CONSTRUCTING FIREPROOF OUTBUILDINGS.

Serious efforts have recently been made, to reduce the frightful loss from lightning and fire on Canadian farms. And they have been wholly successful, not only in securing a thoroughly lightning and fireproof construction, but also in bringing the price down to, and even below, that of the old-time board and shingle barn.

The new plantis to use corrugated galvanized sheets for roofing and siding barns and all outbuildings. These light purlin strips being necessary.

Such buildings are now becoming very common, and users everywhere affirm that "Acorn Quality" Cornigated Galvanized Sheets, manufactused by the Metal Shingde & Siding Ca., Limited, of Preston, Ont., is the most satisfactory material known for the purpose. They are so heavily gulvanized that they easily outlast a generation and never need repairs. The firm above mentioned will gladly send to inquirers their interesting literature about "Acorn Quality" Corrugated Galvanized Sheets, and give names of users in all parts of Canada. 46

The Contingent Fee.
The following pointed note was written by Daniel Webster in answer to a a contingent fee. "I do not desire emloyment in professional matters, alough I do sometimes engage in them. But I never engage on contingencies merely, for that would make me a mere party to a lawsuit."

The volunteer cooks did the best they could. They boiled great kettles of soup, caldrons of coffee and oceans of tea, but it was impossible to cook rapidly enough to supply all com-ers. Late one afternoon when the cooked food supply was running low and a long line of hungry persons still waited to be fed a wagon halted before one of these stations, and a bluff old inchman addressed the lady in charge.
"Say," said he, "I've brought you 300 dozen of the best eggs in the state, but you won't need to cook them. They're already cooked. I've been boiling eggs
