

The Second Standing of Candidates in Trip to London Contest Will be Announced in The World Monday Morning Next.

French Journalist's Sketches of London

Those who have been nominated for the Trip to London are losing no opportunities for the getting of votes. One enterprising candidate, then the columns of The Durham Chronicle, makes the following bid for support:

"Mrs. Robert Doss (nee Annie Southland) requests all her friends and acquaintances to get Toronto World, cut out coupon and vote for her in contest on trip to old country, sending coupons with her name on them to either Mrs. Matilda Sutherland, Durham, Ontario, or Mrs. Robt. Doss, 632 Church-street, Toronto, or Toronto World Office."

Some years ago a French journalist, M. Gabriel Mouy, "Gil Blas" of The Paris Figaro—contributed to that journal a series of sketches of London life and art. From them we adapt a few vivid pictures of the great metropolis as they impressed themselves upon a quick-witted Frenchman. Writing of the harbor he says:

"When you have roved up the Thames to Greenwich and crossed the Tower Bridge you view London in its true aspect of seaport town. Suddenly the bridge with an air of quiet victory, raises its two enormous towers over the threshold of the metropolis, in the manner of a triumphal arch."

"Business in the river is displayed by the incessant passage and halting of barges along the black wharves, which, as they dip into the water below, bear with them the riches of the whole world. Crowds of barges, almost a nation in themselves, add to the rhythmic movement of the scene as they work at unloading the immense vessels. Yonder behind endless lines of masts which look like a forest in winter, a fine aerial species of vegetation that blooms in all climates of the universe. There is whistling on the towing boats as they come rushing along at full speed, and vessels with big red sails descend to the sea. An immense steamer advances majestically; it seems as high as a five-storied house and its mast is lost among the masts. Suddenly the river widens. The thick fumes of the atmosphere prevent one seeing the other bank, which gives the river the appearance of a large lake. "Steam, Raid and Speed," Turner's masterpiece, passes before my eye, while marvelous effects of scenery succeed one another like dissolving views across the sky."

Just now it was covered with melting cream, along which the sun flowed in yellow streaks, scattering reflections of stained snow. Now across an opening it gleams with the splendor of some high altar in a Jesuit chapel. Waves of light fall in golden showers. The clouds break up into masses of downy white, which hang in fringes of glory. Then without a word of warning it vanishes, leaving every where dulness and darkness like the dawn of a rainy day. A veil of sorrow falls and clothes the surrounding parts in sombre hue. One moves about in a sort of visible darkness, thick with bitter fog and damp air. The songs of the mermaids are hushed, all sound is buried in the wading of the atmosphere."

Italian musicians, dressed like hotel officials in gold laced caps and blue liveries, sing their "can-can," Santa Lucia and Addio Mia Belle Napoli to the accompaniment of harp, flute, violin, mandolin and guitar. Oh for the irony of the contrast! A little power girl in Salvation bonnet, her lean shoulders covered by an old flower patterned shawl, offers for sale the buttonholes pinned to her moss lined basket."

Again the sun appears, bursting thru the mists. The silencing water looks like sheets of molten lead streaked with gold. An enchanted city rises from the waves; it is all color and song in this resurrection of light. An immense marble palace with overhanging domes seems to exist in an empty space 'twixt earth and sky and water. A voice cries "Greenwich!" and we land. The spell is broken. The dark walls of the Hospital rise before us and we stand and watch the departing passengers who in the heavy afternoon fog look like shadows."

Here is M. Mouy's picture of a London tea room: "This is the New Bond-street tea room. See, how quaintly the walls are draped with gold and shotgreen hangings of aesthetic tint, and how the little curtained recesses with their flowing plants seem to court the solitary dramer or romantic lover. The soft carpets re-echo no footsteps, the small tables are covered with lace tablecloths, the couches with downy cushions and draped canopy invite you to repose. And over all hangs a soft subdued light that might be the rays of a young spring sun shining thru odorous mists, while fragrant tea sends forth tiny clouds of stimulating steam."

Of another kind is this little cameo of London life: The modest little church of St. John the Poor stands amidst the wealth / property of Old Broad-street, close to Winchester House, the bank and the exchange. The immense business centre seems with an intense and overwhelming activity. From morn till eve millions and millions of human beings are ever on the move. Life is consumed by a never a struggle, a mad race for money. It is as if the little church, with the mere contrast of its name, were there to remind the busy crowds of the utter poverty of worldly wealth.

ROSES INSTEAD OF BULLETS

Strike Breakers at Frisco Are Showered With Flowers.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—Roses and carnations, instead of brickbats and cobblestones, were features of the trips of two cars of the United Railroad, manned by twenty strike-breakers, from the barns to-day. The cars covered three or four miles thru the business and residence streets of the western addition. The courage of the unarmed strike-breakers in operating the cars moved women to stand on doorsteps or lean from windows and wave handkerchiefs, clap their hands, cheer and throw kisses to them. On their return trip a young girl ran out of a florist's shop and tossed carnations upon the platform of one of the police-protected cars. The cars were loaded with young women brought carnations and roses from the shop and offered them to the men.

City Treasurer Accused.

SYRACUSE, May 10.—The city treasurer has discovered a shortage in the accounts of the office during the term of E. F. Allan as treasurer. It is impossible to tell, until experts report, how large the shortage is. In one case Mayor Allan C. Forbes is owed $1900 since 1894. The mayor has Allan's receipt for the money.

Express Companies Get Even.

MONTREAL, May 10.—Interests identified with the American Express Company are forming a bank with a capital of $5,000,000, that will have branch offices in Montreal and Toronto, with the object of competing with the Canadian banks in handling foreign exchange. The express companies at present handle most of this class of business.

FIERCER PAVEMENT.

Automobilist Breaks $50 Tire in Hole on East Queen-Street.

A $4000 automobile was damaged in a hole in the pavement on East Queen-street, west of the Woodbine, yesterday.

This particular stretch of roadway would cause the Podunk council to blush with shame. There are holes at least 18 inches deep, and he an expert "chauff" who can navigate an auto over the bad spots without injury to the car. In this particular case $50 damage was done to a tire.

KIDNEY DISEASE COMES ON QUIETLY

Perhaps no other organs work harder than the kidneys to preserve the general health of the body and most people are troubled with some form of Kidney Complaint, but do not suspect it. It may have been the system for some time. There may have been backaches, swelling of the feet and ankles, disturbances of the urinary organs, such as, brick dust deposit in the urine, highly colored, scanty or cloudy urine, bladder pains, frequent or suppressed urination, burning sensation when urinating, etc. Do not neglect any of these symptoms, for, if neglected they will eventually lead to Bright's Disease, Dropsy and Diabetes.

On the first sign of anything wrong

Doan's Kidney Pills SHOULD BE TAKEN.

They go to the seat of trouble, strengthen the kidneys and help them to filter the blood properly and flush off all impurities which cause kidney trouble. Mr. Thomas Petty, Massy, Ont., writes: "After I arrived in Canada from New Zealand, a couple of years ago, I suffered very much from kidney trouble. I tried several remedies, but they did me no good. Finally my back became so lame I could scarcely work. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking them I felt like a new man."

Price 60 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.
