The Archives of Diagnosis is a Quarterly Journal devoted to the study of diagnosis and prognosis, containing original articles and abstracts from current medical literature. The Journal has recently established a Department of Roentgen Ray Diagnosis, under the Editorship of I. Seth Hirsch, M.D., Professor of Roentgenology, Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital, and Director, Roentgen Laboratory, Bellevue Hospital, New York.

The British Journal of Surgery includes only the best British surgical work of the day. It contains original articles, comments, reviews, and criticisms. It is a medium through which the foremost British Surgeons of our time can make their voices intelligently heard.
