That a great many of the garments that we have received in the past month were from new customers who had those garments mishandled by other dyers and were sent to us as a last resort before a settlement was made with the owners. We were able to doctor up the majority of those crippled garments to the entire satisfaction of those owners. If you have any sick garments of this character send them to us. If our customers don't accept the garments after we doctor them, don't pay us. No cure no pay. We have received a new shipment of dye, the best on the market. Raglans cleaned and dyed at shortest notice. Outport orders get my personal attention.

Ancient Masonic Emblem.

A Masonic medallion, bearing date 1516, which, though discovered in Ireland some years ago, was unknown to the Masonic authorities until recently, has been handed over to R. W. Wilson, Provincial Grand Secretary of Tyrone and Fermanagh. The medallion was found by the caretaker in the wall of an old country house in Derganville, near Dromore, Co. Tyrone, belonging to Mr. J. J. Nelson. It was covered with soot, and had evidently been hidden in the chimney of the house, which was built in the old wattle-and-clay style, now almost obsolete in Ireland. The members of the Dublin Masonic Lodge of research believe that it is one of the oldest Masonic emblems in Ireland, and the date it bears is 101 years before the establishment of the Grand Lodge of England, the mother Grand Lodge of the world.

TO-NIGHT'S GAME.
At the Shamrock Field to-night the Cubs and Red Lions will once more try conclusions to decide who is to go to the Church of England Garden Party to-morrow. It will be remembered that on Friday night when they attempted to settle the issue, darkness and a good lively dispute forced Fred Chasman to call the game with the score standing 3 to 2 in the Cub's favor. To-night's contest will therefore be a most exciting one, and as the entire proceeds go to augment the Orphanage funds we bespeak a large attendance.

ALL-STARS DEFEAT CANADIANS.
In a spirited contest last night, at St. George's Field, before well filled bleachers, the City All-Stars made the Canadian team bite the dust by a tune of 9 to 6. The game was enjoyed immensely by the fans, and it proved the fact that the "furriners" can blow up at points in the local products. Up to the end of the sixth the score was a tie, but a series of bad throws let four of the City runners in. The Canucks quickly recovered, however, and a series of well placed hits netted them 3 runs. In the final frame the All-Stars poked across 2 more. A great deal of amusement was caused in the sixth when Van Buren hung out a pawn-broker's sign on a "fly" ball. Eddie O'Byrne the visitor's third baseman, and a resolved one of Donnelly's fast curves in the ear but beyond a shower of splinters was not seriously injured. Donnelly and Robinson were the mountaineers and both did excellent work but the support they received at times was atrocious. At the close of the game "Coke" Cahill announced that he was natives and he was to return to a return match to be played within a fortnight. This the fans will receive with pleasure as last night's game was thoroughly enjoyed. Particular features of the game last night was the excellent flies grabbed by DeMers and Gosse, and the one handed stab of Billy Callahan's, of a hot one from Vye's willow.

May Finish Supply.
Supply may be concluded at the House this afternoon, and it is probable that all remaining legislation will be passed under suspended rules, as the Assembly will be adjourned during the present week. The lengthy debate expected on the Budget is not likely to take place, but it is far from probable that there will be no criticism passed on it when the House goes into Committee on Ways and Means.

Road Needs Repairing.
Complaints are frequently being made to the City Commission in regard to the condition of Monkstown Road, which is badly in need of repair. The Commission replies with the words: "This beautiful road." We can assure the civic authorities that whilst the road can no doubt be made beautiful at a very small cost, it certainly does not deserve that adjective in its present state. Here is a chance for the new Commissioners to show that they have the interests of citizens at heart.

To Restore Lost Glory of Delhi.
When the young Australian Commonwealth has undertaken in erecting its next capital city, Canberra, Great Britain is doing for age old India, by building a new seat of Government near Delhi.

In Australia the new city is being carved from a practically untouched wilderness; in India, New Delhi is being built on ground where cities have risen and passed away through the centuries, and about which are situated beautiful and striking monuments of one of the world's most powerful empires.

Legend says that from the dimmest past some sort of a capital city now of a local kingdom, now of a far-flung empire, has existed at Delhi. For a distance of more than twelve miles south of the present city and over an area several miles wide are the remains of old walls and streets, fortifications and temples that dimly trace the sites of these once populous centers. Among the ruins are the most enduring edifices set up by emperors and princes to commemorate victories, to advance religion, or to serve as magnificent palaces of interment.

Though legend makes Delhi a place of importance from earliest times, history takes no account of it until 1059 A.D. when it was the seat of a Hindu ruler. It was captured by Mohammedan invaders from Afghanistan in 1193, and from that time onward was the capital of a Mohammedan Indian empire. Delhi, in the days of the Mohammedan conquest, lay to the south of the present city, and there where the new power was set up, the first Mohammedan ruler, Kutub-ud-din, built in celebration of his conquest a tower of victory, the Kutub Minar, which stands to-day and has been called "the most perfect tower in the world."

Timur the Lame (Tamerlane), the Tartar scourge of Asia, toward the end of the fourteenth century, swooped down from Samarkand in 1398 and sacked Delhi; and in 1526 his lineal descendant, Baber, took the Tartar hordes again into India, captured the city, and founded the Mogul empire, through the fame of which Delhi is best known to Western era. In 1633, Shah Jahan, the Augustus of the Mogul emperors, built the present Delhi to the north of the city and embellished it with mosques and palaces of great beauty.

For the next hundred years Delhi was what Babylon was under Nebuchadnezzar, what Rome was under its greatest Caesars, and what Bagdad was under its most powerful Caliphs. As the Great Mogul emperor sat on his world-famous throne studied with precious stones worth hundreds of millions of dollars, and spoke words that meant law throughout teeming India, it was difficult for those who beheld him to conceive of greater magnificence or power existing anywhere else in the world.

When the latter occasion the new empire announced that this ancient city of emperors would be restored as the capital of India and its 250 million subjects.

Fortune From Wedding Fee.
A minister in a little town of Niles, Mich., was once given a fee to which he attached no value, but later proved to be worth more than 20 million dollars. The fee was in the nature of a deed to forty acres of land, and was in payment for officiating at a wedding ceremony at the home of the Chapin family. The churchman paid no attention to the deed—he did not even record it. A few years later the big Chapin mine on the Menominee range was discovered. This forty acre was right in the heart of it. Twenty million dollars' worth of copper ore has been taken out, and still has rich reserves. A young lawyer heard about the wedding fee, searched the country for the minister, and found him on the Pacific Coast. Suit was brought against the Chapins, and after a considerable wait, settlement was made out of court for $200,000. The lawyer and the minister split even.

MYSTERY OF THE SEA.
Captain Herbert Wallace, master of the United States Shipping Board steamer Craigrowne, 2496 tons, reported to the authorities on arrival at Boston that some days ago, when off the coast of New Jersey, a steamer of about 3500 tons appeared on his starboard bow and completely circled his vessel. After steaming round Captain Wallace's vessel the mystery ship slowed down and stopped her engines. The Craigrowne proceeded unmolested. Among the ships which reached New York on Wednesday was the Munson liner Caliao, for whose safety considerable fear was entertained in the early part of last week, after all attempts to get into wireless communication with her had failed. At the same time another vessel of the same company had reported meeting the mysterious vessel without lights in the was known to be. The ship's strong room contained £1,000,000 in gold. Those who scoffed at the idea of pirates in the North Atlantic ask how it was that the pirates' intelligence service came to overlook such a prize. Despatches from Washington say that the Department of Commerce has asked the Navy to supply seaplanes to patrol the pirate zone. The Department of Justice still holds to the theory that the strange ship or ships, which are continually reported off the New Jersey coast, are being run by Bolshevik crews, who have mutilated and seized the vessel. Mutinies on American ships in the last few weeks have been rather common. The Department believes that the raiders are using forged clearance papers.—Glasgow Herald.
