Falling Prices No Calamity

Why a lower margin of profits strengthens, rather than weakens, the fundamental soundness of the Canadian pulp and paper industry is clearly shown in the current edition of the Investment Items.

In the leading role, went a two-fold honor. First, his work as Gerald Moore forth his versatility, for it was the first time he ever essayed this type of lead.

Secondly, it was the first time he ever appeared as a director and the success achieved won for him hearty congratulations.

He gives promise of winning many laurels in this field.

William O'Connor, as Chancery Algonquin Fairhaven, was a general favorite.

He is one of the cleverest and most unassuming actors in the city. His experience in a theatrical troupe overseas when he was a member of the "Killies" battalion, his standing him in good stead, and his clever interpretation of this difficult role won for him rounds of well-merited applause.

Gerald Doherty as Terry O'Neill made his initial appearance, and not only won the heart of his fair colony, but also the hearts of the audience. To him fell the major portion of the comedy, and with a rich Irish brogue and free and easy manner he was a general favorite.

Frederick W. Dever and Arthur A. Cottle had roles which called for clever acting and they essayed them in a highly commendable manner. Their lines did not excite the sympathy of the audience, but their acting was appreciated.

Maurice McJunkin and Leo McGovern had minor roles which they handled in a praiseworthy manner.

Miss Emma G. Conlogue in the leading feminine role made a decided hit. Her acting was a real treat and she added new laurels to those already won on the amateur stage.

Miss Isabelle A. Gormley gave her usual clever portrayal of a character role. She is a talented actress and her ability is well known to St. John audiences.

Miss Mary L. Sharkey as an Irish colleen made a popular hit. Her acting was consistent and combined with her pretty stage appearance, won for her the admiration of all present.

Miss Marion Kier gave a clever portrayal of Kathleen. It is not the fact that this clever child actress won laurels in amateur productions.

The acts pleasing specialties were rendered by Miss Florence Kierman, T. Maunsel O'Neill and the Moore brothers quartette. Mrs. Mae Quiflan and Miss Marion Hogan acted as accompanists.

QUICK GLANCE AT THE MARKETS

(Hardware and Metal) March 12

Chief features in the price changes this week are the further declines in cotton goods such as cash cord, cotton rope, etc., and new lower quotations on bright wire goods.

Manila wrapping paper and kraft have also been reduced in price again. Other declines include files and horse rasps, poultry netting staples, steam cylinder and black oils, oakum and solder. Some lower quotations are made on bar iron and mining tool steel. Quotations have been revised on some lines of pipe fittings, and nipples show a decline. New season's prices have been issued on Paris green and show a small reduction from last year's quotations. Arsenate of lead is slightly higher than last season. Turpentine and linseed oil prices are unchanged from last week and the demand shows improvement.

Pipe is held at changes noted last week, and there is no quotable change on black or galvanized sheets or plates.

Ingot metals remain dull, and tin shows a further decline, but lead and spelter are exhibiting a firmer tone. The situation in Europe may have some influence, it is thought on U. S. metals.

Little change is reported in U. S. steel prices during the past week and quotations on bars, shapes, plates and sheets remain practically the same as of the previous week. The chief feature is a cut on wire nails. This is interesting as the regular or Corporation price on these has been regarded as low compared to other steel commodities.

A gradual improvement in business is reported by wholesalers. Shipments of spring goods are going forward, and orders for paint, varnish, and house cleaning needs are increasing in number and volume.

GROCERY REPORTS

The following comment on the market situation as regards food stuffs appeared in Canadian Grocer last week—

During the week under review several heavy transactions in raw sugars have transpired, covering full duty paying sugars such as San Domingos at 45 cents c. l. f. New York, including 2,000

Some 5,000 bags of Porto Rico for Canada at 49-16 cents c. l. f. Several large contracts in Cuba at 42-44 cents c. l. f. New York. A parcel of Demerara sugar in store in New York changed hands at 5-7 cents duty paid ex store

Some 5,000 bags of Porto Rico for March shipment were sold. Cuban production to the end of February is 387,000 tons, which is 390,000 tons less than the same period last year.

Canadian refined sugar is holding firm at unchanged prices. One refinery is reported behind in their shipments, which is due to running on reduced capacity for some time past.

Unmilled vegetables have a stronger tone and prices have been advanced on many lines. Jams are again reduced in price, and in Toronto there appears to be a lot of price cutting among wholesalers on this line.
