EGGS FOR EASTER WERE SCARCE ON THE MARKET

Commission Dealers Bought of it as a plaything it was left near-Large Numbers Early in the Week to Ship Away.

The feature of the local market today was the scarcity of fresh eggs. The supply offered for sale did not commence to satisfy the demand by any means.
The quantity of eggs offered today was the smallest of any Easter market in the last five or six years. The scarcity was caused by the wholesalers buying large quantities earlier in the week and shipping the eggs to outside markets. As a presult the prices today were considerably higher than earlier in the week.
Strictly fresh eggs were quoted at 25c to 25c per doz. on the market, and the demand was brisk even at these prices.
The sales, per crate, were made at 22c to 23c per doz. In the dairy hall the wornen would not sell for less than 28c per doz., and in a few cases 30c was obper doz., and in a few cases 30c was obtained.

Large Butter Supply.

The supply of butter was larger than that of any preceding day this week, and the prices were slightly easier. Roll butter was quoted at 29c and 30c per lb., and crock butter at 28c. In the dairy hall the prevailing price was 32c.

The quantity of maple syrup sold today was larger than that of any other day this season, and the prices ranged from $1.35 to $1.50 per gal. The average price was $1.40. A large number of the buyers purchased syrup, and the sales were brisk. Large Butter Supply.

price was $1 40. A large number of the buyers purchased syrup, and the sales were brisk.

The attendance today was much smaller than had been expected, and in consequence the demand in all lines, with the exception of apples, was brisk. The attendance of buyers was also a disappointment, but as the day progressed the number of buyers increased. Very little hay, straw or grain was offered, and the prices remained firm. Although only a few loads of hay were seld the prices showed a downward teney, and $12 50 was the average price per ton. Oats were scarce and the prices ranged from $1 05 to $1 10 per cwt. The average prices were $1 08 and $1 09 per cwt. Wheat was firm at $5c per bu.

The expectable section of the market was of a fair size, but as the demand was not greater than the supply there was but one change in the prices, were sfghtly firmer than for some days past. The wholesale prices were 90c and $5c per bag, and the retail prices per bag were $1 and $1 05. A smaller supply of cabbages than usual was offered but the prices did not change.

Many Apples Offered.

As usual, a large quantity of apples

Many Apples Offered. As usual, a large quantity of apples was offered, but they were a drug on the market. The supply of apples this year has been exceptionally large, and as a result the prices have been poor from the farmers' standpoint. The price per bbl did not exceed $1 25 while the

A fairly large supply of poultry was offered, but the prices remained the same as prevailed on Thursday.

Dressed hogs were scarce, and the prices today were considerably higher than those of Thursday. The extreme quotations for dressed hogs were $12.50 to $13.25 per cwt.

Collapsed in Cell. Love collapsed in his cell immediately after the jurors returned their verdict. Throughout the four days' trial he had maintained the utmost composure, confidently asserting that his innocence would be sustained, and the adverse verdict completely unmanned him. In a delirious condition he was taken by the constable to the tiny cell in which he had been confined for the past three months, but hardly had he re-entered it before he broke into bitter declamiations.

"I have been convicted wrongfully, he shouted. "I have been tried by the press and found guilty. I am as innocent of the charge as a babe unborn. Is it not serrow enough for me to face the loss of my wife without being confronted with the awful charge of having murdered her?'

AMUSEMENTS

Two large holiday audiences nessed "The Heart Breakers" at the Grand Friday, afternoon and evening. Somewhat above the average of musical plays in plot, and with some pret tunes running through it, "Th Heart Breakers' fully lived up to advance notices. The play deals with a lot of "mushy" young people whose sole aim in life appears to be to kiss or be kissed, and as a result it abounds in love scenes. Several humorous situations are injected and altogether the performance is most entertaining. George Damerel, of "Merry Widow" fame, handled the leading male role, hat of a leader of a club of young blades who determine to break the hearts of several young ladies, in refor their own broken hearts, in manner fully fitting the part. dancing was particularly good. Myrtle Vail, as "The Girl," was a winsome little miss with a clear dainty voice, and charming manner that touched appreciative chords in the hearts of her audience.

The comedy of the piece was mostly supplied by Edward Hume, who as the chimney sweep promoted to an elevator boy and back again to a chimney-sweep, gave as excellent a piece of character work as has been seen at the Grand this season. clever work in the "ghost" scene was the hit of the performance.

"The Heart Breakers" possessed splendid male chorus which was not given half enough to do. The female

[Special to The Advertiser.] Wingham, March 21. - The damage caused by the big windstorm here today will run into many thousands of dollars. The gale first loosened a cortory. Men at once climbed the fire escape and tried to stop the rest of the roof blowing away, but while they were at work a bug gust lifted the roof. They had barely time to get down before the smokestack and walls began to fall, breaking into the office, and completely demolishing it. A piece of the roof fell against James Wilde's house, frightening the family so that all at once went to a neighbor's. Bennet's woodworking factory was padly damaged, and the new Western foundry building also. The roof on the barn of Mr. Wm. Garnett was blown off, part of it falling on the residence of Mr. Swanson, Mrs. Swanson and some of the children were so badly cut by flying glass that a physician was called to dress their wounds.

At Londesboro the spire was blown off the Methodist Church and crashed 60 feet to the ground and was demolished. The bell escaped with only small injury. Many barns all through the district were unroofed. Only a few have their losses covered by wind insurance. The chimney of the Presbyterian Church was blown down and

In addition to possessing some 1,500 square miles of pulp forests, the Abitibi Pulp and Paper Company have water power capable of developing 57,000 horsepower, which is of immense value to the company. Another factor which will make for the economical manu-facture of wood pulp is the fact that their limits are located along the Abitibl Lake, and are traversed by a dozen streams, down which the pulp-wood can be floated to the mill. The T. and N. O. Railway is within six miles of the company's plant, and are building a siding to the mill to facilitate shipping operations. In addition, the National Transcontinental Railway traverses the property from east to west. These advantages will mean much to the company in reducing the cost of manufacturing.

Makes the Bath a Genuine Luxury THE FITNESS OF WATER for washing is determined by its degree of softness. Pure water is generally hard-hard with a harshness that crackles the skin and closes up the pores of the body. You might use cakes of soap and still be unable to wash clean in hard water because soap is only wasted in it. A tablespoonful of Lawrason's Snowflake Bath Powder has a magical effect on hard water.

WRASON

It robs it of its harshness, making it so delightfully soft and velvety that it could not injure the skin of a new-born babe. Lawrason's Snowflake Powder makes the use of soap unnecessary, besides making the bath a refreshing luxury. A teaspoonful in warm water makes an excellent shampoo without soap. Snowflake Bath Powder is slightly perfumed and leaves a pleasing odor on the skin. Sold by Grocers and Druggists at 25c. If your dealer cannot supply you, send us 25c in stamps and we will return trial package-
