FRIDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1892.

IT'S EFFECT EPON THE FARWERS. In declaring that the tariff policy of the Government must be reeast, the member for Centra Teronto has but given ever session to a belie that is almost as general among Conserv tive as it is on the Liberal side. Proof of this feeling is shown whenever a Conservative representative is called upon to address his constitution. Wheeli, of North Bruce, laiked to the people of his coust tatency he other day, an what he said was in favor of feer trade wit Gr at Britain and against an adherence to the present policy of protection. Craix, of Durb in was also called upon to speak to his supporter recently, and his speech warm anderdom the present policy of protection. Craix, of Durb in was also called upon to speak to his supporter feeding and his speech warm anderdom. Occabear, and he seems afford to treat wit contempt the punich he gave expression before the Netton Clubbs the feeling of his part to day. And if that feeling is not crystalize into the form of a definite policy before the next general election, defeat at the polis in assured. Toronto Nettes.

While many Conservatives are anxious.

While many Conservatives are anxious for tariff reduction, the organs of the hardshell Tory section-the Toronto World, and Empire and the Hamilton Spectator -- cou tinue to affirm that things are all right as they are-that farmers are prospering exceedingly with wheat at 62 cents a bushel, and that the man who would ask for anything better is a traitor and a scoundrel. We have presented in recent issues the statements of farmers in various parts of the country, which show that they think they are having a hard time of it, and it seems to us they ought to know more about their own condition than the Hamilromises were made on behalf of the N. P It was to make the farmer's receipts greater without increasing the cost of h s living. It ·was to protect his home market against the incursions and the competition of the cheap products of United States farms. We must admit that the Canadian farmer is not greatly troubled, after fourteen years of the N. P., by the competi-tion of cheap United States grain, for the reason that grain commands better price on the other side of the border than on this side. The Globe's commiss oner found that wheat had been 8 cents a bushel higher all the season in Port Huron than in Sarnia. The following are the other comparative pricesquoted by him:

Wheat		117	cents			cents
Oals		28			34

There is a great deal of smuggling along the border, the Canadians fetching in articles of common use produced in the United States, and the Yankees taking from this side fine goods made in England upon which the Canadian duties are lower than those of the United States. With regard to the effect of the N. P. upon the comparative prices of grain, a miller and grain buyer

Tariff reform will come, in spite of the opposition of those journals which wait to take their instructions from the Govern ment. In fact, it must come, for the N. P. is a thoroughly discredited institution from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

THE Guion line of steamships is going out of business. It was just about holding its own when the cholera scare overtook New York last September, and with the continually decreasing traffic in immigration, the Guion's business almost disappeared. The company depended to a great extent on its immigration traffic, and when the recent restrictions were placed by the Treasury officials on immigration, it began to lose money, but bore up bravely until it became evident that it could not longer profitably continue its business. The Guion line began on a small scale. Its original fleet was made up of ordinary packet ships. Stephen Guion was its founder, and the name was continued after

HENRY GEORGE, the Hamilton Spectato and other Radicals—we will not call them and other Radicals—we will not oall them visionaries—advocate the municipalization of monopolies. We are not sure that the party of the second part goes quite as far in this direction as the party of the first part, but it is at least gratifying to observe that the Spectator favors the ownership and management of the gas and electric lighting by the City Council. Whether our contemporary will also favor municipal controf the street cars and the telephones, and eventually Government ownership of the street cars and the telephones, and eventually Government ownership of the railways and the telegraphs, remains to be railways and the turgraphus, constant of the seen.
