the leading principles of the Baptist denomination is the entire separation of church and state. Consistently with nomination is the entire separation of church and state. Consistently with this principle, several of the Baptist Churches throughout the province refuse to avail themselves of the exemption accorded churches in the matter of muni-cipal taxation. A notable example of librettist, and F. H. Cowen, the composer, these is the Jarvis-street Baptist Church, was presented Saturday night at which every year pays into the city treasury over $1000 as a sort of conscience. Mme. Albani assumed the role of Edith, sury over $1000 as a sort of conscience money. Last week The Canadian Baptist laid down the doctrine of their de nomination on the question of Sunday observance. The Baptist rightly holds that the question of Sunday observance should be decided upon purely civil grounds, that the religious aspect should be eliminated from it. It favors a strict observance of Sunday, not because it is a religious day, but because the welfare of the State demands that every seventh day should be set apart as as that the question of Sunday observance seventh day should be set apart as a day of universal rest and quiet. This appears to be good doctrine, and we are glad to have an opportunity of discussing it with some of our anti-Sunday car friends, as most of them refuse to argue the question according to the ordinary rules of public discussion, contenting themselves with quoting the Den Commandments as absolutely authoritative when they are unable to answer an argument in any other way. Let us accept "The Canadian Baptist's contention and see what follows. According to The Baptist, the day has no religious significance from a civil and legal standpoint. Everyone is supposed to observe it as a day monic Male Quartet assisted at each and see what follows. According one is supposed to observe it as a day of rest. Viewed in this light, why should the State allow a minister to preach on Sunday, to engage in an occufrom which he derives his livelihood? Why should the State

THE TORONTO WORLD ers be allowed to engage in their usual calling on a day set apart by the universal rest on the part of all work men? If the state allows these individuals to carry on their calling on Sun day, it certainly is making an exception of the day in favor of religion. But this is the very thing our Baptist friends say the state should not do. Every HAMILTON OFFICE:

To this immigration idea should be given the prominence that Confederation and the National Policy had in their turn. The idea should be cast larger than heroic size, and mounted on a colossal pedestal, so that every one can see it. Smaller issues should be retired. ## THE ONWARD MARCH of the John Eaton store—all eyes are on this great store—everybody is wondering what is coming next. Sometimes it's best to let the sleeping dog sleep; for weeks we've been tarred and feathered, rival houses have sought to ruin our credit, those who have been jealous of our wonderful success have gone behind the fence and pitched stones, but of no avail; we have got the sympathy of the millions, we have the encouragement of the thousands in Toronto. Thanks, kind friends, one and all for your noble patronage, but we are aroused, we are indignant. Is it a challenge whether the John Eaton Store shall live or die? The newspapers have said things perhaps in our favor, but we can stand the fight alone—we ask no assistance, we've got a name and we're going to keep it, and there's no power on earth that can or will take it away. We've got a business that cannot be equalled in this broad city; think of it-but a month ago this store was a little quiet clothing store, to-day it is the busiest store in Toronto, going at the rate of $300,000 a year, and we've put the seal to our words-$500,000 worth of goods will be sold before one year. We've been challenged and now we're going to show what we can do.

ENLARGING SALE.

To-day we commence to break all records; there's nothing too much for us to attempt. Here's $50,000 worth of goods-back walls of both stores must come down and then 14,000 square feet of floor space will be at your service, but till then a mighty roar of bargains-we never do anything but we do it big-we're going to make wonderful jumps, therefore we must make wonderful bargains.

Here's 25,000 yards of Dress Goods; tons and tons of goods are being ordered for this magnificent big store for fall, and we'll give these goods away before we carry any over, therefore to-day we make this wonderful offer, 25,000 yards dress goods, hundreds of kinds, qualities run all the way up to 75c, they shall go to day at 25c yard.
