At Litledale.

On Sunday, December 8th, a very beautiful religious ceremony took place in the lovely Chapel of St. Bride's Academy, Litledale.

Several of the young ladies were solemnly received into the Sodality of the Children of Mary, and others into the Sodalities of the Holy Angels and Holy Infant, respectively.

His Grace Archbishop Howley officiated, assisted by the Rev. Father O'Callaghan.

The Archbishop gave a beautiful discourse on the Hall Mary, and referred to the spot where the first Hall Mary had been addressed to the Virgin Mother by the Angel Gabriel. His Grace graphically described the Holy House of Loreto, which he had the great privilege of visiting.

Besides the nuns and pupils there were present several visitors and all were incited to deep devotion by the sermon, as well as by pure and holy surroundings.

The ceremony of reception had been preceded by a Retreat of three days, which was conducted by Rev. Dr. Greene whose earnest lectures will be long remembered by his youthful congregation.

PATIENT DISCHARGED.—Patrick O'Gorman, of Harbor Main District, formerly a mechanic with the D. I. & S. Co. of Wabana, but who has been in the General Hospital for the past nine months, suffering from jaundice, was discharged from the Institution yesterday.

New Zealander Shoots Himself

IN HARDWARE STORE.

Last night Sidney Simpson, a 24-year-old seaman, belonging to New Zealand, attempted to end his life by shooting himself in the right foot, and the victim now lies at the General Hospital. Simpson committed the deed maliciously. He had been drinking heavily all day and at the time of the happening was in a frenzied state.

About eight o'clock Simpson visited Bowring Bros. hardware store, on Water Street. He asked to be shown a .38 calibre revolver, remarking in the interim that he was about to set sail for a foreign port as he belonged to a vessel in port which recently arrived from South America. "A man's best friend in those foreign climes is a gun," said Simpson in a low, calm voice. Believing that Simpson was going to make a purchase the clerk produced a revolver. Simpson then asked for a cartridge to see if it would fit in the chambers. Soon after the seaman pointed the revolver at the floor and fired at his feet. The clerk still believed that Simpson was testing the firearm until the latter laid the revolver on the counter and asked to be sent to the Hospital. The clerk was then suddenly amazed and frightened, and the rest of the hands in the shop were equally astonished. The report of the explosion attracted people passing along Water Street. Const. O'Keefe responded quickly to a telephone call, took charge of the weapon and drove Simpson to the police station in a cab. Here he was attended by Dr. Mitchell. An examination proved that Simpson had shot himself in the right foot. The bullet passed between the first and second toes and through the sole of the long rubber he wore. As a result the bones were fractured and a nasty wound inflicted. After attending to the wound the doctor ordered the injured man to Hospital where he was taken in the ambulance.

While at the police station Simpson spoke fairly rationally and acknowledged that he had shot himself intentionally. He said he belonged to the schr. A. V. Conrad, Capt. Corkum, which is now in port. He stated that he was treated badly on board by the captain and did not want to leave in her again; further alleging that if he was forced to go, that when the vessel would reach her destination there would be one man short, either he or the captain. Eventually Simpson became quite conscious and realized what he had done but was not altogether sorry for it. He confessed to the police that he was about to be married in Halifax during Christmas season; also that his mother was worth a considerable amount of money. Before leaving for Hospital the seaman was very anxious to know if his injuries were very serious.

Cable News.

Special to the Evening Telegram.

LONDON, Dec. 10.

The formal expression of Britain's appreciation of Canadian patriotism, as displayed in her coming gift of three battleships to the Imperial Navy, was postponed to-day by the Commons, until the Dominion Parliament shall have dealt with the proposal. Premier Asquith, however, gave a foretaste of the admiration felt in all cities, except where the "little navy" is favoured. Replying to the expressed desire of Mr. Bonar Law for an opportunity to thank Canada, Mr. Asquith said that the Government fully recognized that it was both the desire and duty of the Commons to give formal and authoritative expression to the universal feeling of warm appreciation and heartfelt gratitude which had been aroused in the Mother Country by the splendid patriotism and liberality displayed by our fellow citizens and fellow subjects overseas. The Dominion Government, however, thinks it would be proper, and it would certainly be only respectful to the Canadian people, to defer taking such action until Mr. Borden's proposals shall have come under consideration and discussion of the Dominion Parliament. Cheers greeted the Premier's remarks.
