

SUFFERED AGONY WITH NEURALGIA

Nothing Helped Her Until She Tried "Fruit-a-Lives"

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont., May 5th, 1913.
"I cannot speak too highly of 'Fruit-a-Lives'. For over thirty years, I have suffered from Chronic Neuralgia and Constipation, experiencing untold agony. The Neuralgia settled in my lungs and I took bottle after bottle of medicine without relief. The doctor told me I would not get better but 'Fruit-a-Lives' proved that the doctor was wrong, by giving me quick relief and finally and completely curing me.
I would not have my present health if it was not for 'Fruit-a-Lives' and I am glad of the opportunity of giving you this letter about such a splendid remedy as 'Fruit-a-Lives', for the guidance of other women who may be similarly affected."
Mrs. NATHAN DUNN.
'Fruit-a-Lives' is the only medicine made from fruit juices and is particularly suited to women because of its mild action and pleasant taste.
'Fruit-a-Lives' is sold by all dealers at 50¢ a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25¢, or may be obtained from Fruit-a-Lives Limited, Ottawa.

Wiser Law Better.
It is good to have laws to punish wrong doers. It may sometimes be thought necessary to punish men who become intoxicated, although it is hard to see consistency in authorizing the liquor selling and punishing the man who drinks the liquor. A vigorous criticism of this stupid method is found in an article by L. R. H. in the Washington Issue, which says:
"Recently, when I was being entertained in a newly built modern house. I could not help but notice that the front door had been torn from its hinges and the large glass in it was broken. Also the new banister along the stairway was split. I pressed my inquiries and learned that a drunken man had come to the house a few nights before and demanded entrance. He threatened a man and declared his intention to kill the hired man, who was sleeping upstairs. When they refused to unlock the door, he kicked it down and during the scuffle in the stairway the banister was torn off. When I suggested that the intoxicated intruder ought to be arrested and put in jail for six months, the reply was: 'That is hard to do when he is your own brother.'
Yes, when it is your neighbor, your boarder, your hired help, your son, your husband or your father, who is bringing on this disgrace and humiliation and sorrow and loss caused by liquor, it is not so easy to apply the law to him. It really is easier to vote the State dry—and more sensible.

A Word of Gratitude.

"In justice to humanity I want to tell you that I was a great sufferer from itching piles. I have followed Dr. Cassel's Ointment the best cream 'ever' obtained," writes Mr. Fred. H. H. from Berlin, Ont. "It gives instant relief and I can recommend it to any sufferer from this dreadful disease."
An Apt Quotation.
Lord Lytton, the famous Ambassador, was not what one would call a witty man, but there is one good story told of him showing that he could make an apt reply on occasion.
One of his friends, Mr. Augustus Craven, was intensely mysterious in manner, and once on meeting him in London Lord Lytton asked if his wife were with him.
It happened that Mrs. Craven was staying with Lady Cowper at West. and Mr. Craven replied, in his solemn, mysterious way:—
"She is at West."
"Regretful in your repeated Lord Lytton, with equal solemnity."

The Cedars of Lebanon.

All that now remains of the cedars of Lebanon is a little forest of some four hundred trees, which are rigidly preserved. They lie on a small, fertile plateau, situated at an altitude of 6,123 feet above sea-level. The grove is reached from Baherch by a steep and winding road.
With the exception of a few stragglers, the grove is enclosed by a neat stone wall built by a former governor of Lebanon to protect the smaller trees from goats.
The older trees have always occupied a position of honor in the estimation of man because of their connection with the temple built by Solomon and the various allusions to them in the Bible.
Among the dwellers in Syria, where forests of tall trees do not exist, the cedars naturally excite admiration, and a modern Syrian writer says of them that they are undeniably the most lofty of all the vegetable kingdom. We know, of course, that this is hardly the case, for the famous red wood trees of California reach a height of over three hundred feet, while in Tasmania the blue gum is almost as large so far as height is concerned. The cedars are actually about 80 feet high, which is more than the height of the trees of an average forest.—Wide World Magazine.

Nothing Like it for Colds.

Mrs. H. H. Ferguson, Sheffield, N. S., writes: "Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has cured my children and myself of severe colds. We are never without it in the house. There is nothing like it for colds and throat trouble, and it is so soothing and pleasant to take my children would drink a whole bottle if permitted."

5,000 Facts About Canada.

Do you know Canada? A novel and unique mine of information is found in the popular booklet '5,000 Facts About Canada,' just issued for 1914, and compiled by Frank Yeigh, the well-known statistical authority on things Canadian. This new edition shows a marked advance over previous issues in an increase of new data, a handsome cover, a revised and improved paper. The publication contains all the essential facts of Canada's progress in a year, under such chapter heads as Agriculture, Area, Banking, Census, Mining, Manufacturing, Trade, etc., while striking tables of comparisons present a mass of interesting material. Its wide circulation is easily understood when its value is realized for it presents the Dominion in a nutshell, a ready reference encyclopedia of facts and figures. It may be had by sending 25 cents to The Canadian Facts Publishing Co., 538 Huron St. Toronto, or from news dealers.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S 25¢ CATARRH POWDER

In the early days of the French regime in Canada under seigniors tenure, the habitants rented the lands they occupied. In the Public School history now in use in Ontario it is interesting to read: 'The rental varied from half a cent to two cents for each acre, and was paid, part in money part in wheat, eggs or live fowl.' At the lowest rental named one good fresh egg to day would pay the rent of twelve and a half acres for a year, while one good chicken would pay the rent of four hundred acres.—R.
The Nova Scotia 'Lumber King' says: "I consider MINARD'S LINIMENT the BEST liniment in use. I got my foot badly jammed lately. I bathed it with MINARD'S LINIMENT and it was well as ever next day."
T. G. McMULLIN.

For Agriculture.

Evidence keeps accumulating that the cause of the high cost of living is the depopulation of the rural communities in Eastern Canada and the farms unable to keep pace with the growth of Canadian cities. It was during the Liberal regime this state of affairs arose. They practically neglected, during their long period of power, the agricultural industry. We are bearing the fruit of that neglect to-day.
The Borden government has during its two and a half years of power, seriously tackled the question of fostering agriculture in Canada. Law year a state-of-the-art measure was introduced by Hon. Martin Ballantyne, setting aside the sum of $10,000,000 at the rate of $1,000,000 a year, for the promotion of agricultural education in Canada. This bill is already producing substantial results.
But in addition to this, the total expenditures in agriculture have more than doubled during the brief period of the Borden administration. The following table shows the growth since 1910-11 and 1911-12, the last two years of the Laurier regime.
1910-11 $1,192,417
1911-12 1,489,973
1912-13 2,489,973
1913-14 2,510,500
Last year, in other words, the Borden government spent more than double the amount that was spent in 1910. This year, despite the financial stringency, the agricultural estimates will be larger than ever.
The Best Cough Medicine.
I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy ever since I have been keeping house," says L. C. Hanson, of Marberry, N.S. "I consider it one of the best remedies I ever used. My children have all taken it and it works like a charm. For colds and whooping cough it is excellent. You can't get any better."

The Bay of Fundy.

[From the Westminister Gazette.]
The Bay of Fundy, the scene of the wreck of the Cobquid, is full of strange and weird features. Grand Manan Island, which lies to the west of the bay, is a rocky island, the port of which is a common sight. Every indentation, every rocky cranny, bears some terrible and suggestive name descriptive of some maritime tragedy. On the island, twelve miles in length and scarcely inhabited, is a graveyard filled with the bodies of unknown sailors. A little above Trinity Bay, on the coast of Nova Scotia rises in rock parapets from the sea, and a narrow inlet admits to the Annapolis Valley, where strange to say, the eye rests on a fertile valley of apple orchards which raise the highest priced fruit in the world. In this space is a cleft of the Gulf Stream and partly to the position, differs altogether from the Arctic cold of the stormy sea without.

Don't You Believe It.

Some say that chronic constipation cannot be cured. Don't you believe it. Chamberlain's Tablets have cured others—why not you? Give them a trial. They cost only a quarter. For sale by all dealers.

Brown Egg Test.
The public preference for the brown egg over the white is a problem in itself, since it is stated that the color makes no difference in the quality. Precisely why some eggs are brown and others white is another problem upon which Prof. Pennington, of Cambridge, has been working.
The result of his latest experiments to test the inheritance of the brown egg were published recently in an annual research report of the Board of Agriculture. In one set of experiments the breeds chosen were brown Leghorns (non-broody white eggs) and Langshans (broody brown eggs), and the cross was made between the hen of the former and the cock of the latter breed. The hens all laid eggs of an intermediate tint. In other experiments, of about 60 hens tested not one has been found to lay a real brown egg, though a fair proportion have laid pure white ones.

Atlantic Lobsters for British Columbia.
Experiments in transplanting Atlantic lobsters to Pacific coast waters have been sufficiently successful to encourage the Department of Marine and Fisheries to undertake similar experiments with lobsters. A number of shipments have already been made and others will follow. It will be necessary at the outset to ascertain what points a suitable environment can be found for lobsters, and until this has been done the success of the effort will be more or less in doubt.
As the Atlantic lobster is much superior to the California variety, their successful transplantation to the Pacific will add very markedly to the value of the fisheries of British Columbia, and will still further augment Canada's premier position in the lobster markets of the world.

The New Education.
Dr. Maria Montessori has arrived in America from Italy to explain to educators the method of child education which has made her name famous throughout the world. She does not speak English so the lectures which she gives are illustrated by film pictures of her 'House of Childhood' in Rome, and an interpreter explains her remarks. This eminent lady believes that auto-education is the basic principle of right teaching. At present her pupils are mainly from two and a half to six years of age, but she is working out a plan to extend the system to all children up to six years of age. 'I believe,' said Miss Montessori, 'that if you give the child happiness—proper surroundings, proper clothes, good air and good food—and place him in contact with objects which stimulate and interest him, he will educate himself.' She regards the prevailing idea that the system is specially effective in dealing with defective children. As a matter of fact, she says, it is particularly beneficial to the normal child. In her 'House of Childhood' in Rome, each pupil is allowed a choice of the pretty, instructive toys designed to show him how to measure, to build or to distinguish shape and letters and figures, and to trace them almost unconsciously, and so learns to write with ease. Miss Montessori, who is an physician, says that the greatest benefit of the system is the psychology of the child, after an earnest study of his physiology.
