MONTREAL MAN SUICIDES

MONTREAL, April 17—The body of william S. Hartley, of Montreal, was found in Westmount park this afternoon with a freshly-discharged revolver lying nearby. It was evident that the young man had committed suicide. A letter was found on Hartley's body addressed to a friend of which it read: "When you have read this I shall have gone into the dark. I can see no outlet from this awful step. My cheques on the bank of life are all in and dishonored. The horrible thing is I cannot save others from the consequences of my own selfish wrongdoing. If I had not lost my position in Gault Bros., I could have married and faced life."

The deceased was well known in

CIVIC CONTRACTS

AND THE TAX-PAYER

To the Editor: Sir-I noticed a letter in The Sun of the 14th inst. signed Workman, com-Sir—I noticed a letter in The Sun of the 14th inst, signed Workman, complaining of the way our Common Council gives out the city printing to a man who pays no taxes and employs girls in his office. City work should be given to those who help to pay the bills. This is not the only contract given in the same way. Some of the officials in the City Hall smelt a rat, sewer gas or something of that kind and complained of bad gas. The council decided to have electric lights and the work was given to a person who pays neither license nor taxes. Right under the nose of the assessors two men were doing city work who were not properly qualified. Any person coming into our city for work are pounced upon for licenses before they get a chance to earn it, and right in our city hall are men working, getting good pay, who are not bothered at all. This is not a fair way for our city fathers to do business, as they are elected to protect our merchants and workmen. Thanking you Mr. Editor for this space I am Yours Truly,
