BOOK OF PRAISE BEFORE PRESBYTERY

Only a Few of the Old Hymns Have Been Retained.

SCOTTISH VERSION

Resignation of Rev. S. Graebs Under Discussion-Held Over.

"Where are the omissions" was the paradoxical question raised at the meeting of the Toronto Presbytery at St. James' Square Church yesterday when the abstract copies of the new Book of Praise were distributed. The abstract contains 66 pages of preface, index, psalms and hymns.

The convener of the general assembly's committee on church praise, the Rev. J. Dey and Rev. Alex. McMillan secretary, in the preface, state that the psalms are largely the old Scottish version "retouched where necessary," with 31 other psalms added, which are printed in the abstracts, also 145 new hymns.

The convener and secretary state that in the selection of tunes the aim has been "simple, attractive, clear melody."

The index is elaborate and classified into 10 divisions with subdivisions. That for Christian life includes the new subdivisions of "brotherhood and service." The number of hymns for the young is increased, with special attention given to hymns for "little children."

Hold Weekly Meetings.

The abstract was referred to a special committee with Rev. R. C. Tibb convener, which will hold weekly meetings to go carefully over the additions and tunes. The committee will also ask for the numbers of the hymns in the present book of praise which are omitted. The new hymnal contains 635 psalms and hymns. Most of the time of the presbytery was taken up by addresses from representatives of various boards and committees of High Park Presbyterian Church in support of a petition against the acceptance of Rev. S. C. Graeb's resignation. The speakers were: Matt Parkinson, John M. Grant, J. Leeming, G. Winchester, Dr. Thornton and J. Bartman. The speakers intimated that the membership agitating for Rev. Mr. Graeb's resignation was more active than numerous. The special committee appointed in December to report on the resignation was instructed to hold snother meeting with the congregation and report on the merits of the case at the next meeting. Rev. J. A. Turnbull was appointed convener of the committee in place of Rev. Dr. MacGillivray, who will be out of the otty. The committee will report to a special meeting of the presbytery on January 26.

Mayor Hocken was asked to make a few remarks regarding city affairs as he had found them. The outstanding and pleasing fact that he brought out was that the city treasurer had been enabled early last year to collect over $2,100,000 in back taxes.
