

IT MUST GO ON!

The Great Adjustors' Sale, whereby it was attempted to get rid of C. H. Taylor's large stock of General Merchandise, has proved a huge success. Goods have been going out of this store during the past three weeks at a rate astonishing to lookers-on. The reason has been the wide advertising of Genuine Bargains, full measure, pressed down and running over.

Still we have a large quantity of merchandise on hand that we must dispose of, and to help sell the old stock we have filled up short lines with

EGG AND WOOL DEMONSTRATION CAR NEXT WEEK

As a result of the success, which has attended the presentation of the Wool and Egg Exhibits of the Live Stock Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, at the larger Western Fairs this summer, arrangements have been made in co-operation with the Canadian Pacific Railway to place these exhibits before the people of the Eastern Provinces through the medium of a Demonstration Car. This car will be at Hartland all next Wednesday afternoon, at Perth on Thursday forenoon, and at Woodstock on Thursday evening. The car will be in charge of Egg and Wool Specialists of the Poultry and Sheep Divisions, respectively, and demonstrations will be given at each stop.

The object of the wool exhibit is to assist farmers to gain a more complete and definite knowledge of the character of wools grown in this and other countries, and of the products manufactured therefrom. It will demonstrate how wool may be handled to secure the best advantages to both producer and consumer. Carelessness in the preparation of Canadian wool has resulted in an injury to its reputation upon the markets of the world. In an endeavour to overcome these conditions by aiding the wool growers of Canada to place upon the market a high grade product, the Sheep

Division presents this exhibit to the public.

The principal features of the Egg Exhibit are contained in two large show-cases, and strikingly illustrate right and wrong methods of marketing eggs. In one case, by means of models and appropriate descriptions are careless methods of handling eggs, prevailing on too large a number of Canadian farms and in country stores. In this illustration the eggs are gathered infrequently and from questionable places. They are held until it is convenient to carry them to market and are often traded on a flat-rate basis, for merchandise, at the country store where little or no attention is paid to their preservation. Here they are frequently held indefinitely, in anticipation of a rising market and often are shipped in damp and musty cases to the wholesale dealer where they are candled and graded. The result of the candling is indicated and it is to be noted that but a relatively small proportion grade "select." The manner in which the average retail grocer permits eggs to deteriorate is also pointed out, and if by chance, a portion of the uncandled eggs should have gone direct to the consumer the result is very evident.

The other case shows the results that may be obtained through the adoption of improved methods, not only on the farm and in the country store, but on the part of all those who handle eggs. The models show a flock of pure bred poultry kept in a clean, well ventilated poultry house, provided with clean nests from which the eggs are gathered frequently and regularly. The eggs are kept covered in a clean utensil in the coolest place in the farmhouse and marketed at least once, better twice, a week. In the country store they are packed in clean, dry cases and forwarded with the minimum of delay. The result of this careful management is apparent in the candling room of the wholesale warehouse where a decidedly large proportion of the eggs grade "select."

An additional and important feature of the exhibit is a large candling booth, in which continuous demonstrations are given in the art of candling eggs. This phase of the work is of particular interest to consumers, for the reason that but few appreciate the fact that the quality of an egg can be accurately determined without breaking the shell.

The candling of eggs is not a difficult process and the small amount of labor entailed in candling presents no valid reason why the consuming public should not candle their own eggs. It should be recognized that as a business requirement the wholesale trade regularly, candles and grades the product which it receives. Merchants generally, however, should acquire facility in candling and every housewife will find it to her advantage to attend one of these candling demonstrations. She will be interested in observing the methods practised and by obtaining one of the simple cardboard candling appliances which are distributed, free, she will be in a position to safeguard her family from many unpleasant occurrences at the breakfast table.

Be on hand to visit this car.
