ONE HOUR AHEAD OF

Details Trickling in Show That British Performed Prodigies of Valor in Famous Retreat.

London, Sept. 12—The Rouen corre-pondent of the Daily Mail sends a pic-at Thuin, a town in Belgium near Charlerol, and the subsequent retreat to Compiegne. The story follows:

"On Monday morning, Aug. 24, after chafing at the long delay, the second British Cavalry Brigade let loose at the enemy's guns. The 9th Lancers went into action singing and shouting like school boys.

"For a time all seemed well, few saddles were emptied, and the leaders had charged almost within reach of the enemy's guns when suddenly the Germans opened a murderous fire from at least twenty concealed machine guns at a range of 150 yards.

"The result was shattering, and the Lancers caught the full force of the storm. Vicomte Vauvineaux, a French cavalry officer who rode with the British as interpreter, was killed. Captain Letourcy, who was the French master of a school in Devon, was riding by the side of Vauvineaux and had a narrow escape, as his horse was shot from under him. Other officers also fell.

Rode Right Into Trap,

"While the bulk of the brigade swerved to the right the others held on and rode full tilt into wire entanglements buried in the grass thirty yards in front of the machine guns and were made prisoners. Three regiments of the best cavalry in the British army went into the charge and suffered severely. The 18th Hussars and the 4th Dragoons also suffered but not to the same extent.

"It was a wonderful retreat. Daily the cavalry begged to be allowed to go for the enemy in force to recover lost ground, but only once were they per-mitted to taste that joy at the village of Lansigny, which they passed and re-passed three times.

Germans Gained Nothing.

Germans Gained Nothing.

"The Germans made repeated efforts, which were always foiled, to capture the retreating transport. It had, however, many narrow escapes. At one point it escaped by a furious gallop which enabled the wagons to cross a bridge less than one hour ahead of the enemy. The engineers had mined the bridge and were waiting to blow it up. They sent a hurry call to the transport and the latter responded with alacrity. The bridge was hlown up just in time to separate the two forces.

"At Complegne the brigade for the first time saw and welcomed their French brothers in arms."

NEW VERSES OF NATIONAL ANTHEM

O God! before Thee now, With humble faith we bow, And grateful heart. Grant that until the last, As in its glorious past, This British Empire vast Play well its part:

Not with a selfish aim,
Not to desire acclaim
Throughout the world.
But that its ensign bright
May ever, in Thy sight,
Speak freedom, truth and right
Where'er unfurled.

These are two verses from what has well been called a striking and beautiful new version of the National Anthem which the Hon. W. S. Fielding, ex-Canadian Minister of Finance, has sent to the London Daily Chronicle for publication

The Path to St. Helena. (Norfolk Virginian-Pilot).

(Norfolk Virginian-Pilot).

History is experience teaching by example. In 1818, When Napoleon, carried away with a sense of invincibility, challenged the united might of Europe, he began by smashing Prussia and Austria at Lutzen and Bautzen, and driving back from the front of Dresden into the back from the front of Dresden is wilds of Bohemia the assembled of those two powers reinfonced by the street of the second that and Sweden. But in twelve from the day when he achieved and greatest of these triumphs in turn hurled across the Elba Rhine and saw his empire crumb dust. Herein lies a lesson on why present War Lord of Europe motioned disquieting doubts of the pence of the initial successes he hagainst a conclave of enemies whist begun to put forth their side of the laughs best who laughs last.

In 1849, the fugitive King of Prussia returned to Berlin, Shortly after he had entered the capital, he consulted a soothsayer and the following interesting prediction in regard to the Teutonic empire resulted:

Emperor—When shall I become Emperor of Germany.

Soothsayer—1849 plus 1 plus 8 plus 4 plus 9 equal 1871. Verified. Epmeror—How long shall I reign?

Soothsayer—1871 plus 1 plus 8 plus 7 plus 1 equal 1888. Verified. Emperor—How long shall the empire last.

Soothsayer—1888 plus 1 plus 8 plus 8 plus 8 equal 1913.

And will this last prediction, that 1913 will be the last year of the German empire be verified?

Ottawa, Sept. 13—The trade and commerce department has issued a comprehensive analysis of the trade of Brazil and Argentina, with a view to showing opportunities which Canada now has of capturing some of the trade of which Germany has been deprived as a result of the war.

Germany has been deprived as a result of the war.

Germany's total export trade to Argentina in 1912 amounted to nearly $62,000,000, as compared with about $118,000,000 from Great Britain, and about $2,250,000 from Canada.

Brazil bought from Germany in 1912 goods to the value of $160,000,000, as compared with $235,000,000 from Great Britain and $8,400,000 from Canada.

The openings for Canada in securing markets in Argentina and Brazil to replace German goods are many. They include manufactured timber, canned goods, paper and woodpulp, manufactures of iron and steel, agricultural machinery, cement, furniture and preserved fish.

EXHIBITION OVER WITH SMALL LOSS TO ASSOCIATION

The exhibition closed Saturday night after a week of almost unexpected success. The attendance throughout was beyond anticipations, and the results which have been obtained are considered most satisfactory by the officials in charge. The attendance on Saturday was not very great, but the interest was caustained until the gates closed at 10 o'clock. Merchants and business houses who arranged booths in the buildings are well satisfied and those who had erected stands to do business report a profitable week. The men on the Pike did a rushing business, and taking each individual branch of the fair, success is noted.

On Saturday afternoon—children's day—hundreds of kiddies thronged the grounds. On the Pike most of the attractions were reduced to half-price and the women, always out for bargains, were on hand to take advantage of the children's privilege. The usual programme of free attractions in front of the grand stand was carried out. In addition, fireworks were run off about 3 o'clock, but they consisted for the most, part of bombs which exploded in the air. The little kiddies were all in ecstacy and sat in breathless suspense as each rocket was hurled into the air.

Small Loss to Directors.

Small Loss to Directors. Although the exhibition association expects a small loss, a great deal of money has been brought into the city by the fair and business men about town have profited by it, so that the trifling amount that is dropped cannot be compared with the henefits that have been reased.
