MUSIC AND DRAMA.

DELLA FOX ON TUESDAY.

The attraction at the Grand next Tuesday will be charming Della Fox in the "Little Trooper." The Toronto Globe says: Had last night's audience at the Cirand been interrogated on its way to the heater as to its destination the response f nine of every ten would, without doubt, wwe been to hear Della Fox. No greater goof than this of the popularity of this harming actress could be vouchsafed. When the name of the play is secondary to that of the player it is proof indisputable hat the latter has achieved fame that will ritical audience that greeted Miss Fox and mit me to analyze Mr. George's anser admirable company at the Grand last e vening, when the initial performance of "The Little Trooper," one of the latest by noticing the remarkable answer comic operas, was given in a manner that n wist have satisfied the severest critic present. It was complete in every respect. the singing, both solo and chorus, costuming and staging, being of the highest order. "ALVIN JOSLIN" WEDNESDAY.

Charles L. Davis will make his appeara nce at the Grand Wednesday in his famous c reation of "Alvin Joslin." Everybody y cars ago since "Alvin Joslin" was first roduced. It has been a gold mine for its author and owner ever since, and has surobably been seen by more people than my other American play ever presented. Notwithstanding the fact that the play is till coining money, and is even now in the neight of its popularity, this will be its arewell tour, as Mr. Davis will retire at the conclusion of this season.

A MATTER OF DISCUSSION.

I Er. Kent's Case to be Investigated by the Ottawa Doctors.

OTTAWA, March 9.-It is expected that the question of the marvellous re-overy from Bright's disease of Mr. G. A. Kent, of this city, through the gency of Dodd's Kidney Pills will receive attention at the hands of the medcal society and will probably be fully cliscussed at their next meting. The is tending to overthrow all accepted theories on the subject, and already the 1 fgid scepticism at first expressed is be-ginning to weaken. There seems to be to reason to suppose that any attempt at deception has been practiced, the acts having been openly chronicled in the newspapers and a full investigation having been made by them, besides the well-known probity of Mr. Kent, who as most unhesitatingly ascribed his recovery to the above mentioned meditine, is considered by all unprejudiced persons as ample guarantee for the truth of the statements.

THE OPEN FORUM

MR. ASHPLANT ON HENRY GEORGE.

To the Editor of the "Advertiser": Henry George has "come and gone," and, as I anticipated, has found it convenient to leave unanswered the two pen questions which I submitted to him through the press. That these two questions were not based upon side issues, but upon points that are fundamental in the argument of Henry George on behalf of his pet scheme for the salvation of society from "robber" landlords, will be fully understood only by those who have carefully studied the book "Progress and Poverty," and compared Henry George's assertions (which are as "bare as billiard balls" of proof) with the actual facts exhibited in the agricultural and manufacturing communities of all nations.

From the Opera House platform Mr. George denied that he had ever claimed that the increase of wealth by the increase of productive power went into the pockets of the landlords. (I would ask Bengough, the cartoonist, "to put that in his pipe and smoke it.") In this statement Mr. George shows his position to be similar to that of the small boy who when caught "fibbing" had no alternative but to own up or tell an-other "fib." Any reader can turn to "Progress and Poverty" (upon which book Henry George says he is prepared to stand or fall), and in Book III., chapter viii., devoted expressly to an explan-ation of the statics of the problem, 25c YARD ation of the statics of the Whothing the author says emphatically, "Nothing can be clearer than the proposition that the failure of wages to increase with increasing productive power is due to the increase of rent." Further on, "The facts agree with the inference that the land owner reaps the whole gain." Again in the same chapter, "The increase of productive power does not increase wages, rent swallows up the whole gain, and pauperism accompanies progress.'

Surely Mr. George must have felt Ladies' Very Fine Soft Wool badly cornered by my two open questions when he accepted the alternative of denying the statics of his own theory in preference to owning up that he was caught in a trap that he could not get out of in any other way.

No man should know better than this gentlemanly "economist" the hollowness of his own theory, with its subtle appeal to popular sympathy for the oppressed; and its utter incapacity to explain the extraordinary fact that in England, the United States, and in Canada the owners of land instead of absorbing the wealth of the working classes are themselves being rapidly and certainly absorbed by the manufactur-ing and mercantile monopolists who derive their purchase money by virtue of controlling the products of their em-ployes' labor. This is precisely the re-verse of the phenomena which Henry George so blandly and persistently asserts to exist.

How in the name of common sense can such a fact be accounted for by the bald and unsupported statement that "private property in land" is the cause of private property in land passing from the original owner to the mercantile mort-

Mr. George's theory and his platform utterances are full of contradictions, and the strength of his position today lies in three factors, viz.: 1. The popular ignorance of the economic laws that control the mechanism of commercial exchange in our complex commercial system. 2. The fact that he emphasizes acutely what John Stuart Mill and Herbert Spencer have both preceded him A large assortment of Hand- in emphasizing, viz., that land revenues made Linen Torchon Lace, wide pure and simple ought not to belong to any individual class. 3. A deceptive appeal to the sympathy of the oppresed working classes by a false use of the term wages, and an attempt to teach them that by single tax a simple and sure and certain relief will come to all their woes. In my former letter I said that "historic facts denied" Henry George's theory; also that this author "has not correctly guaged the economics of the social problem." I repeat that, and take upon myself the responsibility of an assertion that on future occasions, which I will arrange. I will undertake to prove that as a political economist offering to the common wageearning classes a remedy for the condi-tions of the unemployed Henry George is a failure. This much presumption will, I fear, cause a gasp of agonized pain to escape such doughty champions of single tax as George J. Bryan, of Toronto, who was impudent enough to interpose between Henry George and myself in the Opera House with the remark that I was "apparently a good talker and nothing else." wers to the various questions put to him by others in the Opera House. I would conclude this epistle, however, given to a question as to whether single tax would not finally result in government ownership of the land. Mr. George replied "No," with some emphasis, explaining that there was a big difference between nationalization of the land and single tax, because in the one case the government would take over the lands and rent them out, and in the other case the government would simply collect the rents for revenue. Mr. George smiled blandly as the audience applauded. What at? Yours respectfully

A Thursday's dispatch from Staynr Never in the political history of North Simcoe has such intense excitment been known as that which prevaled here today in connection with te North Simcoe Corservative Associatio, a large concourse of people being asembled from all parts of the ridir, two special trains being run from Barie. The trouble, according to the statments of the McCarthyites, commenced in this way They claim that a schere been concocted by some of te straight (onservatives to charter a special tran to Stayner from Barre, which the did, to leave at 9:30 a.a. They say hat the straight Conservatives then arranged to advance te hour of the meeting, which had ben called for ! o'clock, so that when ne McCarthyies arrived by the regular train at 1:30 the business would be transacted and the McCarthyites lft in the cold. The latter party, however, got wind of this proceeding, and chrtered a spicial train to leave Barie fifteen min tes in advance of that of their opponints, thus arriving in Stayner in time to defeat the schemes of the other sid, which, according to their deas, they id. Street Railway Question Discussed by No. 1 Committee,

But No Progress Made Towards Its Settlement.

In Canada-Minor Matters Disposed Of.

The electric railway agreement is apparently no nearer a settlement now than it was last Saturday afternoon, when a conference was held between the railway people and the finance committee. The regular session of No. 1 committee was held last evening, and this question was again considered, but nothing material resulted from it. Incidentally, the clause giving the city the option of allowing the company to cross at King or York streets was mentioned. The company asked that option originally, but the city decided to reserve that right to themselves. According to the minutes the clause was neither recommended or disapproved of by the committee.

Mr. Ivey declared himself thus: "I want to say that the concessions by the company were made on the distinct understanding that the bridges clause would go through, and as far as I am concerned the company will not stand by your requests. You might just as well understand it now. I thought I was dealing with business men."

Ald. Jones did not see that the distinct understanding originated with the committee. If any single member interviewed the company's representatives the committee could not be held responsible for what was thus arrived

"Certainly not." said Mr. Ivey. Ald. Jones held the same opinion now that he did all along. It would be better for the company if they built the addition to York street bridge. They could have Victoria bridge and use Clark's bridge for a while. "Well," said Mr. Ivey, "when the matter comes before the council I will state the true facts regarding the understand-

No alterations were made, and the question will be thrashed out in the council. Mr. McCallum said he did not think it would be in the interests of the public to extend the York street bridge. It would compel the railway to cross the sidewalk in two places, which would be dangerous to foot passengers. ROUTES. The question of routes was suddenly terminated by Ald. Dreaney stating (after fifteen minutes' discussion) that any decision of the committee might be pulled to pieces in the council. However, in the quarter of an hour the advisability of altering the routes proposed by the company was considered. By consent both the bridges and routes will be talked over at a special meeting of the council to be held early next week. EXEMPT INDUSTRIES. A report was received from Stephen Grant on the industries exempted from taxation. The Hobbs Hardware Company were employing on an average of 27 hands (exclusive of the travelers and office hands), and manufactured beveled glass, stained glass windows, and silvered glass for mirrors. The company did not manufacture nails, binder twine or hardware, as mentioned in the bylaw. The assessment was $25,000. John Watson only employed 36 hands instead of 40, as called for under the exemption bylaw. The assessment was $11,500. The Globe Tobacco Company, according to the manager, only employed an average of fifteen hands, while their bylaw called for 30. The rest of the exempted industries were complying with the bylaw.

"The Hobbs Hardware Company has the required number of employes," said Ald. J. W. Jones. "Was that in the factory or in the store?" asked Ald. Dreaney. "In the factory," replied the chairman, "I went through and counted 66 men. The report was made in September. 1894, and laid over from time to time. Before any action is taken the assessment commissioner will make another inspection of the three factories. Col. Lewis' communication re exemption of his factory was also brought up and laid over. WANT TO ESTABLISH IN CANADA. The Marion Steam Shovel Company stated that they were considering the erection of a branch in Canada. The weekly pay roll at the company's works in the States amounted to from $8,000 to $20,000. "What inducements can you offer us?" the concern asked.

London's many railway and other advantages will be sent to the company. The publication of the assessment rolls was brought up, and the committee will call for tenders for the printing of them in pamphlet form.

Applications for remission of taxes vere disposed of as follows: Isabella Riddle, Hamilton road, refused; W. P. Irwin, already paid; Mrs. Ward, Pipe Line road, filed; Mrs. Rebecca Yeo, W. C. L. Gill asked that he be paid for copying instruments in connection with the amalgamation of East London. He claimed $324 90. Mr. Haycock Gives Notice of His Attack on Government House.

Mr. Hobbs Heard Frem-Amendment to the Election Law-Public Works Expenditures.

(Special to the "Advertiser.") PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS,

TORONTO, March 8. A very quiet sitting of half an hour's duration took place today, practically nothing being done beyond the introduction of a number of bills and the answering of a few questions.

Among the bills were Mr. Haycock's, assailing the Medical Council's powers, which has been already outlined; a couple of legal bills by the Attorney-General, and a couple of bills by Mr. W. B. Wood-one legislating against the practice of mixing turnip seed, and one Exempt Industries-Want to Establish giving statute labor commissioners the power to collect taxes.

Among the questions answered were one by Mr. Cleland, as to the conflict between the Dominion and the Province as to the fisheries. Sir Oliver Mowat replied that the Government has arranged to have the Supreme Court in a few weeks take up and settle the questions of jurisdiction between the Province and the Dominion with respect to the fisheries and Provincial rights upon the lakes generally. Mr. Haycock has given notice of his attack on Government House. The mo-tion runs as follows: "That in the opinion of this House the maintenance of Government House and the establishment connected therewith at the expense of the Province should upon the expiration of five years from the appointment, or upon the other earlier termination of the term of office of his Honor, the present Lieutenant-Governor, be discontinued.' Mr. Hobbs, who today brought in the city of London's petition for the prohibition of exemptions from taxation for manufactories on the part of municipalities, has given notice of a motion for an order of the House for a return classifying the maintenance expendi-tures of the public institutions of the Province for the year 1893 under various headings, showing (a) expenditure for salaries, wages, etc.; (b) amounts paid s furnished under contracts (c) expenditures for meat supplies under special arrangements, and (d) expenditures for other supplies under different heads, indicating the comparative practicability or impractibility of purchasing same by tender instead of the open market. Mr. Hardy's bill relating to the election law, which was introduced today, contains several interesting particulars. One is the directing of the use of standard time in election matters; another is the declaring that being a postmaster, except for a city, town or incorporated village, or the entering as an executor, administrator or trustee. or the being interested in a contract to carry mails, shall not affect a candidate's eligibility. It also provides that the decision of the Ontario Courts of Appeal shall be final in election matters.

R. A. Gunn, M.D., of New York city. is known to the medical profession and to the public throughout the entire land. He has had an oportunity of seeing people's needs, both as professor of surgery in the United States Medical College and in his extensive practice. In speaking about one of his patients who was afflicted with the most terrible of all modern maladies, Bright's disease of the kidneys, he said:

"A chemical and microscopical examination of the patient's urine revealed quantities of albumen and granular tube casts, confirming Bright's disease. After trying all the other remedies in vain, I directed him to use Warner's Safe Cure. I was greatly surprised to observe a decided improvement within a month. Within four months no tube casts could be found, and only a trace of albumen, and, as he expressed it, he felt perfectly well."

Dr. Gunn's experience only confirms what other physicians and millions of people have known for many years; that for all female troubles, all kidney difficulties, and even Bright's disease itself, there is but one standard, one well known remedy in the world, and that is Warner's Safe Cure. If you are suffering from any symptom, such as pain in the back, occasional nausea, pains in the muscles, bearing-down sensations, or any of those unmistakeable signs which indicate the coming on of this great trouble you should not delay a moment, but be warned in time.
