REVIVE TREATY OF 1871.

Britain Hopes It Will Be Basis For New Agreement.

The Hague, July 29.—At the session of the committee on maritime warfare, Count Tornhiell, who presided, announced the intention of Great Britain to submit to the peace conference the Anglo-American treaty signed in Washington, May 8, 1871, regarding treatment of belligerent ships in neutral ports and waters, in the hope that the other powers would adhere to this treaty and an international agreement thus be reached.

The committee, before which the collection of public and private debts was under consideration, was in session for two hours Saturday, and then voted in favor of the American proposal in the premises, which provides for the concluding of an agreement in which there shall be introduced "some limitations in the use of force for the collection of contractual, public and ordinary debts."

Sir Edward Fry recognized the difficulty which international arbitration presented. Nevertheless, he added that British delegation had associated itself with the American proposal. Fry proposed to show, had always practiced arbitration, and in 1905 had signed treaties of this nature with ten powers. The result of this practice, he continued, had not always been conclusive, but England believed that the moment had come for the conscience of the civilized world finally to find expression in this way.

STRATHCONA ADVISES C.P.R.

Favors All-Red Route and Would Have the Railway Help.

Montreal, July 29.—The members of Parliament who have interviewed Sir Wilfrid Laurier since the Premier's arrival in Canada, and R. Bickerdike, M.P., is of the number, do not hesitate to say that Lord Strathcona's coming visit to this country has a great deal to do with the question of the "all-red" line.

It is said, in fact, on the best of authority that Lord Strathcona will use every effort to induce Sir Thomas Shaughnessy to not only abandon the strenuous opposition the C.P.R. has put up against the scheme, but will advise the Canadian Pacific to throw in their influence with the deal and tender for the Atlantic service. It is stated that Strathcona is ready to abandon the Irish connection and either take the British port of Liverpool or Southampton, but that most are agreed that Halifax shall be the Atlantic port for the year around.

The idea is for the Canadian Pacific to build three new roads for the Halifax route and place the Empresses of Britain and Ireland on the Pacific. The statement is, however, made that there is a plan to have the new Atlantic greyhounds come up the St. Lawrence in summer, but it is not presumed that this alternative will prevail.

KOREANS ATTACK JAPS.

Serious Conflict Reported—Troops on Patrol Duty.

Seoul, July 29.—Guards were placed along the railways in the country yesterday and regular bodies of troops are patrolling all parts of Seoul.

Korean troops and rioters in Kyongson have destroyed several Japanese dwellings, injuring six persons and driving the Japanese to their boats.

Two of Marquis Ito's new appointees, the Minister of the Household and Keeper of the Seals, both in the cabinet, have been ordered to reform the court and warned that if this is not accomplished within three months their appointments will be revoked.

This means putting a quietus on the activity of the former Emperor, who, as late as July 23, it is said, intrigued to send a commissioner to Germany.

Shot at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Man., July 29.—Dr. Clyn Smith, of St. Louis, lies in the General Hospital with a bullet wound in his neck, while the police are in search of the man who escaped being a murderer by the merest margin.

The doctor was invited by a man whom he met at the Strathcona Hotel to take a drive out on the Kildonan road. At a point some miles from the city the man suddenly placed a revolver against the doctor's forehead and pulled the trigger. There was no explosion, but a struggle began, and the revolver was discharged, the bullet passing through the doctor's neck. In the struggle the doctor got possession of the revolver, but, thinking he might be overcome by loss of blood, threw it away. His assailant escaped and Dr. Smith went to a farm house, where he had the wound dressed and was afterward taken to the hospital. Robbery is believed to have been the motive for the attack.

Her maiden voyage to Montreal will probably be made in September next.

Peterboro, July 29.—Fire broke out in the piling ground in the Canadian Lumber Co. Lakefield Saturday afternoon, and, fanned by a strong gorth wind, threatened the destruction of the village. An engine and ten firemen went by special train from Peterboro. After a stubborn fight of five hours the flames were confined to the lumber piles and the mill was saved. A million and a half feet of lumber was burned, the loss being about $40,000; covered by insurance. The mill will resume cutting operations to-day.

HE HAD HIS DOSE.

An Incident of the Terrible Battle of Montmirail.

In February, 1814, the French army made a heroic stand against the allied forces of Europe, and in one week retrieved for a short but glorious period its lost prestige. Though composed largely of half raw recruits, it escaped from the very center of 250,000 foes, attacked an army of 70,000 men, won 4 battles and captured 83 cannon, 5 generals and 28,000 prisoners!

After the terrible fight at Montmirail Major Bancel, staff surgeon to the guard, was attending the wounded as well as he could, close behind the columns still engaged. Looking up from one unfortunate man whose wounds he was dressing, he perceived within a short distance an old mounted chasseur of the guard, who was tranquilly smoking his pipe and watching the surgeon.

Bancel did not at first pay any attention to him. By and by he noticed the man again, still in the same posture, tranquilly smoking his pipe.

"What are you doing there?" cried the surgeon.

"Smoking," answered the man. "Does the major forbid me to smoke?" "What?" returned the officer. "Aren't you ashamed to be loafing around here while your comrades are covering themselves with glory?"

The chasseur blew out a cloud of smoke and, driving his right spur into his steed, made him execute a half turn. Then he said, taking his pipe out of his mouth:

"Look, major. Don't you think I have got my dose as it is? Can I do anything more?"

The major looked. The chasseur's leg was shot off half way between the knee and the ankle, so that his left foot was hanging and dangling against his horse. The veteran's question required no answer. But it may be surmised what care and attention the surgeon lavished on the imperturbable chasseur.

LINCOLN'S GROCERY.

Result of One Partner's Hunger and the Other Partner's Thirst.

A giant in stature, he was as awkward as he was strong. His rustic appearance was enhanced by an ill fitting suit of homespun. Thus at the head of the ox team he made his debut in the outer world, without means, without education, without influence. This may seem a sorry beginning, but let it be remembered that if on that day he had graduated from Harvard in a fashionable coat the gates of history would probably have been closed against him.

Mr. Lincoln's first business venture resulted in downright failure. He formed a partnership with one Berry, under the firm name of Berry & Lincoln, to carry on a grocery, for the purchase price of which the firm note was given. Berry was a jolly, irresponsible soul, who was born thirsty and who gave his undivided attention to that part of the stock known as "wet groceries." Mr. Lincoln, on the other hand, having a keen appetite, devoted himself to the crackers and cheese, smoked herrings and other edibles at the dry end of the shop. This happy adjustment rivaled the familiar case of Jack Sprat and his congenial spouse, but the meager stock could not long withstand the inroads of hunger at the one end and thirst at the other, and a crisis came which required the sale of the remnant of stock. The purchaser defaulted, and Mr. Lincoln was left to pay all the liabilities—a task which plagued him for several years. Thereby he had impressed upon him a legal proposition that a partner is liable in solid.

It is related that Mr. Lincoln bought a barrel of a customer, in the bottom of which, among other rubbish, was found a copy of "Blackstone's Commentaries." This was a great find for the law student, but as the book thereafter engrossed his attention the grocery business collapsed. Thus ended the first lesson—J. V. Quarles in Putnam's.

A "Jumbie Bird."

In the West Indies is found a bird called the sunset bird, because half an hour before sunset and half an hour before sunrise it utters its peculiar cry of "Soleil coucher!" The natives call it a "Jumbie bird" (a bird possessed of the devil) and say that to kill it would bring death to its slayer. Another bird found in the same region is the "Soufriere bird," which makes its home near the volcano of Soufriere, and among the natives there is a strong belief that the first individual to see this bird will die, while the most horrible torture by evil spirits awaits the man who kills it.—Minneapolis Journal.

Call Early For Good Oax.

At the end of a big ball one of the guests went into the cloakroom at 3 in the morning to put on his slippers, and the attendant came forward with a coat.

"That isn't my coat," said the guest. "Mine is a perfectly new one."

"A new one? Oh, I haven't any new coats left after half-past 12."—Sourire.

The Human Brain.

The human brain has not steadily increased since paleolithic times, and as Professor Lankester tells us, by way of concrete illustration, the brain of Isaac Newton was not much larger than that of an Australian black.—London Outlook.

It's The Tone That Proves the Quality Of A Piano . . .

In outward appearance one make of piano may resemble another very closely. The real difference lies in the tone, which is concealed within the case.

It's the tone every time that proves the quality of a piano. Run your fingers over the keyboard of a "Nordheimer" and just listen to the superb tone. No doubt about the quality of the "Nordheimer" piano with such a tone as it possesses.

Those who know the real value of tone-quality naturally select the "Nordheimer"—the unrivaled Canadian piano. Will you not come in and play over a selection and judge the quality of the "Nordheimer" tone from what your own ear tells you?

Our Mr. R. V. Carter will visit Chatham frequently in our interests, and will be pleased to furnish you with any information you may desire. Correspondence addressed to him, in care of the Garner House, will receive careful attention.
