Thieves and Tramps Put Themselves On Record.

Prose and Poetry Written On London Police Cell Walls.

The room at the London police station where the floating army of tramps occasionally seek shelter reminds one of a dungeon. There are two windows closely barred, through which only a limited amount of light streams. One side is greatly discolored with age and water marks, caused by a leaky roof. The floor is white and clean-just as a bed ought to be, but very hard. The wall on the other side of the room is a veritable autograph album and penpicture gallery. It is literally covered with signs and names, figures and small pictures. The writing of the tramps who have occupied the place indicates that the majority of them have been men of no ordinary education. There seems to be an affinity be-Receipts of wheat during the past three days 309,000 centals, including 264,000 centals American. Receipts of American corn during the past three days, none.

Railway Disaster

Near Charlottesville, Va.-Four Persons Killed and Seventeen Injured.

Two Cars Plunged Over the Embankment and One Went Into the Rivanna River.

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 5.—The Chesapeake and Ohio vestibule express, known as the F. F. V., from Cincinnati to Washington, was wrecked near Oldshadwell, five miles east of this place, yesterday afternoon. Four persons were killed and seventeen injured. The dead are: Henry Burnett, negro porter, Keswick, Va.; an Italian woman named Merara and an infant, believed to be from Cincinnati, and Phelix Mareno, who died after removal to Charlottesville. The accident is believed to have been due to spreading rails. The engine left cars, except the dining car and the Richmond sleeper, were derailed. Two cars plunged end foremost down the steep embankment, and one of them went into the Rivanna River, which at this place skirts the track. The day were badly wrecked. Engineer Duke was hurled from the cab and crushed under the engine, besides being terribly scalded by escaping steam. He was rescued by his fireman and conductor.
