A story entitled

THE SIEVE,

By M. SULTANA.

Introducing Phillip and Minnie Doe, disfranchised subjects of a free country and irresponsible tools of a gang of "respectable" ruffians who know no law.
An account of two years of "imaginary" persecution of a common workman that eclipses the story of Bill Belliss, Russian Jew, charged with murder, who gained the sympathy and assistance of the whole Christian world when the truth concerning his case became known.
Records and results of attempts to obtain justice.
Identity of and some questions to the "strong arms" with authority, who railroad the victims into the strongholds of the combine.
Unassailable conditions of release from persecution.
Stories of other victims told in person and in whispers for fear of the mighty ogre.

Stranger Than Fiction.
