London, Ont., Tuesday, August 14. THE STOCKHOLM CON-FERENCE.

O any sensible Englishman the Stockholm conference has the appearance of nothing but a German trap. The German Socialists who will attend are either representatives of a very small and helpless minority, utterly despised in Central Europe as futile fanatics or they stand for the great mass of German workmen, who are pretty well satisfied with the Prussian ambition on the whole, or at any rate thoroughly imbued by schooling and preaching with the Prussian arrogance and brutality towards non-Germans They may pose as sheep and bleat from flannel-mouths high sentiments of brotherhood, but German labor is a sheep that has been suckled through ambhood at the dugs of the Prussian wolf. And not only have these Teuton Socialists acquired the temper of the drillmaster, but behind them also are the more or less visible strings by which they are pulled from Berlin. One excuse advanced by ex-Minister Henderson for encouraging British Labor to represent itself at Stockholm was that the Russian delegates might be less exposed to the cunning malice of their German "Kamerads," if wide-awake and patriotic Britons should be Essen, Germany, gave an impresof the enemy.

British workingmen cannot afford for scheme seriously. For one thing, the importance. Russian anarchists will seek to act in-Russian anarchists will seek to act, independently of the Government at Petrograd, while not one Briton in a thousand would think it politic to take from Parliament's practiced hands the negotiation of peace. The British do not run after chimeras, nor are they given to more hurry, less speed. The very location of the Conference, again, is spiriter. Sweden has been all along.

At Mannheim, in Baden, Philin is sinister. Sweden has been all along no friend of the Entente and democracy.

Toronto Saturday Night continues its strong demands for the resignation of Sir Joseph Flaveile. It has gone deeply into the history of the William Davies Company, and recently printed facts from court records to show the enormous profits of this business long before the war, when prices were much below the present quoted values.

The Saturday Night article is as follows:

"An interesting sidelight on the past profits of the Wm. Davies Company is obtainable owing to there being court records. Some years ago there was a friendly action-at-law brought by the executors of the estate of Mrs. Wm. Davies against several interested parties.

As a result it was shown that the capital stock of the company was then valued at from three to four hundred dollars per share (partice) at 1900 and that the dividends over a period being a little over 50 per cent, the average over the entire period being a little over 50 per cent, which seems enough under the circumstances.

Peter was sitting beside Frieda and had taken the large pan of green peas from her lap. "Is that why—why you haven't been willing to kiss me goodnight?" he asked. The girl in the pinafore shook her head up and down in the affirmative.

Peter had raised the fair head from his arm. If the little girl in the woods he had first seen had seemed exquisite, now that she had suddenly grown to be a little woman, she was a hundred times more so.
