It had been a well-swept street then, lined with rows of three-story brick houses, and here and there a "prownstone front' to break it monotony. Now the homes had given my bears and six story tenemonia. My beans and six story tenemonia

d. The features were well cut and regular, the eyes were calm and unaraid, and of a deep, tender blue that moved Pengreave strangely.

"Where do you live?" he demanded. The girl smiled. "I don't live here," she explained. "I am a visitor from the Helping Hand Society."

Pengreave was puzzled.
"They need charity here?" he demanded. 'I thought that was only with the very poor."
"These are the very poor," she said simply. "Don't you know?"
Pengreave shook his head in bewilderment. Twenty years he had lived there, and poverty had come to be his neighbor, but he did not know it.
"Had I known I should have given
