ine's Drops, for the is with confidence an infallible cure in ry to the teeth or

IFUGE.—This is by for Worms ever a Worms from both anot harm the most dult, and never fails desiroy all kinds of per bottle, puts its all parents who eroposing the lives of estreyers of youth, ne of Comsteck & Wrapper' of each

OYF. - Colors the YE.—Colors the is dye may be aphe first night (urny) Hair to a dark econd night, to a te are warranted by ures it, who is the mstock, author of losophy, and other ill known.
r named articles are sther, 2 St. Peter's Astor House, bests., one door from 1 Broadway, New 1 be directed.
LO Conner: in 1. Mary's by T.-B. Scott: in London, 'by J. Carter; in Carter; in 'by J. Carter; in C. Carter; in 'by J. Carte

Scott; in London, by J. Carter; in & Co.; in Mitchell
& Co.; in Embro Tirol. Enquire for 1853, which In Bayfield by C.

PAIN KILLER. scovered that is so nternally as drops such wonders when re bath, by friction: to try it; and as the proprietor, it is ne obstacle to any ent its trial. The according to the If you doubt, be-ind that will remove up, and use and re-tore than a nundred I fail to try it then, 21 cents. This with a success that n such cases as the Distressing Dysso-mach, Corus, Cuts at, Children Teeth-at, Children Teeth-

t, Children Teeth howing the wonarticles of no me called Pain Killers,

S HOME, G, WATERLOO, ruary, 1849. intimates to his sburgh, and wil known house for nes .- where he hile he returns s hopes, by strict nd wishes of his a continuance o

JOHN ABEL. ES and attentive v2-n4tf SURANCE been appointed RANCE CO.," osals for Assunation, as to the WATSON. v2n 9 inds Office.

BY GIVEN

ROWN LANDS AWANOSH, are necessary informa-

CLARK, wn Land Agent. 3vn41tf

HATELY. Hemlock Bark,

G. SMITH.

ORE.

of GENERAL of debts, desires e collection of this announce ress his thanks re, and now re-

).. North Dum tly attended to. v5n10

NDRY acted by Wm. account, who corresponding v5n3

RK LOT

are situate of rdine Street, in f Penetangore. RASTALL.

THE HURON SIGNAL Is Printed & Published every Thursday BY GEO. & JOHN COX.

Office, Market Square, Goderich. Book and Job Printing executed with neatness and dispatch.

Terms of the Huron Signal.—TEN SHILLINGS per annum if paid strictly in advance, or Twelve and Six Pence with

No paper discontinued until arrears are paid up, unless the publishers think it their Any individual in the country becoming responsible for six subscribers, shall receive a seventh copy gratis.

The All letters addressed to the Editor must be post-paid, or they will not be taken out of the post office.

Terms of Advertising.—Six lines an under, first insertion, Each subsequent insertion, Ten lines and under, first inser., 0 Each subsequent insertion, 0 Over ten lines, first in. per line, 0 Each subsequent insertion, 0 0

Cords.

Br. P. A. McDOUGALL, CAN be consulted at all hours, a Mr. Let Turge's Boarding House (formerly the British Hotel.)
Goderich, April 29th, 1852.

BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, &c. West June 1848. 2vn25

DANIEL HOME LIZARS, A TTORNEY AT LAW, and Conveyan-cer, Solicitor in Chancery, &c. has his office as formerly in Stratford. Stratford, 2nd Jan. 1850. 2vn49

DANIEL GORDON,

CABINET MAKER, Three doors East o the Canada Company's office, Weststreet, Goderich. August 27th, 1849.

JOHN J. E. LINTON, NOTARY PUBLIC, Commissioner Q.B. and Conveyancer, Stratford. FOUSE AND SIGN PAINTER, &c Lighthouse-street, Goderich, October 25, 1849. 2vn38

HURON HOTEL,

BY JAMES GENTLES, Goderich.
Attentive Hostlers always on hand.
Goderich, Sept. 12, 1850. v3-n30 STRACHAN AND BROTHER.

Barrister and Attornies at Law, &c,. GODERICH C. W.
JOHN STRACHAN Barrister and Attorney at Law, Notary Public and Convey-A LEXANDER WOOD STRACHAN,

A Attorney at Law, Solicitor in Chan-cery, Conveyancer. Goderich, 17th November, 1851. MISS E. SHARMAN, (From Manchester, England.) MILLINER AND DRESS MAKER.

WEST STREET, GODERICH, (2 doors East of the Canada C. Office.) WHERE she intends to carry on the very latest fashions. June 24th, 1852.

A. NASMYTH.

PASHIONABLE TAILOR, one door West of W. E. Grace's Store.

WANTED. TWO good BOOT and SHOE Makers. and good wages, by applying at the Shop

BUSTARD GREEN. Sept. 9th. 1851. WICTORIA HOTEL

WEST STREET, GODERICH, (Near the Market Square,) BY MASSERS. JOHN & ROBT. DONOGH.

OOD Accommodations for Travellers, and an attentive Hostler at all times, to take charge of Teams.

Goderich, Dec. 6, 1850.

43—tf

WASHINGTON Farmers' Mutual Insurance Co., CAPITAL $1,000,000. EZRA HOPKINS, Hamilton, Agent for the Counties of Waterloo and Huron. August 27, 1850. 3v15

MR. JOHN MACARA BARRISTER, Solicitor in Chancery, Attorney-at-Law, Conveyancer, &c. Coffice: Ontario Buildings, King-St. possite the Gore Bank, and the Bank of Bruish North America, Hamilton. 4 10

MR. T. N. MOLESWORTH. SIVIL ENGINEER and Provincial Lan Surveyor, Goderich. April 30, 1851.

DR. HYNDMAN. QUICK'S TAVERN, London Road.

JAMES WOODS. A UCTIONEER, is prepared to Public Sales in any part of the United Counties, on moderate terms. Stratford, May 1850.

PETER BUCHANAN, TAILOR N EXT door to H. B. O'Connor's Store, West Street, Goderich. Clothes made and repaired, and cutting done on the shor-test notice, and most liberal terms.

December 3rd, 1851

W. & R. SIMPSON, (LATE HOPE, BIRRELL & Co.,) GROCERS, Wine Merchants, Fruiterers and Oilmen, No. 17 Dundas Street, London, C. W. February 25th 1852.

ROWLAND WILLIAMS. ACCTIONERS, is prepared to attend Sales in any part of the United Counties, on the most liberal terms. Apply at the First Division Court office, or at his house, East Street, Goderich. N. B.—Goods and other property will be ved to sell either by private January 6, 1852.

OB PRINTING of every description, neatly and promptly executed at this office.

Huron

TEN SHILLINGS

"THE GREATEST POSSIBLE GOOD TO THE GREATEST POSSIBLE NUMBER.

TWELVE AND SIX PENCE

VOLUME V. #

GODERICH, COUNTY OF HURON, (C. W.) THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1852.

THOMAS NICHOLLS. olid excrements, whereas nature has so BROKER AND GENERAL AGENT

surance Co. NOTARY PUBLIC, ACCOUNTANT AND CONVEYANCER. NSURANCE effected on Houses, Shi

All kinds of Deeds correctly drawn, Books and Accounts adjusted.

Office over the Treasury, Goderich. July 22, 1852.

CIVIL ENGINEER, &c. GODERICH, C. W. Aug. 25th, 1852.

WILLIAM HODGINS ARCHITECT & CIVIL ENGINEER Office 27, Dundas Street,

HORACE HORTON, A GENT for the Provincial Mut A GENT for the Provincial Mutual and General Insurance Office, Toronto,—Also Agent for the St. Lawrence County Mutual, Ogdensburg, New York. Local Agent for Samuel Moulson's Old Rochester Nursery.

July 1850.
22

Doetrn.

God's world is passing into ours;
Its beauty, eilent, rips and sweet.
Its truth which we are proud to greet. Fashion and strengthen all our powers.

The sun round whom the planete glide. The moon that gives the light she takes. The flowers in meadows and in brakes, The flowing and the ebbing tide,-

The granate rock on which are laid.

The bringing rainbow, the blue gloom That in romantic gorges sleeps,
The floating amber light that creeps
Over the fields where cowelips bloom,—

The pale green azure hue that gleams On the sky's rim when suns are low, Full of a sweet dead Long-Ago. Yet breathing Hopes delicious dreams,

Sun, moon, and tide, with clouds that dye And trees that yearn to reach the sky ashion our minds and mould our powers:— Men whom we champion wrong or right,

The children that about us play.
With golden hair and round soft flesh;
Smooth as magnolla flowers, and fresh Full cheeks that blush like, dawning day,—

The lays of Greece, the Hebrew's pealm, The thoughts of wise men grave and calm That live, or died when Time was young. The soul is like a mirror fair.

Reflecting every shape or hor, Yet as it changes, changing, too, All that we know, and all we are.

God's world is passing into ours, This everlasting sea of life Rolls its swift waves in calm and strife O'er all our feelings, all our powers.

HOME. Home's not merely four equare walls, Home!-go watch the faithful dove Home's not merely roof and room. Vhere there's some kind lip to cheer What is home with pone to meet! None to welcome, none to greet us? Where there's one we love to meet us.

AGRICULTURE.

ought to be taken to restore that by those animals; 100 pounds of bones con-tain about 57 pounds of lime. Milk, too, carries off carbonate and phosphate of lime in great abundance. Yet it must be re-membered that there is a marked difference solid excrements, whereas nature has so organized the young animal that the greater part of the lime reten in its food is assimilated for the growth and extension of its bones; if such were not the fact, how could bones possess the immence quantity of lime in their composition? So, even by this means, the soil becomes deficient of lime if all the excrements of such young animals were returned to it; if such solid did not contain a sufficiency of lime, which there is much reason to doubt, as crop after crop remeves lime, and lime is soldom applied as a dressing for grass land; and certain it is that we cannot arrive at anything like accuracy in the absence of analysis; and practical experimenters and farmers will do well to consider this.—Scientific American.

PRESERVING FRITT IN THEME ONN JUICE. PRESERVING FAULT IN THEIR OWN JUICE.

ing the temperature to the boiling point as quick as possible; then cork and seal the buttles immediately. Some varieties of fruit will not fill the bottle with their own uice, these must be filled with boiling water and corked as before mentioned, after ne surrounding water boils. STARCH.—There is no better way ever tried for making nice starch for shirt bo-soms, then to boil it thoroughly after mix-ing, adding a little fine salt and a few shav-ings of a spermacetic and is. Let the starch boil at least ten minutes, and it will give a gloss, if neatly ironed, fully estisfactory to the exquisite taste of a dandy.

Literature.

From the American Union.

THE SEGRET RIVALS. OR A FRIEND IN A MASK.

BY GEORGE CANNING HILL.

Just at the close of a warm summer day, wo young men sat at the windows of a par- temples with refreshing sensations. icular room in a College, engaged in conversation. They were classmates, and, to appearances, the best of friends. nonies of Commencement and the distri- his feeling description. ution of their diplomas.

awaited them. They were just about to ling interrogatories. eager efforts of theirs could discover to them dreams.

formed by their own imaginations. ting, 'where have you concluded to spend through the day.

Oh, I think I'll stay here-right here, ply under these broad-spreading trees,' was young William Motley's reply. And not go away at all?' persisted Jud on Jordan, in much surprise No-not go away at all. I've worked retty hard this summer in getting ready for Commencement, and I'll just lay off now. The fact is, Jordan, I need rest. How it happened he probably might not be 'Yes, and change, too,' rejoined the lat

Well, perhaps so, said Motley, thought-

Now I've a proposition to make to you Will you acceede to it.?' 'That I can better tell you after I bear what it is." Well, I want you to make ready and curiosity.

o home with me to-morrow, and spend the acation. I think I can find enough enjoy- Don't be too inquisitive just now, and you ment for you there-' 'Oh, I don't doubt that; I don't doubt ng six hot weeks. All the class will be his toilet for some visit yet dim and indisone and I imagine you will feel lonely tinct in his brain.

'Only say I have persuaded you quite,' Come, say you'll go.'

oo, added Jordan. 'Yes, yes; that's a great deal, I confess, replied the other.

'And I will show you some of our choice female friends, besides." Will you, though?' asked Motley,, he more than half rose out of his chair with new excitement. 'Yes, I will do it most cheerfully, i you'll only consent to go.' Motley sat down again and occupied of genius himself for a minute or two with deep reor growing one; the former excretes carbon-ate and phosphate of lime in its liquid and flection.

'Come, say you will!' again urged Jor-

'I will,' promptly replied his friend. The contract thus hastily entered upon was at once put in a way of rapid fulfilment. Trunks were everbauled and packed full, hat same evoning, and books and papers vere laid away locked up for the term of he vacation. Manny things were hidden away where there could be but little chance of ever finding them again, and many more were jammed, and thrust, where they could never be but of little service again, even if

The next morning came. An early oreakfast was only succeeded by an early start for the cars, and in a little while the wo college friends were proceeding at a ickety-rackety pace on the iron road through the country. They were never in the many incidents of the term of study riving near the door, they dismounted, and ust ended, and laughed remorselessly upon the ludicrous peculiarities of some of their venerable teachers. So loud, so long, and so hearty was their laughter, half lor, where presently a radiant and beauti the passengers in the cars in which they rode turned round and surveyed them with look of curiosity and wonder. Not until evening were they rolling noothly and delightfully along, over a road | zled and bewildered with her. that was shadowed with maples and elms, and that conducted directly to the mansion of Mr. Jordan, senior. The air had been natural. As it was, she was only attired ter dropped. hot through the day, and the freshly stirred in the simplest mode, and her attitudes, her wind-breaths that had slept in the dark speech, her smiles, and her expression, dan's home, lined on either side with lin- the mind of Motley. In a moment he ad- Agnes received them with her usual dens, his heart felt the strength of his old- mired her-he adored her. Unconscious- light laugh and winning smile, as if, in case It was the last term of their collegiate home love return again, and he began to ly, he had set her up in his heart as a divi- she loved him at all, her heart had gone ourse, and the brief summer vacation was descant glowingly and fervently upon the nity. He knew not why, either; he hardly through no struggle at all during his abbegin on the morrow, and continued un- charms of the home-spot. It was dear to knew it was so. il they were summoned back to the cere- him, and he made it dear to his friend with Friends in plenty hurried to greet young Six weeks of most agreeable leisure lay Judson, who seemed scarcely less glad to long time had Judson paid her marked atpefore them, untouched and untried. They see his friend likewise. They ate their sup- tention, betraying, not only to himself, but ing it was with undisguised reluctance on had accomplished the aims and ambition of per amid congratulations, joyful exclam- to others likewise, the decided preference the part of Motley, and a secret and mysfour years of close labor, and now sat silent- ations, narratations of innumerable homely contemplating the wondrous change that histories, and the most varied and entang-

all trackless and unknown. The most rest good night, and laid down to their that - but no matter what they might tion to Judson, it drew her away to his o headlands, jutting out into the waste; no It was but a little time after breakfast Judson introduced his class mate to Ag- ken hold upon her, that it was beyond deslights, twinkling and gleaming along em- was over the next morning, while both the nes with not a little satisfaction. She, on cription and explanation.

oracing shores; no paib, save that already college friends were sitting upon the broad her part, appeared glad to meet one of Mr. verandah before the house, when young Jordan's college friends; while Mr. Motley found a letter addressed to himself-when "Well, Motler,' said one of the two, in Jordan remarked to his companion that he on his part betrayed both in looks and he reached the residence of Mr. Jordan whose room both were at the same time sit- wished to know what might be his pleasure speech, the most profound gratification at again, requiring his presence back at the

'Have you no choice, then?' None, whatever.' 'Then I propose to get out the horses, ave them saddled and brought round to the 'That suits me!' interrupted Motley. 'And ride over to see-

Judson Jordan paused at this point.

able to explain himself. It was really most mbarrassing, however, to him. 'To see whom ?' asked Motley, turning and looking in his companion's face. Well-no matter, now, returned Jud on, carelessly. 'Yes but tell me. You have excited my

"And I will not fail to gratify it, either.

shall have no cause to find fault.' Jordan hastened away to order up the horses, and both then proceeped to equip 'And I furthermore believe it will do themselves for their equestrian turn out ou much more good than to stay here dur- Mr. Motley additionally taking pains with ere. In the country, at our place, I can At length they put foot in the stirrup we consider the vast quantity of lime that is removed by a crop of grass, it seems find you fishing, and hunting, and sailing, and rode gallantly away. Judson intended reasonable to suppose that some means and riding, and almost everything else.— that his friend should have a fair view of and riding, and almost everything else .-- that his friend should have a fair view of o the coul, if it does not already contain You'll never be trobled with ennui, for, the country round about, and therefore took a sufficient amount. Two tons of red clover will carry off 130 be of lime—two tons of rye grass 33 lbs. This is analysis will pass away as rapidly as you could wish. plains and rolling lands, and down through the darkest and deepest dells, and along the entired the two young men out, and as a > their horses feet in many places yet crush- piazza. the refreshing wind drew pleasanted and scattered the pearls of night from ly through the pendulous boughs, as through the grass. The air was still damp and a well formed lattice. In the shaded distance other days.

From the brooks, the lawns, the copse, blessedness of their power. A sudden bend in the road brought them there taken up a long residence. Motley in full view of a sweet little spot, hedged wondered within himself whether she might about thickly with clumps of trees, and still be really human.

'It's heavenly!' exclaimed Motley, with deep enthaiastic expression in his kindle 'So I think, too,' said Judson 'Yes, but who lives there!' 'I am going to take you there that pay see for yourself.'

'Ah, that pleases me.' 'Then you like the place?' returned Jud-

Like it! Who would'nt fall in low with it?' 'Perhaps,' thought Judson, "there may be other things he will like just as well.'

Yet this flashing thought gave him no resent uneasines They wheeled and rode up the long and winding avenue, beset on both sides with perhaps, forever, to give his suit some dewore towering spirits. They joked upon a triple growth of various evergreens. Ar- gree of encouragement. secured their horses. Judson led the way

> They were shown by a maid into the parful form made its appearance.

Motley could have maintained it was wood nymph, just came out from one of her

Had she been a being of gay appear bough until now, beat upon their uncovered were all so simple and unstudied-so artless ing a huge arm-full of stainless water lillies They were not far from Judson Jor- ated was all the more deep and lasting on her teet.

> just entered the room-was a girl of rare resolutions determined to press it into the qualities, both of heart and head. For a service for his purposes.

enter upon the great ocean of life, to them At length, tired and worn, they bade the ship. They themselves might have thought Agnes was sedulously addressing her attenbave thought, or what they did think.

meeting her. It appeared to be a meeting town again. It seemed to him a hard lot, 'Just what yours is,' was the prompt re- of congenial minds, if one might determine but there was no alternative. And his by what was plainly visible. The morning passed pleasantly indeed to himself. Agnes was supposed to be. But Motley unable to call on Agnes. As it was, he staring at her almost rudely. Then they ran on, through high-way and entirely t home, and Judson no less so .-

tions were freely pressed upon both the ...ends to make the house of Agnes Whiting their stopping-place, as frequently as they ventured, or desired to venture, in that direction. The consequence naturally was, the young men made frequent visits together at the sequestered retreat of Agnes, where they each other "god-speed" through life. njoyed to their heart's desire the society of as charming a girl as was to be found the country over. The general reply had gradually grown to be, when questions were asked in relation to a projected ride ' over to Miss Whiting's.'

A beautiful morning, perhaps more beau-It matter quite to be expected, they rade to the house of Agnes. They found her at The sun had been up but a few hours, and home, sitting in the cool shade of the broad

When they first caught a glimpse of the deep woods and the river, came the her, sitting upon the piazza, clad, too, in most delicious influences. As they rode spotless and attractive white, she seemed slowly on, their hearts acknowledged the to them to be some angel who might have stolen away to this romantic seclusion, and again walled in with dense shrubbery, now In a few moments they were with her, of a dark green. It seemed a chosen spot chatting gaily and agreeably. On some pretext or another, perhaps to volunteer Whose place is that? instantly inquired his unaided services in gathering the white

NUMBER XL.

'That's just what I was going to tell you', son absented himself, leaving her and his riend on the piazza together. It was a most unfortunate hou levoted absent one, though his own heart was filled with nothing but trust. William Motley told Agnes the story is brief, but burning love. The words slipped from his lips almost before he knew They fell upon his ear with a strange and fascinating power. She was quite spell-bound. She sat patiently and listened. And no nerely patiently, but with a sufferance that yielded her for the moment the sweetest pleasure. He plead for her hand. He begged nost fervently for some substantial token promise, of her favor. He entreated her to assure him, before he went away, Foolish girl! She wavered she did not reply promptly and decisively. She stopped to listen to the siren tongue of momentary illusion, and thus bargained away the advantage a little firmness would have given to her. She did not decline and, she did not accept the very honorable offer of William mazy recesses. He was completely dax- Motley. She was more silent than otherwise. A few fabricated excuses, trival and slight, were successful in putting of his basance, it might all have seemed perfectly ty plans, and there for the present the mat-

Just at this very apspicious moment,too Judson came climbing over the knoll, bearand so natural-that the impression she cre- and laid them on the clean piazza floor at sence. This studied indifference William Agnes Whiting-the person who had Motley was quick to observe, and his active

When they took their leave that morn terious foreboding on the part of Agnes .he seemed to entertain.

By many, it was considered that a marThere hud sprung into life a strange magriage was sure to grow out of this friend- netism between these two, and even when class-mate. A power seemed to have ta-

It so happened that William Motle friend was quite as dejected about it as all. Judson was gratified, and of course He left early the next morning for town. was intoxicated. He could scarcely keep felt that he should be situated very strangehis eyes off of Agnes, but was guilty of ly even if he had done so. It was better, he finally concluded, that he should thus suddenly be called away.

They took up college topics, and chatted

The term of vacation passed rapidly a upon them as long as they yielded interest. way, and the day of annual commencement arrived. On that day nearly one hundred and bye-ways, until they touched upon the young men were to enter upon life from ou he shaded recesses of academic existence abject of nature. Here Agnes seemed it was a new step for them all. Some re garded it with thoughtless indifference .ome imagined they were just free from

It was a brilliant scene, and Judson Jor-

Agnes-might in that comparatively brief time have changed. Perhaps it was only

It was impossible for him not to rem the decided dignity, not to call it affected continued to entertain him. Agnes, plainnot the old Agnes at all.

But he urged her to make it plain to him.

And then she entered upon her explanon. She did so, too, in this way. 'That my regard for you has greatly subsided, Mr. Jordan," said she, with dignity, "you cannot have failed yourself to notice. It cannot be disguised. It is uite too true to admit of concealment.

She paused a moment. But what can be the reason of this, Agnes? inquired he, with impatience.

She made no immediate reply, but rising from her seat, she crossed the floor and Motley, rising in his stirrups for admiration. lillies in the distant pond for Agues, Jud- passed out through the opposite door.

The section of the se Mr. Joadan sat alone in speeceless

Judeon she observed to min—

'I owe, perhaps, as full an explanation as may be for this change in my feelings to you, and you will find it all in there.

Jordan took the letter from her hand, nd glanced at the superso the destruction of another, then assuredly the author of this letter was the fiend .-Charges were heaped plentifully against him, of whose foundation neither he nor any one else had the least idea. It was, altogether a most base and malicious producon. Yet so artfully had it been got together and presented to the attention of Agnes, that it had already wrought the whole effect desired in its origin.

For some moments after reading it, Judson was quite unable to speak. Gathering

'It has its influence on my mind,' replied than attempt the refutation of any of these charges at this time, I will leave you to your own conclusions. It is hard, Agneschanges than these." And he took his Three months intervened. On a cold and raw day in early December, a letter reached Agnes, directed in an unknown She took it and hastily broke the seal.

It contained the intelligence of the ar-rest of Mr. William Motley, of Philadel-phia, for being implicated in the crime of orgery to a large amount.

Good reader, we skip over all else. Ag-only on the impulse of prejudice and scan-dalous report, and desired to be as much his friend as she ever was before. Nay-soon she was more than friend to him. And Judson Jordan had his own charac-

THE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS. 4 The editor of the Boston Bee is a wag. nd a gallant as well. He puts forth queer ssays, and his last, on the "Freedom of the Press," is not a little peculiar. Take

It felt as soft as a cake : "Oh dear !" says she "what liberty You Printer men do take !" "Why yes, my Sal, my charming gal" (I squeezed her some, I guess.) Can you say O, my chick, against

She coloured like a beet : Upon my living soul she looked Almost to good to eat ! I gave her another buss, and then Says she "I do confess, I rather sorter kinder like ifteen or twenty young ladies belonging to that city, have hired a bouse for the season, on the White Mountains, near onway, where they are keeping "bachelor's hail," wearing the bloomer dress, hunting, fishing, picking berries, and enjoying themselves finely.

ATTEMPTED FLIGHT OF THE POPE The following extraordinary story is told in the Official Gazette of Savoy: "According to a letter from Genoa, Pius IX. had actually attempted to make his escape from Porto D'Anzio, and was only prevented from Judson and William Mottey grasped each others hand with fervor, and bade each other "god-speed" through life.

Scarcely a month had passed away since the convey him to Naples.

"But at Porto d'Anzio it appeared that Scarcely a month had passed away since this annual festival, so full of sad realities to young Judson Jordan, and he sat by the side of Agnes again.

He had been absent from her a much longer time than usual, and his heart almost properties and him that sheep even such an one as the state of the service of the French division, and is commanded by Captain Olivor, had accompanied the pontifical one. How came this steamer, which ought to have stayed at Function, its usual station, to be at

of this unexpected change in her feelings towards him.

At first, she made no reply. She must here been nuzzled and embarrassed.

It is by no means surprising to at the Holmose desired to avoid the very pressing invitation of the French President. He had doubtless in his memory the result of a summar bonor conferred by the ancestor of the Acceleration of the Presidence of the Acceleration in the relationship of the Acceleration in the relationship of the Acceleration of the President of the Acceleration Louis Napoleon upon his predecessor, the worthy Pious V1. He was "invited" is

> The most effectual way to secure bappiness to ourselves, is to confer it upon

Presently, however, she returned again.
See brought a letter in her hand, whose teal had been broken. Handing it to fudeon she observed to him—

He was thunderstruck with surprise.

He opened it and read.

It was, briefly, an obstract of some one's estimate of his character. If ever a fiend went deliberately to work to accomplish courage and strength, however, with neces-sity, he said— You believe this Agnes, do you?

So it unfortunately seems; and rather hat, and bade her 'good morning.'
The author of the letter was William

Motley! He had found it necessary to take this first and fearful step, to supplant his old friend in the trustful and true affections of Agnes.

It simply enclosed a slip of paper, clip-ped from a city daily. She took it be-tween her fingers and read.

nes instantly sent for her old lover, confessed to him her deep and hasty wrong, begun ter abundantly vindicated, if it needed it, while that of his old friend was quite as thoroughly explained and illustrated.

an extract from it by way of a specimen ; Around her waist I put my arm-

The Freedom of the Press. I kiesed her some-I did my gum-

The Bostom Commonwealth says that

More vistened, rather than talked, and they mile they mi It was a brilliant scene, and Judson Jordan acquitted humself of his allotted part with unusual credit. At the sunset hour having assembled on the Lawn before the College Buildings, the students took a final leave of each other, some of them never to reassemble in that hallowed place.

14th General Cotte, the Marquis de l'argot and M. Rayneval had waited upon the Pope at Castle Gandolpho, for the purpose of persuading the Holy Father to proceed to Paris in order to crown Prince Louis Napoleon. The timid counsellors of the Pope at once advised him to take flight, as he had once in the winter of 1848 9. With his reassemble in that hallowed place.

Judson and William Motley grasped done in the winter of 1848 9. With his usual weakness, Plus IX., on the following > isgave him that she—even such an one as Porto d'Anzio? The Pope and his suite embarked under pretence of taking a mere pleasure trip, but the French steamer insis-ied upon accompanying the lidely Father as escort of hunor. Hopes were entertained that she might be outstripped, so as to reach Gaeta or Naples in safety; but Capt the decided dignity, not to can it anected or, so that the idea of flight was given up. hauteur, with which she both greeted and The Prince President at Lyons, alludes to ontinued to entertain him. Agnes, plainenough to him, was not the Agnes of > ther days. She shortly appeared to him > it the old Agnes at all.

>
> He ventured, at length, to ask the cause > this unexpected change in her feelings He ventured, at length, to ask the cause will be remembered, to Paris, to aid in the coronation of the Emperor, and Napoleon was so pleased with his company, that he detained him there for upwards of two years. The affairs of the Holy City are just now in so critical a condition, that Pio Nino might well fear to be absent from his dominions, should the nephest of his uncus think proper to honor him with a similar extensive hope that the statement of the content of the extended hospitality.

that, at all.'

APPLYING LIME TO GRASS LAND .- When

doubted, whose high authority Why whn't you go, Motley?" find all grasses to contain lime in large pause, you have almost persuaded me almargin of the most charming streams, proportions, eepecially clover and lucerne. pause, you have almost persuaded me almargin of the most charming streams. proportions, especially clover and lucerne. Although the quantity of lime appears a great deal carried off by these crips, yet very small when compared with the weight of the soil, as one cubit foot weight about said Jordan, 'and I shall be satisfied. uantity of lime is necessary to be present a the soil than what is actually required with warrangers. by the various crops, as the roots of feeding organs do not come in contact with the hundreth part of the soil. The clear glassy part of the steme of grass is composed of a silicate of contact with the hundreth part of the soil. The clear glassy part of the steme of grass is composed of a silicate of contact with the wind to?

Yes, and my own constant company, a silicate of contact with the water slept quietly in the cool shadows, being in the deep recesses, into which the risen sun was beginning to throw his goldposed of a silicate of soda; and in the ab sence of either of these substances lime in contact with sand or flint will render it sufficiently seluble to enter into the orga-ism of plants, and will also set at liberty matters that have been taken up in the sol and quite unfit in that state for the food o

Agent for Ontario Marine & Fire Inping;and Goods. Houses & Lands Sold & Rented, Good

J. DENISON.

LONDON, C. W. August 16th, 1852.

INFLUENCES. FROM THE ATHENEUM

Level or slanted, slate or stone,
With flowers and mosses overgrown,
Sweet children of the sun and shade,—

God's world is passing into ours:

breath
Flowing through lips that kiss till death
And eyelids trembling with delight, breath

Though with pictures hung and gilded; Home is where affection calls— Filled with shrines the heart hath builded Sailing 'neath the heaven above us,-- the plants. If grass is not carried away in the shape of a crop of hay, but is used as a pasture for milk cowe or growing stock till a great deal of lime is removed between a full grown animal and a young