FOREIGN MISSIONS

ONE IN A THOUSAND

Last week the director of the Pro-pagation of the Faith in Philadelphia publicly acknowledged a gift of $500 received through the mails from a rich woman for the Foreign Missions. He took coasion to remark that thus far well-to-do Catholics with but one or two exceptions had remained deaf to every appeal for aid in the great work of spreading the kingdom of Christ among the heathen; and that it is, as he had repeatedly observed, the ordinary hardworking Catholics who support the Foreign Missions of the Church just as it is the ordinary hard working Catholics who support every other undertaking of the Church. It may be information for Catholics of the Middle West and far West to learn that these ordinary hardworking Catholics of Philadelphia are now giving upwards of $51,-Missions, although only four years have elapsed since a public office was opened there and systematic was opened there and systematic missionary propaganda begun. The poor, God's nobles, are to be envied; and the rich, God's outcasts, are to be pitied, especially those of them who never reflect that almsgiving is one of the things needed to get them through the needle's eye.

POPE PIUS X. AND THE SODALITY OF PETER CLAVER

In one of the many writings that have flowed from her facile pen Countess Ledochowska has given a graphic description of the late Pontiff's connection with the work of the African Missions. "One morning," she writes, "a letter came to me from a prelate who was a perfect stranger. It was the Patriarch of Venice, His minence Cardinal Sarto who wrote to tell me he had heard our Sodality spoken of; that that feature of the work whereby even the poorest of the poor were enabled to help the Missions pleased him greatly; and that he would be only too glad to see the work introduced in his diocess. He insisted that I come to see him about this as soon as I had occasion to pass near Venice.

"To respond to such a pressing invitation promptly and in person was not a task I found difficult. His Eminence received me with great kindness, approved the general statutes of our institute and contributed not a little to spread the Echo

"Elected Pope he proved a staunch friend and devoted father to the Sodality. In 1904 he designed to address a magnificent brief to our humble society wherein he proclaimed St. Peter Claver its patron and proector, while entrusting its members to the maternal watchfulness of Mary, Mother of Good Counsel." fidence he had in this noble woman when he accorded in an almost unprecedented manner full and final approbation to her work.

Address subscriptions for the "Echo from Africa" (50 cents a year), canstamps of rare denomination (3, 4, 6, 7, 8 etc.), tinfoil, old jewelery and other donations to: American Headquarters of the Sodality of St. Peter Claver for the African Missions, Fullerton Bldg., 7th & Pine Streets

DEATH OF MADAME MARSON

Madame Harriet Mary Marson died at the Sacred Heart Convent, 8 Alexander St., Montreal, on Sunday, July 11th, after a long illness. She was a daughter of the late Capt. Walter S. Marson, 63rd Regiment, wear brought into court under arrest year brought into court under a rest of the court of (Imperial Service) who came to London from Halifax in 1861, at the time of the Trent affair. Madame Marson attended the Sacred Heart Convent as a pupil. She joined the Ladies of the Sacred Heart Convent, Sault aux Recollet, in 1864, and after several years spent in teaching in Montreal, St. John, N. B., and Hali-fax, N. S., returned to the Convent on Dundas Street, this city, where spent several years, which time she endeared herself to both pupils and Religious who will be grieved to hear of her death. The interment took place in the Cemetery of the Convent at Sault aux Recollet,

POUND SHOWER FOR WOUNDED SOLDIERS

The friends of Mrs. C. E. Doe of 193 Waverly street, Ottawa, generously contributed to a "pound shower." Over 200 pounds were received, and they have been forwarded to her son, be distributed among the wounded.

The idea of the shower originated with Mrs. Charles Doe, Waverly street, whose son, Rev. Father Doe, went as a chaplain with the first Canadian contingent. Mrs. Doe had been in the habit of sending delicacies reglarly to her son at the front, and these, it transpired, he had always distributed among the wounded sol-diers that his ministrations brought him in contact with. In his letters the great gratitude of the men on re-ceiving these little extra comforts, and his only regret was that he never had enough to go around. Probably only those in touch with them can realize what it means to the sick and rounded soldiers to receive these ing for the Princess. We repeat: this xtra delicacies.

Twenty eight cases valued at $700 out of which it has been desired to extra delicacies.

were sent to the front as a result of generous response to Mrs. Doe's appeal.

A WESTERN MISSION

Communicated The celebration of a priest's feast day may be a matter of small signi-ficance, but when it is the eleventh anniversary in a Western mission of a comparatively young priest, and when the celebration has features that bring into prominence the ex-cellence of the education given at a Catholic parochial school, it surely is well that a brief account of the event be written that may be read in laces far distant from that in which it took place. The priest at the calabration of whose eleventh anniversary your correspondent was privileged to be present is the Rev. Father Walravens, and his sion is that of Wetaskiwin, Alta. To the good Father himself and to his people the most pleas-ing feature of the celebration to his was an entertainment given by the school children of the Catholic School, Wetaskiwin, on the evening of his feast day. The performance, which was given in the schoolroom, and which included a farce entitled "The Bogus School Inspector," played by the boys of the school, was ex-cellent throughout and reflected the greatest credit on the teaching of he Sisters of the Assumption, have charge of the school, and who are heavily handicapped in their work by the need of a proper school building. That in quarters so cramped they can achieve so much is not only testimony to their ability, but also to their devotion. Having seen at Wetaskiwin, and at Battle ford, Sask., what the good Sisters of The Assumption can, as tead achieve, your correspondent, who has had a wide experience of the teaching and training of children can only wish that the day is not far distant when the methods they employ, including the inculcating of he truths of the Catholic Faith, will be those employed in every element

Dominion.

According to Judge Harry Dolan, of the Boys' Court, Chicago, one out of every ten boys between seventee and twenty one years old in that city has been arrested and brought before the court during the past year. This statement is appalling. One boy in well nigh staggers belief. At that rate Chicago is in a fair way to earn for itself the unenviable reputation of becoming the wickedest city in the world.—The Lamp.

ANOTHER CANARD

The following in regard to Prince Bulow appeared in the Osservatore

"To put our readers still better on their guard against the erroneous comments and arbitrary interpretations arising from the audience granted by the Holy Father to a foreign journalist, about which we have already spoken, we reproduce to day an interview which His Eminence the Cardinal Secretary of State the Corriere d'Italia on that matter It brings out even more clearly than before the real thought of His Holiness which is to be found in the words Over 200 pounds were received, and they have been forwarded to her son, Capt. Edward G. Doe, chaplain of the 2nd Canadian Ambulance Corps, to be distributed among the wounded. but which are attributed to him and reported in fantastic interpretations in the newspapers, with manifest offence to the respect due to the august dignity of the Pope. Of this lack of respect due to His Holiness there has recently been another proof in the notice of a letter of His Holiness to Prince Bulow, of which, it is said, the wording and significance were political. The letter was, as a matter of fact, nothing but the reply to a letter won the Prince himself who had not been to the Vatican at all during his last visit to Rome and, not being able to go there. used this means to take leave of His Holiness and ask his Pontifical Bless-

A TRIBUTE

OF AN ENGLISH PROTESTANT TO THE FRENCH PRIESTS

The Stratford Express published the following letter sent to it by Driver Frederick J. Collinson, who is engaged on ambulance work at the

As you granted me my wish by in-serting my last letter in the Strat-ford Express, I trust that this letter may be of some interest to you. My sole idea in writing this is to try and impress people at home how faithful the Catholic priests are to their duty. Although I have been brought up as a strict Protestant, I must plainly express that I have never seen or heard of such heroism as these abbas show. They prosted as these abbes show. They practically fight among themselves to be able to go in the first line of trenches, and when the wounded are put in our ambulance and are beyond aid the priests will suffer any inconvenience to be able to pray by their side while we are tearing along on our errand of mercy. They come for a few days' rest from the trenches, and whenever they meet me, always a cheerful and brave phrase comes from their lips. Most of them are in soldier's clothes, and by the manly way they work one would never think that they held such a high rank in private life. I have never seen one of them show any signs of weariness. When I have a puncture or engine trouble, they are always the first to have their hands black. My opinion of them is more than I can express. While writing this there are two of them washing a bloody ambulance down, with coats off and buckets in hand. One of them being an old man, is puffing and blowing, yet he is singing a song which I cannot understand. While all this is going on there is the boom boom, boom of the heavy artillery, the ping of the rifle, and three men are manning a mitrailleuse on a Taube which is hovering over the Yet these brave men work lines. day by day without a flinch, or when they are hurt, without a cry or a curse. I trust that this letter will not bore you, but my opinion of th Cathelic priest will always be of the highest, although my religion will never change from Protestant. Perhaps he won't, but we are quite sure that if it pleases God to send a fuller light to this courageous and honest man, he will faithfully follow it.—Boston Republic.
