ONCE UPON A TIME

An Irishman owned a very uncontrollable horse, which had the distinction of being able to run away more times in a day than most horses would think of doing in a lifetime.

Pat, however, was very fond of his high-spirited steed, and gave it the very best of care and attention. He would talk of his faithful old Rumor as though he were a very dear friend. "Rumor" was the horse's name. One day, while working on a corporation job, the horse began to show signs of taking a jaunt of his own accord. Pat knew too well what was about to take place, so, jumping to the reins, he soon pulled him back with a "Whoa, Rumor!" so emphatic that it not only brought the horse to a more settled state of mind, but gave his brother laborers somewhat of a start. One of them being a new man on the job, and of a rather inquisitive turn of mind, asked Pat what was the matter, and why he called his horse "Rumor"?

"Begorra," says Pat, "it's because he is just loike some women's gossip, when it wanst gets loose you can't tell for the loife of yez where it's going to shtop."

Now, our circulation is just like Pat's horse. There is a rumor out to the effect that we will refund the money to any dissatisfied new subscriber to THE FARMER'S ADVOCATE AND HOME MAGAZINE at the end of the year.

There are so many who are evidently anxious to test our offer that we are led to believe the rumor is spreading rapidly, and that we will be obliged to give full value to thousands of new subscribers this year, or refund the money. However, we can now quite safely predict what the result will be, and that is,
