A Veritable "Revival."

The people of the British Isles appears to be on the eve of a veritable "revival" of patriotism. Great as has been the response to the call for the colours, it appears that the call for the workshops to provide for those in the trenches will easily eclipse it and we have no doubt that each call will stimulate the other. The advocates of the press-gang for the trenches and the workshop seem to have misunderstood the temper of the times and the people. A century ago the press-gang was in common use to man the navy. Nowadays nobody hears of it, and even the Conscriptors never mention it. The voluntary system has proved and is proving adequate to man the thousand ships of the navy, from the super-dreadnought down to the naval despatch boat, and to man the thousand auxiliary ships which are being used for all kinds of purpose to supplement the regular naval units. Nay, more than this, a perusal of the casualty lists shows that there are many battalions of naval volunteers doing hand work in the Peninsula of Gallipoli. In the list of June 8th, given in the Times, we find the following Battalions:—Howe's Dragoon, Drake's, Nelson, in addition to battalions of Royal Marine Light Infantry from Chatham, Portsmouth, Plymouth and Deal. We venture to believe that before the war is over the talk of conscription for the army and the munition factories will disappear as completely as it has in recruiting for the navy. So far as we can gather volunteers have responded faster than they have been able to be equipped with all the necessary accoutrements of war and especially with machine and other guns and ammunition, such as the experience of the war is proving essential. There has been apparently no shortage in volunteering for the army, the shortage has been in equipment and ammunition. This is not surprising when we consider that the British army has been increased tenfold and that the Navy has been increased very materially, and that the regular factories were not equipped in machinery or workers to supply equipment, guns and ammunition for such a large force, or for such a rate

RECRUITING FOR MUNITION WORKERS OPENED.

LONDON, To-day. The enrolment of war munition volunteers is engaging more attention for the time being than the enlistment of recruits for the army. It is a striking proof of how Lloyd George, Minister of Munitions, succeeded in awakening the country by the paramount necessity of concentrating on the production of shells and other war material. At six o'clock last evening Munitions Work Bureaus were opened at nearly two hundred town halls in various parts of the country, of which fifty-three are in London alone. A large number of other buildings give British workmen the opportunity to get into the factory line and supply the firing line. According to a page advertisement in big type, printed in all newspapers, these bureaus opened in the evening in order that men might enlist for the munitions work without losing time in their present situations. Every skilled worker who is ready to go will be put into his new job with the least possible delay, said Morgan, a well known business man, whom Lloyd George impressed to help mobilize the new army of skilled workmen. There will be no long period of waiting. The need is too great. The loyalty of British workmen is such we know that he is prepared to make sacrifices to help his pals in the firing line. Workmen of Britain were never before the object of so much consideration, both on the firing line and in the factory line. He is regarded as the saviour of his country. The papers, credited with large circulation among the wealthier classes, print big advertisements appealing to employers of skilled workmen to make it easy for them to enroll as munitions workers and easy for them to get their old jobs back in order that the Exchequer McKenna, meantime, is appealing to workmen to subscribe to the new war loan. At the Treasury to-day he received a deputation, representing the principal Trades Unions and other organizations, which exercised a great influence on the Government's savings and urged upon them the necessity of their co-operation to make the loan a success. There is no suggestion of compulsion in the matter, said the Chancellor, we appeal to workmen on the ground of national need. We have tremendous national resources but there is no good in having that asset, unless we use it not only for ourselves but also for our neighbours. If we make the loan a success, we shall win a war triumph. We will do our share towards getting money, was the response of Bowring, an influential labour member of Parliament and enable the poorer classes to participate in the national effort. It is suggested that loan certificates as low as two shillings each be issued. Already it has been arranged for issue of five shilling certificates. The Chancellor promised to consider the smaller sum.

CHORAL SERVICE at C.E. Cathedral.

At 8 o'clock last evening a special choral service was held at the Church of England Cathedral, at which His Lordship, the Canons, Cathedral staff, and clergy of St. Thomas's were present, together with a very large congregation. The service opened with the Procession Cross and Banner, after which the following music was rendered:
Processional Hymn—"All People that on Earth do Dwell."
Psalm 150—Chant; Falls.
Proper Lessons—2 Chron. v. 11; 1 Cor. xiv. 1-3.
Magnificat and Nunc Dimittite: Gerald Gibbons in F.
Anthem—"The Lord is my Shepherd," C. V. Stanford.
Prayer of Chrysostom.
The Grace.
Hymn—"Lo! From the Desert Homes."
Organ Solo—Sonata in F minor, Mendelssohn.
Anthem—"Blessed are they that mourn," A. H. Allen.
Organ Solo—Andante Cantabile, S. S. Wesley.
Anthem—"How lovely is Thy dwelling place," Brahms.
Hymn—"O Praise ye the Lord."
Organ Solo—"Chorale Prelude (Fugue)," "We all believe in one God," Bach.
Organ Solo—Chorale Prelude, "Rockingham," C. H. H. Parry.
Anthem—"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace," S. S. Wesley.
Organ Solo—Imperial March, Elgar.
The organ which is now completed, has been removed from the southern transept to a position over the Choir's stalls, at each side of the Chancel. In this position it was heard to advantage last night under the skillful manipulation of the organist Mr. A. H. Allen. The singing by the special choir was perhaps the finest ever heard in the Cathedral. The collection in aid of the organ fund amounted to a considerable sum. The service closed with Benediction after which the National Anthem was sung.

THE BRITISH MEMORANDUM.

WASHINGTON, To-day. Britain in the memorandum transmitted to the States a few days ago and made public here and London last night recites at length its efforts to minimize the inconvenience to neutral commerce, resulting from the Order in Council against trade with Germany, Austria and Turkey. It is asserted American citizens have no just ground for complaints on account of treatment accorded to their cargoes. The Foreign Office emphasized various special concessions made in favour of the States citizens. Regarding the complaint of undue delay which occurred Prize Court, the memorandum points out that the delay is frequently caused by a request of adjustment of the cases by counsel claimants and quotes from the records of the Prize Court, one specific instance where claimants after pressing for an early hearing, and an early date having been fixed, came into the court and asked for a six weeks adjournment. The memorandum concludes that His Majesty's Government is earnestly desirous of removing all causes of avoidable delay in dealing with American cargoes and vessels which may be detained. And specific

RUSSIANS STILL RETREATING.

LONDON, To-day. The East is still retreating in the East. The French are slowly gaining on the Western front. With the fires set by the retreating Russians still burning, the Austro-Germans are now firmly established at Lemberg and have shown no sign of ceasing their offensive. The battle of Dnieper, South of the city, is not yet over, but according to Berlin General von Linsingen has been able to throw forces across the river, a fact which weakens the French as well as a presence of another Russian defeat. With Galicia all but cleared of Russians, the weight of Austro-German forces released in that theatre must soon be felt somewhere, but opinions are divided as to whether it will be on the Western front or in Poland. The theory is the Germans will launch against Warsaw another terrific attack, similar to their drive in Galicia. This coincides with the belief that troops from Galicia are already journeying Westward. Germany plans to start a fresh campaign in the near future along the Russian coast. Lemberg is celebrating the return of the Austrians. Vienna has not yet ceased her revelry over the re-capture of the city. Petrograd meanwhile continues to depreciate the military importance of the achieving, professing confidence that it will have no bearing on the outcome of the war. The first day of Lloyd George's appeal for munitions workers seems to indicate an adequate number is being enrolled. The whole country is now in the throes of a recruiting campaign, more intense than any previous appeal for fighters for the front.

DESTROYED ROADS BEHIND THEM.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Petrograd says: Although the Russian army is still in contact, the engineers effectively destroyed the roads behind the retreating Russians. The rear guard corps brilliantly handled and gained invaluable time by delaying the Austro-Germans, four miles northwest of Lemberg and also west and south of the city. The new Russian front which was referred to in Wednesday's official communication as the point on which the Russians are retiring is on Galicia territory. Retz says it thinks the Russian army accomplished everything possible with its available resources.

DUNKIRK BOMBARDED.

DUNKIRK, To-day. Thirty-six tons of explosives and metal were fired into Dunkirk yesterday from German positions, some where behind Dixmude. Several civilians were killed and wounded and considerable material damage done, but not a single shell reached the port or any other point of military importance. The impression on the inhabitants differed in no way from that made by preceding bombardments and the first trains out of the city to-day carried no more than the usual number of travelers.

RUSSIAN FIGHTING POWER IMPAIRED.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch to that owing to unimpaired fighting power of the Russian army the Austro-Germans will be unable to transfer either to Warsaw or a western battle fronts the troops now in Galicia. As yet, the correspondent adds, the retirement from Lemberg has not affected the Dnieper front where modifications are likely to occur if the Germans succeed in advancing eastward, thus threatening the Russian rear and flank.

OPPOSITION WITHDRAWN FROM HOUSE.

MELBOURNE, To-day. The Opposition in the House of Representatives to-day withdrew from the House in a body as a protest against the Government's action in proceeding with certain party measures. The Opposition for some time has been demanding a Coalition Government, urging also that Legislative attention should be focussed on war measures.

THE TIMES APPROVES.

LONDON, To-day. The Times' military correspondent, in welcoming the Government's decision to seek power to make national registration, points out that Great Britain's military establishment is now in the neighbourhood of three million, and as the total male population in the United Kingdom between ages of 15 and forty is about eight million, there are still some four million unaccounted for, of whom there are certainly between two and three million available for military service. It may be, says the writer, that we shall need every man that can be recruited. We have been unable to

THE HUNS REPULSED.

PETROGRAD, To-day. The Austria-German forces were repulsed with heavy losses at three points on the Dnieper River by the Russians, according to an official statement dated June 23rd. In Kosmerie district, the Russians carried by assault a strongly fortified height. Enormous losses are said to have been inflicted upon the Germans in the Kosny region. ADVOCATES CONSCRIPTION.

LONDON, To-day. In the course of debate in the Commons last night on the Munitions Bill, Capt. Frederick G. Guest, attached to Sir John French's staff, said he had obtained 72 hours leave of absence to come to London and tell the House his belief in the peril confronting the nation. He said that the nation still failed to grasp the meaning, size and significance of the war. The exercising of the manufacture of munitions, he said, although it brings a sigh of relief to the trenches was only tinkering with the main position of the summer offensive. He spoke of the enormous difficulties under which the Allies were labouring and asked where would they have been but for the indescribable gallantry of French troops in the past six weeks. Capt. Guest said that the nation ought to be organized to the utmost. He said that he had strongly opposed national service before the war, but that what he had seen at the front convinced him that before the war was over men would be wanted in such numbers and munitions in such quantities that no other system could overcome the difficulties. It is by a large margin, he said, that more men had been enrolled than could be usefully employed at present but only for the present. He said he was convinced that if the war was prolonged national service would be a fundamental necessity of the country's safety.
