TREASURE.

The flowers I planted in the flush of spring
Have budded, bloomed and withered long ago;
The grain my lavish fingers used to throw,
Long since was reaped for others' garnering;
Yet I am rich amid my nature dearth;
My gold is where the rainbow touches earth.

My wealth is molten of full many an ore,
Dug from the sacred caverns of the past;
Stored where the Present's quiet light is cast;
Piled in the Promise land that lies before.
All blent together, all of priceless worth,
All hid just where the rainbow touches earth.

And memory, faith and Hope its guardians are,
As holding Love's strong hand I make my way,
Knowing I near a little every day
The one sure goal where, passing o'er the bar,
I find, in all the glow of second birth,
My treasure, where the rainbow touches earth.
