We cull the following from an address delivered by Bishop C. C. McCabe at Chautauqua, Aug. 1st, 1897 :

Thirty-five years ago you could not get into France with your missions, but to-day one hundred and twenty preaching places exist in Paris alone. And I have visited some of them. What a joy to visit the McCall Missions in the city of Paris, and realize that they have all been planted within the last few years; to go from mission to mission and hear them sing in French, "Rock of Ages, cleft for me," and "Jesus, Lover of my soul." Thousands of men and women attend these meetings every night. They were founded, as you well know, by a Scotch Presbyterian, but they have had an everlasting protracted meeting there ever since they were founded.
