"you'd better cut this out and come

Marshall laughed unpleasantly.

"Like this, Park? I guess not.
Home's no place for me just yet."

"Yes it is," said Parkinson, with unwoited sharpness. "Listen to me, Tom. There's a girl over there that's got to be happy at any cost." He paus ed to nop his face. He reminded Marshall of some great wounded animal. There was something like pain in his eyes. "And you've got to make her happy," he went on. "Do you hear?

It's up to you. You needn't worry about money. I can fix you up in tha line until you can get on your feet again. But you've got to go back with me anyway. She—she wants you to come back. How do I know? Well, I

Marshall tossed the lottery tickets on to the bed and turned to the other queer old brick. Yes, I'll go back with you, if you say so. Tonight? All right,

The messenger came with Margery Reeves' note just as Parkinson was leaving the office. He hailed the first cab and drove uptown, his mind a vague maelstrom of doubts and fears

The note was noncommittal. It merely requested him to call at the house as soon as possible. Was she angry be-cause he had found Tom Marshall and brought him back, or did she merely wish to thank him for his efforts in that line? He had not seen her since that afternoon at the links. The thought of seeing her now cut him sharply The end, so far as he was concerned had come that day beneath the walnut trees by the farther bunker when he had seen the tears in her eyes, the tears that had not been for him, but

He waited for her in the big dim hall.

She came down the wide stairs dressed in white, her eyes shining. There was a radiant happiness in her face that what you have done?" she cried

"Oh, how can I ever thank you for

"It really wasn't anything," Parkin-

"Wasn't it anything to find Tom Marshall and bring him back? Wasn't that anything to you?" she asked. "Yes, it was something," he admitted mely. Confound that lump in his

"You dear, unselfish, stupid fellow!"

oderstand that the one man in the world who was everything I had hoped of him and which he was not was—

"Did he say that?" asked Parkinson acredulously.

"He did," she declared, "and I told him"-her eyes fell demurely-"that he wasted his time and his car fare, be-cause I had found that out long ago."

And then Parkinson - well, even & tupid man sometimes acts on impulse

A Gallant Quixote.

Northerners have got so accustomed to the curt demands of street railway employees to "Step lively" and "Move up front" that the phrases have lost much of their harshness. Crowded traffic requires that men and women should step lively for their own good in order that the cars may make

In the south, where the stress of life is not so rude and the fine natural courtesy of the southerner has leisure to flourish, the manners of an employee of a northern street railway would not be tolerated; hence a refreshing little

An inexperienced middle aged south-erner mounted the platform of a car in a northern city. The conductor, not dreaming of harm, had just propelled a fair looking woman into the crowded interior with the customary push and

The southerner took the center of

"You dare lay your hands upon an-

The faces of the downtrodden race of passengers lighted up. The conductor stared, then realized the situation. As long as the southerner rode on the platform the amenities of life

It was Don Quixote against the windmills of stress and struggle and business hurry, but nowadays America needs Don Quixote in a good many Postoffice Mysteries.

the postoffice in New York, says the Epworth Herald, have many amusing episodes to tell. One day a modest young man, after inspecting the mail slots marked "Foreign," "City" and

"Domestic," approached the clerk at the window.

The modest man went over, read th inscriptions and came back to the win dow with the letter still in his hand.

"Well, did you mail it?" inquired the

On the same day a man approached marking:

"We don't cash these here. This i is a foreigner."

"Where do you mail letters?" he asked

The clerks in the foreign branch scene recorded in the Outlook.

the words, "Step lively!"

places.

schedule time.

she laughed. "What do you suppos Tom told me?"

He shook his head miserably. "He said he came back to make me man with sudden comprehension "Park," he said gently, "you're know, and that's enough.'

then, tonight it is."

for Tom Marshall.

hurt him strangely.

throat!

ome with me."
Marshall laughed unpleasantly.

Indispensable in Winter.

GRAY'S SYRUP OF RED SPRUCE GUN

A few doses, at the first sign of a cold, will allay all throat irritation—take away boarseness—check the inflammation—strengthen the lungs—ward off the cough.

All the healing, soothing, curative properties of Canadian Spruce unn—combined with aromatics. Pleasant to take. 25 cts. bottle

You Have Heard of

America's Greatest Hair Goods Artist --- He is

Comingto

CHATHAM

GARNER HOUSE

THURSDAY, DEC. 14TH.

This visit gives you a change to consult PROF. DGRENWEND about your Hair two choose from the stock of Hair Goods, which he carries with him —just what you aire. Wer can try on any Switch, Bang, Pompadour, etc., and see just how it will k

PROFESSOR DORENWEND can be depended upon to sell you only first quality ar Goods. You are not forced to buy because you call to see and examine these Baldness..

as all men know, disfigures and adds an aged expression to the face. Why remain Bald when can fit you with a WIG or TOUPLE, which will hide all traces of Baldness and take the place of your own hair? Doctors recommend these Tonpe s as a preventative for colds in head, caturn and neuralgia. PROFESSOR DORENWEND will fit you on the spot and show you

LADIES-READ THIS!

You will never have a better opportunity to see for yourself the autiful asser ment of SWITCHES, BANGS, POMPADOURS, WAVES,

Remember the Date and Don't Fail to IF YOU CANNOT CALL Call at the Hotel and See PROFESSOR WEITE FOR PROF DORENWEND'S CAT-

THE DORENWEND CO. of Toronto, Ltd. 103 and 105 Yonge St., Toronto

Three Prizes $30.00 Each ORANGE MEAT COMPANY

Open to all persons who use ORANGE MEAT.
Put on your thinking cap and carn one or all of these prizes.
THE -FRONTENAO CEREAL CO., of Kingston, Ontarlo, manufacturers of ANGE MEAT, Canada's choicest cereal, offer three prizes of $30.00 cach to any who will furnish them with a suitable name that they will accept and adopt who will furnish them with a suitable name that they will accept and adopt

A NEW PACKAGE OF ROLLED OATS A NEW PACKAGE OF CORN MEAL A NEW PACKAGE OF RICE

prize for each name.

DITION.—Send two coupons taken from our 15c. package of ORANGE MEAT

e names you submit for each package; Two coupons with names for one (5) four coupons with names for two packages; six coupons with names for ckages. Address all nawers marked "For Competition" to Competition to close Jan. 1, 1906 "ORANGE MEAT," Kingston, Ont.

$1.25 Gas! WHY NOT LIGHT YOUR HOUSE WITH GAS. .

If you now use Gas for fuel, you can at very small cost have the necessary piping and fixtures installed, pay a small sum monthly on the completed work, and pay the low price through one meter, for price through one meter, for fuel and light, of $1.25 net per 1,000 cubit feet of Gas.

See The Gas Company About It. .

THE NEW DOUBLE BREASTER

Have you seen the New Double-Breasted Overcoat. It's a very popular coat with the young fellows.

Wide collar and lapels, full, long and comfortable. Material is Fancy Cheviot in modest patterns and

Just the coat for driving or for travelling There will be no delay, merely a matter of making your selection at

The T. H. Taylor Co.

CONCERNING PARKINSON

By THOMAS G. FESSENDEN Copyright, 1905, by E. S. McClure

There was nothing brilliant about Parkinson. Indeed, his mental processes were decidedly slow. He was he sort of man who would listen to a capital story with the face of a graven mage, mull over it the rest of the evening, and perhaps at midnight, when quite alone, he would discover the point and ha-ha uproariously. Withal, Parkinson was a man to be depended upon. You always knew where to find him. You were sure that what he said he meant and that what he meant he would stick to through thick and thin. He was tall, broad of shoulder, and his homely face radiated good nature. Although the bulk of the great Parkinson fortune was his, he sat daily before a desk in the office of Thorpe & Tolla desk in the once of Thorpe & Toli-man. The fact that a fellow had a little money did not render him exempt from honest work, said Parkinson, and this was why the foreign accounts of Thorpe & Tollman were kept in his round, boyish handwriting and also why Parkinson received $15 at noon every Saturday, which sum, be it stated, did not cover the cost of his lunches and cigars.

Now, when it came time for Parkinson to fall in love, he did it as he did everything else—slowly, methodically, with a painstaking regard for detail.

The young woman about whom he finally found his affections centeringanother man would have made the discovery fully six months earlier than did Parkinson-was a certain Miss Margery Reeves, a joyous, happy, radiant creature, whom Parkinson shiped with all the tenacity of his

Miss Rectes regarded Parkinson as a big, good natured, brotherly fellow, a triffe slow and obtuse at times, but always the most dependable of her satellites. The exact nature of her attitude toward him Parkinson did not liscover until one afternoon when they sat together beneath the walnut trees t the farther bunker of the Country club links.

"LOOK HERE, TOM, YOU'VE GOT TO MAKE HER HAPPY."

It was one of those hazy afternoons which beget confidences. Miss Reeves herself could not have told how the conversation led up to it, but before she was really aware of what she was doing she was telling Parkinson all about it and Parkinson was listening with grave sympathy.
She told the whole bitter story—her engagement to Tom Marshall, the quarrel which had broken it off and even the ugly rumors which had come to her ears concerning Marshall's down-hill course since that time, and as she finished there were tears in her eyes and a strange little quaver in her

Parkinson was tremendously impressed. He had never seen her in a serious mood before. He sat quite still for a long time, staring thoughtfully at the walnut leaves above his head, stirring indolently in the breeze. Then he miled his slow, enigmatic smile.

"Don't you think it's too hot to play he rest of the course?" he asked, and, helping her to her feet, he suggested hat they go back to the clubhouse for

They went back in silence. Once or twice she glanced at Parkinson curi-busly. There was still a smile on his face, but it was a very strange smile. It seemed to mask something going on his mind. The following Monday Parkinson obtained a leave of absence from the of-fice and went to Boston. The latest reports had located Tom Marshall there. It was several days before Parkinson found him in an obscure little hotel. Marshall was looking seedy, and there were unmistakable marks of dissipation on his handsome ed the dingy room where Marshall in his shirt sleeves was sorting out bunches of lottery tickets. "It's good old Park, as I live! What brings you here, old chap?"

Parkinson sat down on a rickety chair. The room was small and hot." Moreover, he had just climbed six long flights of stairs. He looked rather fired and wilted. "Look here, Tom," he said abruptly,

Leading Canadian Physicians

Endorse The Canadian Discovery

DR. ALEXANDER FALKNER, Williamstown, Ont., a physician who has enjoyed a large practice for the past thirty years:—'I have much pleasure in certifying to the value of 'Fruit-a-tives' or 'Fruit Liver Tablets' as a medicine for chronic constipation and billousness, dyspepsia, etc., etc. I have prescribed this medicine for the past six months and can strongly recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' in all cases of constipation, indigestion and flatulence, headaches due to weakened digestion, etc.

DR. A. FRANKFORD ROGERS,

ottawa, a physician who has enjoyed one of the largest practices in that city, states:—"I have no hesitation in recommending 'Fruitatives' or 'Fruit Liver Tablets' as the fact of these tablets being made from a laxative material extracted from ripe fruit appeals, and has appealed to my judgement, and I have used these tablets extensively in my practice and always with meet graftfulur results. The prommy practice and always with most gratifying results. The pro-prietors of this medicine do not hesitate to furnish the formula of the tablets to physicians, and hence any physician can use these tablets and recommend them without loss of self respect. The formula of 'Fruit-a-tives' is certainly a magni-fect to and in way represent no 'Fruit-a-tives' is certainly a magnificent one, and in my experience no medicine ever used by me has given such excellent results in constipation and stomach and liver trouble as 'Fruit-a-tives' has. That these tablets act beneficially on the kidneys and skin is beyond doubt and in many cases where the skin was sluggish and inactive and the complexion bad 'Fruit-a-tives' have given the most pleasing results.'

DR. D. J. COSTELLO, member of he internal staff of the General Hospital, Ottawa, and who has extensive experience, states:—"I have used 'Fruit-a-tives' or 'Fruit Liver Teblets' with most beneficial results in obstinate constipation and biliousness, and found their action mild and non-irritating, and yet more curative than any medicine ever used previously. I strongly recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' to those suffering from these complaints. At all druggists or sent postpaid on eccipt of price. 50c. a box or 6 boxes

FRUIT-A-TIVES LIMITED, OTTAWA.

Crime Against Children.

Dr. Gilmour, warden of the Central rison, says that rrison life is always ontaminating, says The Brockville Recorder. He condemns the system that sends a delinquent child to pris on to associate with criminals during the receptive years of its life. He had questioned many boys from reforma-tories and found that many of them had been sent there for slight misde-meanors such as he and others had committed when boys. Prison makes criminals out of boys who may be merely full of mischief or possess a superabundance of animal spirits.

For quality, workmanship and every detail, Sugar Beet Cigars lead—56 There is no love so inexpensive as that of a mother.

I doesn't take a man of mettle to

A want advertisement, in these columns, "canvasses the city" with your proposition; and if no returns the situation by saying to him in an s something come to you, there is wrong with your propos other lady and I'll knock you off the

Loudly professed friendship usual y comes to an early end,

APURE SOAP

THE TOLL OF THE LAKES

MANY MYSTERIOUS TRAGEDIES DURING PAST 60 YEARS.

In Storm Navigation on Our Great Lakes Is More Dangerous Than on the Ocean-The Horrible Fate of the Vernon In Lake Michigan - New Types of Lake Vessels Ride Storms Better.

In the wake of news about the te In the wake of news about the ter-rifying storm that has swept over the Great Lakes, and which has proved so costly in its destruction of life and property, come memories of some his-toric disasters upon Canada's inland waters. Compared with the yearly toll of the sea, the reckoning against fresh water is slight indeed; but the sobering truth is that the lakes can be no less terrible than the ocean when rousest terrible than the occan when roused to fury. Well do the insurance companies know this, and at the beginning of winter they will take chances on the safety of vessels only for the sake of extraordinary premiums. Fortunately, at those seasons of the year when the danger is greatest there are few passengers on the est there are few passengers on the lake vessels. Passenger traffic upon the ocean continues all the year round.

Mysteriously Disappeared. In the past sixty years there has ln the past skry years there have been many tragedles enacted on our lakes, many of them leaving no sur-vivor to tell the tale. The Merchant, in 1847, sailed from Lake Superior, bound for the head of the lakes, and was never seen again, and in 1872 the was never seen again, and in 1872 the schooner Whitney sank like a stone in mid-lake, leaving hardly a spar or a ripple to mark the spot of her dis-appearance. Again, in 1879, the Wau-bana, a Canadian vessel in Georgian Bay, with thirty souls aboard, went to Bay, with thirty souls aboard, went to the bottom, and no word ever reached shore as to the manner of her destruc-tion. But one detail is known concern-ing a disaster that occurred two years earlier, when two boats, both in tow of a third, were lost by the parting of the ine. There was no collision, but both vanished simultaneously, and the reason is as great a mystery to-day as when the tug carried the welrd tale ashore. On Lake Superior the Mollion went down and left no trace, and in 1880 the Alpena, on Lake Michigan, carried 57 souls to the bottom of the lake. A few spars were picked up along the shore, and that is all the news that

The Toll of the Storms. Nevertheless, sailors and navigators know that only a few causes could explain the foundering of a staumch vessel on the lakes. If there were no storms, there would be no disasters of the kind mentioned, for where these boats met their fate there were no sunken rocks crouching beneath the placid surface for their prey. If the placid surface for their prey. If the boats were burned, the smoke by day, and glow on the sky by night, or the charred wreckage days afterward could hardly escape attention. For the bottom of a boat to suddenly fall out is unheard of in the case of ordinary seaworthy craft. To the account of the sudden and terrible storms must be placed these strange disappearances. The storms burst with sudden fury, the ships became disabled, powerless, engulfed, and they disappeared In a few hours the lake is again calm and upon it the sunlight lies ur broken by a wave.

Worse Than the Ocean. Of the dangers of the lakes Constance Fenimore Woolson quotes character as saying:

character as saying:
"In a storm navigation is more dangerous on our western lakes than on the ocean. There is not space enough for safety, and in the short was a still state of the short space of the short safety. waves and narrow channels more skill is required than in the broad sweep of the ocean. There is always a lee of the ocean. There is always a lee shore near, and you cannot run away from it as you can at sea.*

Another writer adds: "Wrecks, explosions, beachings, collisions and founderings without number have marked the short but eventful history of navigation on the Great Lakes. It is an awful death list, three hundred and four hundred in a single season, that the beautiful Great Lakes have claimed as their prey. Is it any wonder that they gained for themselves the reputation of being the most perilous body of waters in the world."

The Fate of the Vernon. The Fate of the Vernon.

The Fate of the Vernon.

A horrible fate was that which befell the Vernon, a magnificent passenger propeller that was overwhelmed by a storm in Lake Michigan on Oct. 29, 1887. From the wreck several passengers made rafts for themselves, and to these they clung until sighted by another vessel, the Superior. But, so furious was the gale, so terrific the sea, that despite heroic efforts, they could not be rescued, and the Superior at last was blown out of sight of the frenzied wretches on the raft. Some of them, seeing their last hope receding, cast themselves into the water. The Hume, in May, 1891, vanished like ing, cast themselves into the water. The Hume, in May, 1891, vanished like a bubble, and she had been the pride of the lakes. In 1882 the Asia carried a hundred passengers to the bottom, and next year the Manistee was the coffin of twenty-three. The Atlanta sank in 1891, in Lake Superior, and the Nashua in Lake Michigan the following year, leaving behind a spar or two. The Eddy, the Doty, the Chicora followed, and with them sank the last of the fine boats of the old school.

New Types of Lake Vessels. New Types of Lake Vessels.

The phoners of the new school were the Hudson, the Gitcher, and the Western Reserve, their fate no less a mystery than that of the Merchant. But their disappearance had taught a lesson, and later craft of their kind have profiled in many ways. The new type of lake vessel rides out storms that its predecessors could never have faced, and it is this reflection that must give comfort to the watchers on shore through the wild November nights.

Collection of Wolves' Ears. Collection of wolves Lara.

Mr. G. J. Booth has six pair of wolves' ears, that being the number of animals sworn to before him this year, says The Orilla News-Letter. To get the bounty of $15, the head with the ears thereon must be produced before a justice of the peace, who takes an affidavit as to the destruction of the animals and then cuts off the ears.

Peninsular Fire box is OVAL - no to heat. Sheet flue construction sures quick, even heating Make Baking Easy and of all parts of the Save Fuel. Oven is almost square, with STEEL bottom and ends. Perfect VENTILATION of oven prevents soggy baking.
Direct draft slide dampers give absolute control The "Peninsular" Ranges are made in all sizes from plain 4 hole ranges, to richly nickeled 6 hole ranges with closet and reservoir. Your stove man probably has a full line of Peninsular Ranges. If not, let us know and we will send you our handsomely illustrated catalogue and the name of the nearest dealer handling Peninsular Stoves and CLARE BROS. & CO., LIMITED, Makers of the Famous "Hecla" Furnaces PEG, Man. PRESTON, Out. YANCOUYER, B.C.

P. A. CHEEVER. CHATHAM, ONT. Box 765 Over Cunningham's Hardware Store

District Doings

GLENWOOD.

Mrs. John Chester returned on Monday from a two weeks' visit with friends in Keat Bridge. Misses Alice and Chara Estabrook, of Chatham, spent Sunday at their home here. Mr. A. Mahler spent Sunday in Chatham.

Mr. Manly Ellis left on Tuesday for a visit with relatives in Thamesville. Mrs. John Collins returned to her home at McGregor after a two weeks visit with friends here. Miss Scott, of Highgate, spent Monday at W. C. Estabrook's.

FLETCHER.

Mrs. S. McKeon, of Windsor, is

Neil Shea was the guest of Thos. Breen on Friday.

Wm. Kearns was the guest of J. a duty than a cook.

Frank Sainsbury, of Lethbridge, is visiting his sister, Mrs. McNalley, of Thamesville.

Severa loars of sugar beets have been shipped from here to Wallace-burg this week. Miss Crookshanks, of Thamesville, is visiting Misss Emma McFadden this week.

Geo. Kearns was the guest of Re Adams last week. T. Breen spent Wednesday in the Maple City.

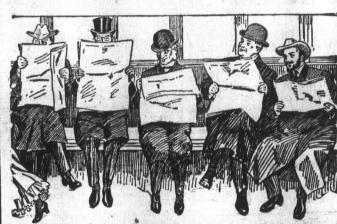

Smoke Quail on Toast Cigar 5c. Clear Havana filled.

Mercy and truth always walk on the same side of the street. The hardest man to preach to is

Lots of good ten cent Cigars, but only one best-the Lord Lake.

he one who is not there

It is generally easier to discharge

ALL rubbers look alike to some people, but close observers and discriminating buyers quickly notice the superior style and finish- of "Canadian" Rubbers.

"The mark of quality" found on every genuine "Canadian" Rubber is your guarantee of comfort and enduring wear.

ranges The women rule the kitchen so let them judge. Their verdict is that the Souvenir Range beats them all — saves time, trouble & coal bills Direct Praft Damper the heat is always under perfect control.

The Gurney, Tilden Company

Geo. Stephens & Co., Chatham

Electric Cars

IN CHATHAM Just say to the Conductor-Put me

GIBSON'S

THE PHOTOGRAPHER Orders for Christmas Portraits

should be in Early. STUDIO Corner of King and Fifth St

J. GILBERT & CO.

We have the best to be got and at low est market prices. Orders promptly de-livered. OFFICE and YARDS Queen St., nea.
G T. R. Crossing. PHONE 119

Minard's Liniment Cures Garget in Cows. ALLELLINE LINE