Life's Common Things.
The things of every day are all so sweet:
The morning sunsets wet with dew;
The daisies in the moon, the blue
Of far-off hills where twilight shadows lie,
The night with all its mystery of sound
And silence, and God's starry sky!
Of life—the whole life—is far too brief,
The things of every day are all so dear.
The waking of the warm bed-room,
To find again the old familiar room,
The accents and the sounds that greet
The heart, the work, the play, the light of baby's laugh,
The croak of the open fire;
The washing, then the footstep coming near,
The opening door, the hand clasped and the steep of the stairs, the first and last of the day.

North Grand Pre.
AN ESSAY WRITTEN BY ESTHER
L. GOULD, AGE 11 YEARS.

Many years ago the wooded land of North Grand Pre was completely surrounded by water.

What is now known as the Basin glittering with silver sheen, appeared like a mirror set with emerald.

The grassy sea reflected the image of the majestic trees which swayed o'er head.

And wreaths of pale blue smoke could be seen curling up to the cap of the sky which was flecked with fleecy clouds.

At sunset the sky was painted brilliant in hues of crimson, gold and the richest purple which were reflected by the water until the glorious sun sank behind the horizon and the shadows of darkness o'er spread the land.

And Blomdon looked on in the background, guarding in grim defence that enchanted scene.

That smoke arises from numerous chimneys, the homes of the Indians, the only inhabitants of this beautiful site which is destined to become our birthplace.

These people with their dusky complexions and fiery eyes, clothed in the skins of wild animals lived in a primitive way in their cone shaped wigwags which were covered with birch-bark.

They lived by making the sea give up its treasures and the forest its game.

The fierce savages lived under the protection of their imaginary god, Glooscap, whose statue and consecrated Blomdon.

But this scene is not the same all the year. In autumn the leaves are tinted richest and most delicate hues that one could scarcely imagine.

But when the biting frost comes these leaves wither and fade and are borne to the ground by the autumnal blast.

Then how softly the snowflakes fall from the leaden sky while old Mother Earth draws them in loving embrace to her bosom.

Then the Indians bound on their snowshoes and hunted the fox, wolves, moose and other wild animals.

The settlement of white people started was at Grand Pre proper. It consisted of French who were seeking a home. A feeling of genuine friendship sprung up between them and the Indians who crossed over the broad expanse of water in their canoes.

They taught them many arts and crafts unknown in France, and were the means of their prosperity.

Soon the French started to construct the vast Grand Pre dykes, and this required a great amount of hard and incessant labor, but they at last accomplished it and it yielded its owners large quantities of hay and grain.

Many years passed away leaving with them peace and prosperity for these simple Acadian peasants. The only disturbance was caused by the English who claimed the whole country and ordered them to take the oath of allegiance to Great Britain. This they refused believing that in time France would be recognized as ruler of the whole domain.

Great Britain, noticing all this did not think it safe to let them remain closer examination it proved that the dykes were flooded and the waves were dancing and sparkling in the sunlight. And many cattle found their way graves in the rebel deep. They began at once to rebuild the dykes the most of which was done that fall.

Many people have come here and settled and they have all prospered. And fifteen of the wealthiest farmers in the country are enjoying the benefits of its vigorous climate and freedom, of which few countries can boast.

The orchards yield apples and other fruit which are renowned all over the world for their flavor, size and quality. The hand of the farmer has so soft the soil that North Grand Pre might well be called the "Garden of Kings county." There we find the highest phase of farm life, for here we find handsome farm houses all equipped with all modern conveniences.

Develpine Beach has become a famous summer resort and contains many cottages, a hotel and restaurant and is becoming one of the best known places for pleasure and pastime.

A school-house has been erected and in it we are being educated so that our names may be entered among the great men and women of the universe. Modern bungalows are about to be erected and we extend a hearty welcome to all intended newcomers.

And Blomdon looks on as it did centuries ago ruling supreme over this band of happy, prosperous farmers.

Sluggish Liver Action

Causes indigestion, constipation and bilious headaches—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the cure.

"Sluggish liver has been my trouble," writes Mrs. F. P. Smith, Paris, Ont., "and I have been greatly benefited by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I have taken medicine from several good doctors, but none ever did me the same amount of good as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I could not keep up and do my work if I did not use these pills when the bilious spells come on, and I have recommended them to many."

"Dr. Chase's medicine were about the only kind that came into my father's house 40 or 50 years ago, and they were always satisfactory."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are prompt, definite and direct in their action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, and are therefore the most effective treatment obtainable for biliousness, indigestion and constipation. 25 cents a box, 5 for $1.00, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

country and they accordingly Colonel Winslow who burned the dwellings and conveyed them to the now known as the United States.

One can imagine the grief of the simple peasants as their families were torn from them and hurried on ships, and in a great many cases never to meet again. Yet we hope in the great resurrection, these families may meet again to be separated.

How the hearts of the aborigines beat with a flame of love which could be extinguished, and how they gazed against the English.

In a few years settlers began to arrive and among them was Stephen Gould, my great grand-father, a United Empire Loyalist who was driven from his native state of Connecticut because of his heroism and loyalty to Great Britain, and sought refuge at this secluded isle.

These resolute farmers after conquering many difficulties finally succeeded in building a home with great triumph over the Indians, their deadly foes, who were openly hostile, and as they were English they believed that they were in some way connected with the expulsion of their friends.

Stephen Gould died leaving two sons, John and Stephen. John had the farm while Stephen followed the sea and became a renowned sea captain and made many voyages and met with great success.

John Gould, being a skilled mechanic, did not prosper and entrusted his brother to take the farm. This he did and he paid off the mortgage that stood against the Gould homestead, and erected a more modern structure and died in his eighty-fourth year.

All John Gould's descendants went back to Connecticut from which their grandfather had been driven years before.

One night late in the autumn, when many cattle were grazing on the abundant pasturage, the dykes broke and let in the turbulent tides which for so long had been shut out. When the people arose the dykes appeared like the silver sea of mist. But on

Remarkable Bible Text.

The eighth verse of the third chapter of Zephaniah contains every letter including the final, of the Hebrew language, while one will find in the twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra, every letter of the English alphabet except J. The verse reads as follows: "And I, even I, Ar exercez the King, do make a decree to all the treasures, which are beyond the river, that whatsoever Ezra the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of Heaven, shall require of you, it be done speedily."—From the Youth's Word.

Banish Pimples and Eruptions.

IN THE SPRING MOST PEOPLE NEED A TONIC MEDICINE.

One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order is the pimples, unsightly eruptions and eczema that come frequently with the change from winter to spring. These prove that the long indoor life of winter has had its effect upon the blood, and that a tonic medicine is needed to put it right. Indeed there are few people who do not need a tonic at this season. Bad blood does not merely show itself in disgusting eruptions. To this same condition is due attacks of rheumatism and sciatica and neuralgia; poor appetite and a desire to avoid exertion. You cannot cure these troubles by the use of purgative medicines—you need a tonic, and a tonic only, and among all medicines there is none can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for their tonic, life giving, nerve restoring powers. Every dose of this medicine makes new, rich blood which drives out impurities, stimulates every organ and brings a feeling of new health and energy to weak, tired, ailing men, women and children. If you are out of sorts give this medicine a trial and see how quickly it will restore the appetite, revive drooping spirits, and fill your veins with new, health-giving blood.

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

One Million Dollars for a Good Stomach.

THIS OFFER SHOULD BE A WARNING TO EVERY MAN AND WOMAN.

The newspapers and medical journals recently have had much to say relative to a famous millionaire's offer of a million dollars for a new stomach.

His misfortune serves as a warning to others.

Every one who suffers with dyspepsia for a few years will give everything he owns for a new stomach.

Dyspepsia is commonly caused by an abnormal state of the gastric juices, or by lack of tone in the walls of the stomach; the result is that the stomach loses its power to digest food.

We are now able to supply certain missing elements—to help to restore to the gastric juices their digestive power, and to aid in making the stomach strong and well.

We know that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are a most dependable remedy for disordered stomachs, indigestion, and dyspepsia.

We want you to try them and will return your money if you are not more than satisfied with the result.

Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, A. V. Rand.

For soreness of the muscles whether induced by violent exercise or injury, Chamberlain's Liniment is excellent. This liniment is also highly esteemed for the relief it affords in cases of rheumatism. Sold by all dealers.

"Son, why don't you marry Emily? You have been attentive enough to her."

"Father, I will never marry Emily. There is an insuperable bar to our union."

"What mystery is this?"

"No mystery. Only I asked Emily and she won't have me."

Asking on etiquette, did you send him a crown for those advertised instructions on 'What to do at table'?

Yes?

"And what did you get?"

"A slip with one word printed on it: 'Stiff!'"

"Dyspepsia makes me think of a spy bee."

Indigestion, is he?

Oh, no, it is that way—nearly every one he touches gets stung.

Double Draperies

Since fresh air at night has become imperative the right way to curtain a bedroom must be studied. Every window must be raised at top and bottom, which is better for lungs and complexion than for hangings.

The specialist advises no curtains; so will most men, who rarely like the faintly draperies dear to women. Few householders agree with this, even health fanatics. Nothing furnishes a room like fresh white curtains. Besides, the publicity of the uncurtained room is objectionable, not to mention the bare look of the outside of a house.

The woman who believes in fresh air never hangs at her bedroom windows curtains that cannot be laundered easily or that are ruined by dampness. Windows up on the year around soon works havoc on delicate lace or colored curtains.

Double draperies are not advisable for the bedroom. Too much air is shut out, though they are lifted back each night. Where one will have them choose denim, wash prints or heavy wash silks that will stand tubing.

One woman fastens to the side lines of her windows, high above the middle sash, a small hook. In a convenient place she keeps cords for each half of curtain, and her maids are taught when preparing the room for the night to loop the curtains up and back, thus giving a free current of air.

The most practical method of curtaining a bedroom is to divide the curtains in two sections horizontally. A rod is run at the top of the lower sash and the lower half run on it by a narrow casing. The upper curtains are cut longer than the lower one and hung to a rod at the top of the case, so that they conceal the lower rod.

By this arrangement the window can be lifted with no floating draperies to blow out the window and get stringy, yet the room has the benefit of curtains.

A Baking Help.

The following contrivance is very successful when you wish to bake hot rolls or gems and do not have time to heat the oven. Place a flat-iron stand on top of the stove, put gem pans on it, and cover tightly with a pan, letting them remain there just long enough to bake thoroughly on the bottom; then take them off, and put them on the upper grate in the oven to brown the tops.
