he returned to Woodstock.

Wm. Morse, of Sarnia, was very painfully injured. His arm is fractured, his chest injured, and his face and head cut, He is resting nicely at the hospital and is doing very well. Frederick E. Baker, of Ridout street south, is quite seriously injured, and his condition is more unsatisfactory than his physicians would hope for. When he was first examined, it was found that his head was dislocated, and his face and leg were badly lac-erated. At the hospital he complained of pains in his back and chest, which

Thomas Coote, who, with his wife, was visiting his sister near Mount Pleasant Cemetery, here, was bruised about the hip. He was able, with a Byrnes, of Sarnia; A. Sinclair, of Kolittle assistance, to walk from the car when the train stopped at South street, near the hospital. He has rested well will be able to leave the hospital almost immediately. James A. Rampiin, of Toronto, was bruised and badly shaken by the shock.

He has done very well since being taken to the hospital, and is on the fair way to complete recovery. Earl Stewart, the 10-year-old child, of Oshkosh, who was supposed to have a broken hip, was not so dangerously injured. The hip was only bruised, and the child is now getting along very nicely and promises to do well. Hobart Stewart, the 6-year-old brother, was less fortunate. He was operated upon at the hospital for a compound fracture of the forearm. Both bones of the forearm were broken. His collarbone was reported, upon the first examination, to be broken, but this was wrong. His mouth, just within the lower lip, was badly torn.

John Bird, of Canal street, Chicago, one of the worst injured at the hospital. His arm was fractured, back injured, his scalp torn and he suffered severe lacerations. He was operated upon. Saturday night his condition was considered very serious, but yesterday he was better.

John J. Cuthbertson, of Port Huron.

is very badly injured, but not dangerously. His upper jaw is fractured, his knee broken and he is very painfully bruised and lacerated. He was operated upon for the fracture of the jaw and has since been resting nicely. J. A. Lamont, of Wyoming, whose leg was fractured, was also badly cut. He is one of the number now doing ery well. James Northey's condition is also very favorable. He suffered severe lacerations of the head, face and shoulder, but has rested well and is n fair shape. Russell Quinn, of Chicago, had been at Oakville, visiting his brother, who was one of the sufferers by the failure of the Oakville bank. Both his hands were badly bruised, his scalp was wounded, and he suffered greatly from shock. He was one who was exposed to cold and suffered from it. His right hand was frozen. James Barnes, of Woodstock, whose wife was killed, was one of the most seriously injured. His condition is causing the gravest anxiety, His leg was injured, but the danger exists in the condition of his back. He does not that his wife was killed. The Commercial Travelers.

Toronto, Dec. 26.—At the annual convention of the Commercial Travelers' Association of Canada, in St. George's Hall, over 200 members were in attendance. The report of the board of directors said among other things that the continued increase in the membership of the association could be accepted as an evidence of the growing prosperity of the mercantile and manufacturing interests of Canada, and "is a matter of much significance, not altogether in its literal meaning and intention, but as suggesting a pride in our country and confidence in its national future." The membership on Nov. 30 was 5,857, being 371 over last year. The financial statement shows a balance to the permanent reserve fund of $22,-076 68. The mortuary benefits were $242,-152. J. C. Soon after, on the outbreak of the Cuban war, he enlisted in the volunteers, and served through the campaign without a scratch, and with considerable distinction. This was his first visit to London in thirteen years. Lynch, the third member of the family to meet death, was one of the two daughters of Thomas and Emma Lynch, of Port Huron, the latter being a daughter of Mrs. Bodley. Mrs. Bodley and her son were dead when taken out of the wreck, but little Lottie lived until Saturday afternoon. GUY DE PENCIER.

Guy de Pencier, of La Crosse, Wash., was born in Carleton County, Ontario, 45 years ago. He went to Washington Territory and resided for twenty years at Colfax, later removing in La Crosse, where he owned a ranch. He left home on Nov. 30, and came east on a visit to his mother and other friends in Toronto, Ottawa, Athens and other places. He left Toronto on Friday night on his way home. His death was only one of two misfortunes which overtook his family on Friday night, as at the hour of his death a large manufactory owned by his relatives in Toronto was being destroyed by fire, with a heavy resulting loss. Mr. De Pencier leaves a wife and three sons, the latter aged respectively 18, 14 and 4 years. He is survived also by his mother, who resides in Toronto, his brother, Rev. A. U. de Pencier, curate of St. James' Cathedral, and his sister, Mrs. (Rev.) Clarke, Ottawa. Rev. Mr. De Pencier left with the remains last night for La Crosse.

MISS TROTTER, OF PETRULEA. Miss Ellen Trotter, aged 31 years, was on her way home to Petrolea after attending the funeral of her father, the late John Trotter, at Kingston, where her widowed mother still lives. Other relatives are her brothers, Thomas, Alex and William, of Kings-Member of a Well-Known London ton, and her sisters, Misses Lizzie and Jane, of Kingston, and Mrs. George Pierce, of Petrolea, with whom she has lived for several years. The funeral dent here for many years. Her son takes place on Tuesday in Petrolea from the residence of her brother-inlaw, George Pierce, reeve of Innis-

GEORGE BURKHOLDER, SARNIA. George Burkholder, of Sarnia, has worked there as a baker for three or four years. His wife and three children, two boys and a girl, reside in Burlington, and he was on his way back to Sarnia after spending Christmas with them. He is survived by his mother, five sisters and three brothers, their names being Mrs. Nichols, of Strathroy; Mrs. Ryerson Morse, of Strathroy; Mrs. Wilmer, London; Mrs. Matthews, of Aylmer; Miss Edith, of Strathroy; Benjamin, of Goderich; James, of Sarnia, and Isaac, of Strathroy. Mr. Burkholder was 32 years of The funeral took place at Burcumseh House, and boarded the train at London, intending to visit a sister of Mrs. Penwarden at Petrolea, before returning to their home. They were evidently preparing to leave the train at Wyoming just a few miles from the scene of the disaster, to make connections for Petrolea. The death of Mrs. Penwarden must have been instantaneous, as a piece of wood had entered the brain, being the only mark of any consequence on her body. Dr. Penwarden must have struggled after the crash. Both the back of his hands were blackened with bruises, evidently from beating the debris covering his body. The body was frozen, and very bad bruises and cuts were found from head to foot. The bodies were identi-fied by Dr. Kippen, of this city. Dr. Penwarden was born at Fingal and was a son of the late George Penwarden, who kept the Penwarden House, St. Thomas. While a resident of the Railroad City he was very popular.Mrs. Penwarden was a Miss McPherson, of Petrolea, and leaves two sisters, Mrs. Reeks, of St. Thomas, and Mrs. Lowrie, Petrolea. Mr. Lucas took the Pacific express for home on Friday night in order to get the family residence comfortably heated for the return of the rest of the family, who were to follow the next day. On hearing of the accident, his son-in-law, Mr. Williams, knowing the seat occupied by Mr. Lucas, was convinced that the unfortunate man had been killed. After waiting vainly for authentic news from train out of Strathroy, he precured the services of an undertaker at that place and drove direct to London.
