They then proceeded to Moore's tinshop, where they broke in, but nothing is missed yet. The next place was the office of Andrew & Howarth, bankers. They bored a hole near the lock, then broke a pane of glass in the door and took off the catch of the lock, ransacked the drawers of the front office, but did not get into the back office, where the safes and a dog are kept. The dog alarmed Mr. Howarth, who sleeps above the office. He came down, but the thieves were gone, having GOSSIP AT THE CAPITAL.

MR. RYKERT OCCUPIES THE ATTEN-TION OF THE HOUSE. Slow Day in the House-An Incident of an Absent-minded Speaker—Adjourned Over St. Patrick's Day.

(Special Despatch to The World.) OTTAWA, March 16 .- In the house of ommons this afternoon the budget debate was resumed by Mr. Rykert, of scrap-book fame. He had hardly uttered a score of words before he had announced his intention of once more utilizing his famous vade even favored protection. He had not con-

Now, why did he begin it,
Come tell the reason why?

The monotony of the proceedings was somewhat enlived by a rather funny incident. The speaker was giving a reception this afternoon and consequently was not in his chair which was filled by Mr. White of Hastings. When 6 o'clock arrived Mr. Rykert stopped but there was no speaker there to leave the chair. There was an awkward pause for several moments, but finally a messenger was despatched for the first commoner. The moment he entered the room, and before he had got near his seat, he declared, amidst much laughter, "It being the satisfied for Mr. Fenton to conduct the case in the interest of the city. The mayor replied in the affinative but nothing was said about money. The mayor was under the opinion that Mr. McWilliams intended to pay Mr. Fenton, but the mayor and asked on what grounds the trial was to be conducted, and had received the reply that the matter was to be probed to the bottom and thoroughly sifted. Mr. McWilliams thought this was evidence that the mayor recognizing Mr.

DR. GRAY FIRED AT. Maniac, Armed to the Teeth, Attempts to As sinate a Celebrated Medical Man.

UTICA, N. Y., March 16.-At 6.30 o-night a man stepped into the doorway of the private office of Dr. John P. Gray, of the state lunatic asylum, and fired at him. Chaplain Gibson, Dr. Blumer, and the Chaplain Gibson, Dr. Blumer, and the doctor's son, were present. The ball to Dr. Gray in the left cheek, passed through the flesh and out on the opposite side of the left cheek. The wound is only in the flesh and none of the bones are broken.

LATER.—Dr. Gray's assassin gave himself up at the jail to-night. His name is Henry Reimshaw and he has been insane for eighteen months. On his person were two navy revolvers, one single barrel revolver and one repeater, one dirk with cleavers and a bottle of chloroform, with about thirty bundles of cartridges. He labored under the delusion that he was an ambassador from Heaven sent by Guiteau and dor from Heaven sent by Guiteau and others to shoot Dr. Gray. [Note.—Dr. Gray was one of the chief expert witnesses for the government in the trial of Guiteau.]

BURNT CONTRACT AGAIN. Thought to be Overstepping Their Powers— Something Interesting for Next Meeting of

The regular meeting of the executive committee was held yesterday afternoon Present: Ald. Boswell (chairman), Ald. Love, Irwin, Taylor, Clark, Blevins, Geo

M. Evans and Woods.

Tenders for the supply of stationery and bookbinding were opened and referred to the city clerk.

The chairman read accounts from Mr. F Fenton for conducting the prosecution in mecum by saying that he intended to con- the burnt contract investigation and from vict the opposition out of their own mouths. Mr. Thomas Bengough for services as steno-He then charged Messrs, Paterson, Charl- grapher during the said investigation : also ton and Ross of inconsistency on the trade a communication from Mr. Craig, late clerk question, quoting extracts from former at the city hall, asking if Mr. McDougall's speeches of theirs to prove that they had account for defending him at the said investigation would be paid by the corporacluded this line of argument up to the 6 | tion. All three accounts amounted to over cluded this line of argument up to the of o'clock recess. He is by no means either a favorable or a pleasing speaker and his manner cannot perhaps be better described than by the following lines, which are a specimen of a number written about him by the boys in the gallery:

His argument is weak,
His voice is but a squeak, on benaif of the city, as he was one of the parties whose conduct was being sifted. He had, therefore, gone to the mayor and explained the case to him and asked if he would be satisfied for Mr. Fenton to con-this afternoon and consequently was not in his chair which was filled by Mr. White of Hastings. When 6 o'clock arrived Mr. Rykert stopped but there was no speaker there to leave the chair. There was an awkward pause for several moments, but finally a messenger was despatched for the first commoner. The moment he entered the room, and before he had got near his seat, he declared, amidst much laughter, "It being 6 o'clock I now leave the chair." Every one gave a sigh of relief when they found that the constitution was safe.

After recess Mr. Rykert continued his the account and then came to the council the same as Mr. Craig and asked if under the circumstances—the public not being satisfied with Mr. McWilliams conducting the case, being implicated in the charges—they would not pay the account the executive committee and the council night consider the matter. As it was Mr. McWilliams had employed Mr. Fenton without the authority of the council, and he was responsible; at all events the city was not.

In connection with the account of Mr.

Thomas Bengough, the board thought that it would have to be raid and the adjector. gave it as his opinion that Judge Mackenzie should certify to the account, and then the council would be responsible. This seemed to satisfy the board.

Mr. Craig's communication like the other two accounts created a great deal of discussion, some members thought that, he being forced into the investigation and not having been convicted of any complicity in the crookedness, the city, as prosecutor, should pay the costs of the case. Alderman Blevins moved that the com-mittee recommend that the accounts be not paid, but the motion was lost.

Alderman Love then moved, so as to bring the matter directly before the council, that the committee recommend the accounts. to be paid. The motion was carried, Alc. Blevins alone dissenting.

While the committee was waiting for the solicitor to arrive and explain the mayor read a letter from Wm. Wainwright, assistant manager of the Grand Trunk, saying that a complimentary excursion had been extended to the boards of trade and correxchanges of Montreal, Quebec and Toronto, to Chicago and return, leaving To-ronto on the 25th inst., and that the general manager desired to extend the invitation to the mayor and corporation of Toronto. The committee then took up the reports of the separate committees, all of which they passed except the extension of Bleeker street, which was deferred for a week to give opportunity for looking into the matter. The committee then adjourned.

A BAD DAY FOR FARMERS. Three Meet with Sudden Deaths-An Esquesing Farmer Killed on the Track-Another Sui cides—Crushed by a Falling Tree.

ACTON, March 16 .- John S. Scott, far mer, lot 24, con. 4, Esquesing, was killed last night. He left Acton in the evening under the influence of liquor, and proceeded down the railway track towards home in company with his son. Half a mile east of the Grand Trunk station, his son, thinkof the Grand Trunk station, his son, think-ing him capable of reaching home safely, left him and went through the fields to a neighbors, where he had occasion to call, and it is supposed Mr. Scott being overcome with the effect of the liquor laid down by the rails, and a western bound train struck him on the head fracturing his skull and littless him instantly. Decessed was 50 willing him instantly. Deceased was 50 years of age, and leaves a wife and family. A young son of Mrs. Josiah Adams was badly scalded last evening by upsetting a basin of boiling water on himself.

AYLMER, March 16.—Geo. Newell of this place, committed suicide by shootin himself through the head. He was found in the hay mough of his barn this evening about 6 o'clock. It is supposed he shot himself about 1 o'clock this morning. He leaves a wife and six children.

Detroit, March 16.—Two weeks ago Mary Jane Dameni aged 36 and Wm. Badgely, eloped from Belleville, Ont. to Muskegon, taking $70 with them. The girl's father, at Muskegon yesterday, caused the arrest of Badgely, who had an examination on the charge of larceny today. The girl is in Grand Rapids. Her father has gone after her. Badgely was soon to marry a Muskegon lady.

The Spruce Lake Wife Murderer. St. John, N. B., March 16.—Tertullus Theall, a tavern-keeper at Spruce lake, St. John's county, who by a course of brutal ill-treatment caused the death of his wife, and who was tried at the November circuit court for murder and convicted of manslaughter, was to-day sentenced to fourteen years' imprisonment with hard labor. An appeal will be made to the Dominion supreme court.

He was prepared when he made the speech for the consequence that might follow. He felt he was speaking for all Russia. He had had a conference with the czar since his return. The whole matter discussed at the conference was the speech. The czar endorsed the speech, every word of it, but never hinted any word should have been left unsaid. The czar assured him he had no desire to have him either recall or explain a word of the speech. Skobeleff intimated that the czar assured him that the only reason he did not care to approve the speech openly was because of the dependence of Russia upon Germany in certain diplomatic violations which he did not at present deem it wise to rupture.

RESCUED FROM FLAMES How a Policeman Saved Two Children from a

At 1:30 this morning Policeman McKee noticed a bright light in Daniel O'Connell's one story frame house at 87 Jarvis street, opposite Lombard. The shricking of children at the same time fell upon his ears and he ran over to the place, only to find it in flames. The officer kicked in the door, when a mass of fire burst out. Through the flames he saw two little children running wildly about in their nightclothes and crying they knew not what. To dash through the fire, pick the little ones
