(FOR THE SCRAP BOOK.)

POETRY.

The best general notion which I can give of poetry is that it is the natural impression of any object or event by its vividness exciting an involuntary movement of imagination and passion, and producing by sympathy a certain modulation of the voice, or sounds, expressing it.

Poetry is the language of the imagination and the passions. It relates to whatever gives immediate pleasure or pain to the human mind. It comes from the bosoms and businesses of men for nothing but what so comes home to them in the most general and intelligible shape can be a subject for poetry. Poetry is the universal language which the heart holds with nature and itself.

He who has a contempt for poetry cannot have much respect for himself, for any thing else. It is not a mere frivolous accomplishment (as some persons have been led to imagine) the trifling amusement of a few idle readers or leisure hours—it has been the study and delight of mankind in all ages. Many people suppose that poetry is something to be found only in books, contained in lines of ten syllables, with like endings, but wherever there is a sense of beauty, or power, or harmony, as in the motion of a wave of the sea, in the growth of a flower, that spreads its sweet leaves to the air, and dedicates its beauty to the sun—there is poetry. In its birth . . . All that is worth remembering in life is the poetry of it.

Fear is poetry, hope is poetry, love is poetry, hatred is poetry, contempt, jealousy, remorse, admiration, wonder, pity, despair, or madness, are all poetry. Poetry is that fine particle within that expands, refines, redines, raises our whole being; without it man's life is poor as beasts.

—William Hazlitt.

THE EVENING STAR.

Lo! in the painted oriel of the West, Whose panes the sunken sun incarnadines Like a fair lady at her casement, shines The Evening Star, the star of love and rest. And then anon she doth herself divest Of all her radiant garments, and declines Behind the sombre screen of yonder pines. With slumber and soft dreams of love oppressed. O my beloved, my sweet Hesperus! My morning and my evening star of love! My best and gentlest lady! even thou, As that fair planet in the sky above, Dost thou retire unto thy rest at night, And from thy darkened window fades the light.

—Longfellow.

OUT ON THE DEEP.

Out on the deep, when the sun is low, And the sea with splendor burns, With his scalpy spot, from his evening toll, The fisher homeward turns. And his oars flash bright in the ocean light, And he knows that eyes on shore Look out on the deep for his bright sweep. And he sings as he swings his oar: A long sweep, lads, and a strong sweep boys, And a song as along we go. For the hearts that yearn for our home return, When the evening sun is low.

—Longfellow.

MAIDENHOOD.

Maiden! with the meek, brown eyes In whose orbs a shadow lies, Like the dusk in evening skies!

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS

Cannot be cured with ordinary soothing syrups. The disease must be attacked at the root to eradicate the irritation of the lungs, heal the wounds and strengthen the respiratory organs. The composition of of Tar and Cod Liver Oil and other Medicinal Extracts marks amongst all other remedies as the true specific for the diseases of the throat, the bronchial tubes and the lungs. Here are a few conclusive proofs:

ORANGEDALE, C.B., Aug. 7, '08. Blacking & Mercantile Co.'y, Ltd., Amherst, N.S. Dear Sirs,—We have nothing but good to say of Mathieu's Syrup and can conscientiously describe it as the most popular and successful Cough Medicine we handle. Owing to the absence of any drug store in this vicinity there is a great variety of proprietary medicine sold in the course of the year, and Mathieu's Syrup pre-eminently leads in its own class. Yours sincerely, D. MARTIN.

AGAINST HEADACHE there is no remedy so active as Mathieu's Nerve Powders which contain no opium, morphine or choral. 25 cents per box of 18 powders.

Special to The Evening Telegram. BERLIN, August 22. Advice received at the German Foreign Office from Nanking, indicate impending trouble between German naval officers and southern revolutionaries, who threaten to bombard the German Consulate and the German protected cruiser Emden. The insurgent leader sent a letter to the German Consulate at Nanking, in which he declared the rebel positions. From Lion Hill he announced his intention of retreating to the German cruiser and Consulate. In reply to the letter the Consulate denied the allegations. In the meantime the German armoured cruiser is speeding towards Nanking.

WASHINGTON, August 22. President Wilson is to-day less optimistic concerning the Mexican situation than he has been for some time past. The uncompromising attitude of Huerta on the subject of recognition, has placed him in a tight corner. He has decided to take Congress into his confidence regarding the views and plans of the administration, and with this end in view is now preparing a special message to Congress, in which, it is understood, he will make public all communications that have passed between Washington and Mexico City.

OTTAWA, August 22. Acting Governor Glynn, of New York, was in telegraphic communication with the Minister of Justice and Immigration authorities to-day. It is understood that Glynn was told that he could not legally be handed over to the New York State authorities, except by due process of extradition. He was informed by the immigration authorities that falling extradition they intended to send Thaw back across the line, but not to New York State.

BIDDEFORD, Me., Aug. 22. A soft wind saved Biddeford from serious disaster when it turned back a forest fire which had swept to the very outskirts of the city, despite the efforts of eight hundred militia men, firemen and volunteers, who were summoned by the riot call. Many fire fighters who were hemmed in had narrow escapes. Thousands of acres of land were burned over. There was very little standing timber on it, and the loss is inconceivable.

PORTLAND, Me., August 22. The weather bureau officials could see no break early to-day in one of the longest droughts in Maine since January 1st. The deficiency in the rainfall amounts to 8.35 inches, while the records show the year has been 200 degrees warmer than usual. The most serious results of the prolonged dry spell have been the destruction of forest fires, especially those in south and west Maine.

LONDON, August 22. A great tobacco war between British and American Companies may be in London at any moment, as the outcome of the threatened invasion of England and other European countries by the Tobacco Products Corporation of America. It is said the American Corporation intends to attempt to enter the English field and open up a depot on a large scale, in rivalry to the Imperial Tobacco Co.

LONDON, August 22. Business men of Belfast who know the real situation, say the city is preparing for the worst, in the event of Home Rule passing into law. They are insuring their property against damage resulting from civil war, and it is understood policies exceeding $25,000,000 have been taken out.

LONDON, August 22. The Duke of Somerset, in a letter to the press, announces that the King is taking a keen interest in the preparations under way for the Olympic Games in 1916. His Majesty hopes every effort will be made to insure that the United Kingdom will be represented by its best athletes.

MALMA, August 22. While the manoeuvres of the Swedish Naval fleet were in progress in the Sound this morning, an armoured ship collided with and sank a cannon boat. No details of the disaster have yet been received at the station here.

VANCOUVER, August 22. Soldiers who have been scouring the country since the strike, have found enough of dynamite, fire arms and ammunition to fill a box car. A garrison of regulars will be stationed at Nanaimo for at least a year.

BANGALORE, August 22. Fifty miners were killed to-day, when a large pit, which they were digging in Mysore gold mine, fell to the bottom of the shaft.

OLD TOWN, Me., August 22. Fire, through spontaneous combustion, caused damage amounting to more than $100,000 to the Fulton building to-day.

MATHIEU'S SYRUP CURES DIPHTHERIA.

The Peeler.

The peeler walks his beat along the dusty street, with his briefs that smart upon the heel, and shoe-bolts on his feet. All day he tramps around and must be pleasant found with his blocks some to talk him dumb and questions weird, proposed. He hears the alecks yawp: "Please tell us, Mr. Cop, when there's a train for Madrid, Spain, and how's the peanut crop? This weather's mighty strange; when do you think 'twill change? Why don't you help those dogs that yelp because they have the mange? Why don't you pinch that vag now coming with his jag? Why don't you climb that pole time and straighten out the flag? Why don't you clean the walks, and move that dry goods box that's in the way of every jay who travels down these blocks?" The peeler walks his beat on tired and fondered feet, and sadly sighs, "Dash blank my eyes, death would be passing sweet!" Night comes and he repairs up seven miles of stairs to his small room where, in the gloom, he swears and swears and swears.
