting for dominion, and whether they be cradles they get out will decide the destiny of empires. For each one of those children sin and holiness contend—Athaliah on the one side, Jehoshabab on the other. But I hear people say: "What's the use of bothering children with religious instruction? Let them grow up and choose for themselves. Don't interfere with their volition." Suppose some one had said to Jehoshabab: "Don't interfere with these young ones. Let them grow up and decide whether he likes the place or not; whether he wants to be king or not. Don't disturb his volition." Jehoshabab knew right well that unless that day the young king was rescued he would never be rescued at all. I tell you, my friends, the reason we don't reclaim our children from worldliness is because we begin too late. Parents wait until their children are grown, then they teach them the value of truth. They wait until their children are grown, then they teach them the importance of righteous conversation. They wait until their children are grown, then they teach them the value of a better world. Too late with your prayers. Too late with your discipline. Too late with your benediction. You put all care upon your children between 12 and 18. Why do you not put the chief care between 4 and 9? It is too late to repair a vessel when it has got out of the drydock. It is too late to save Joash after the executioners have broken in. May God arm us all for this work of snatching royal souls from death to coronation.

The third thought I hand to you is that the church of God is a good hiding place. When Jehoshabab rushes into the nursery of the king and picks up Joash, what shall she do with him? Shall she take him to some room in the palace? No, for the old king's desperadoes will hunt through every room and corner of that building. Shall she take him to the residence of some wealthy citizen? No; that citizen would not dare to harbor the fugitives. But she has to take him somewhere. She hears the cry of the mob in the streets; she hears the shriek of the dying nobility; so she rushes with Joash into the room of the temple, into the house of God, and there she puts him down. She knows that Athaliah and her wicked assassins will not bother the temple a great deal. They are not apt to go very much to church, and so she sets down Joash in the temple. There he will be hearing the songs of the worshippers year after year; there he will breathe the odor of the golden censers; in that sacred spot he will tarry, secreted until the six years have passed and he come to enthronement.

Would God that we were all as wise as Jehoshabab and knew that the church of God is the best hiding place! Perhaps our parents took us there in early days. They snatched us away from the world and hid us behind the baptismal fonts and amid the Bibles and psalmbooks. O glorious inclosure! We have been breathing the breath of the golden censers all the time, and we have seen the Lamb on the altar, and we have handled the vials in which are the prayers of all saints, and we have dwelt under the wings of the cherubim. Glorious inclosure! When my father and mother died and the property was settled up, there was hardly anything left. But they endowed us with a property worth more than any earthly possession, because they hid us in the temple. And when days of temptation have come upon my soul I have gone there for shelter, and when assaulted of sorrows I have gone there for comfort, and when I want to live, I want, like Joash, to stay until coronation.

Ah, when you pass away—and it will not be long before you do—when you pass away, it will be a satisfaction to see your children in Christian society. You want to have them sitting at the holy sacraments,

IF YOU WANT TO CATCH FISH

Go fishing where fish have been caught by others. If you want to be cured take the medicine which has cured others. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures many diseases which seem remote from the stomach because it cures the stomach in which such diseases have their origin.

"Words fail to express what I suffered three years, with cold chills, palpitation of heart, shortness of breath, and low spirits," writes Mrs. A. C. Jones, of Waterbury, Conn. "I could not sleep, and really thought I would soon die. Had a peculiar roaring in my head and in my time. Was so emaciated and weak I could not feed myself. My aunt induced me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I did only to please her, and as a result I am now a healthy woman. During the three years I was sick I had five different physicians."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the system and regulate the liver.

DR. PIERCE'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY

HAS CURED 98 PER CENT OF THOSE WHO HAVE USED IT.

You want them mingling in Christian associations. You would like to have them die in the sacred precincts. When you are on your dying bed and your little ones come up to take your last word and you look into their bewildered faces, you will want to leave them under the church's benediction. I do not care how hard you are, that is so. I said to a man of the world: "Your son and daughter are going to join our church next Sunday. Have you any objections?" "Bless you!" he said. "Objections?" "I wish all my children belonged to the church. I don't attend to those matters myself—I know I am very wicked—but I am very glad they are going, and I shall be there to see them. I am very glad, sir; I am very glad. I want them there. And so, though you may have been wanderers from God and though you may have sometimes caricatured the church of Jesus, it is your great desire that your sons and daughters should be in the church, and their lives within this sacred inclosure."

More than that, you yourself will want the church for a hiding place when the mortgage is foreclosed; when your daughter, just blooming into womanhood, suddenly clasps her hands in a slumber that knows no waking; when gaunt trouble walks through the parlor and the sitting room and the dining hall and the nursery, you will want some shelter from the tempest. Ah, some of you have been run down by misfortune and trial! Why do you not come into the shelter?

I said to a widowed mother after she had buried her only son—months after I said to her, "How do you get along nowadays?" "Oh," she replied, "I get along tolerably well, except when the sun shines." "I said, 'What do you mean by that?' When the sun shines, I can't bear to see the sun shine. My heart is so dark that all the brightness of the natural world seems a mockery to me." O darkened soul! O broken hearted man, broken hearted woman! Why do you not come into the shelter? When the sun shines, I can't bear to see the sun shine. My heart is so dark that all the brightness of the natural world seems a mockery to me." O darkened soul! O broken hearted man, broken hearted woman! Why do you not come into the shelter?

God grant that all this audience, the youngest, the eldest, the worst, the best, may find their safe and glorious hiding place where Joash found it—in the temple!

What do we live for, if it is not to make life less difficult to each other?—George Eliot.
