LISLE STOCKINGS AND CLOTH COATS.

As I sat in the trolley car one morning, the spring, at the time of day when all the world goes to its work, I glanced up and down the aisle at the feet displayed there and marvelled at the number of silk stockings. Pair after pair of feet, male and female alike, were clad in the shiny raiment, though sometimes of very coarse and sleazy stuff. In fact, when my eyes finally came to a pair of feet clad in lisle stockings it was such a shock that I raised them and took a look at the person attached thereto. And what I saw there made the effort worthwhile. She was apparently a young business woman of the best class. She had a nice face and a good figure. She was dressed in good style and excellent taste. Her suit, though simply tailored, probably cost as much as any suit in the car. And yet she dared to appear in lisle stockings. What was the explanation?

She was sick of Cheap Silk Stockings. Naturally I couldn't ask her but I'll take the liberty to supply it for her. She had seen so many cheap silk stockings that she had sickened of the sight of them. Moreover, though she could afford the first cost of silk stockings, she resented the high replacement cost inevitable to their rapid wearing out. Therefore, on these few counts she preferred a good looking first class man-made stocker to one that cost as much as the cheaper ones but would outwear them. We've Got to Make A Stand Somewhere.

There seldom has been an era in the world's history when true thrift was so imperatively needed as to-day. And there has seldom been any time when the temptations to spend money were so great. If one doesn't want to be swept along with the unthinking crowd one has simply got to look the ground over and make up one's mind to take a stand somewhere. And where could one more wisely take

A Lazy Man's Paradise

Worth while seems life on the Isle of Ustilla. Its place on the map would be hard to find, but it's worth discovering. Away off in a southern sea, never heard from before and but little known, it comes to the knowledge of the Pan-American Union that here have Americans found a home that others enjoy when they are dead.

"We call it a lazy man's paradise," says the message from this land of delight, "not that the inhabitants are necessarily indolent, but simply because a large amount of labor is superfluous. Nature provides for nearly all our wants here as in most tropical countries. Farming is our principal occupation, yet there is not a plough on the island. Frost is unknown and extreme heat is never experienced. Ninety degrees in the shade would be unusually high temperature. Our grade schools are of high standard, attendance being compulsory ten months in the year. Ustilla is one of the Bay Islands, a string of six verdant keps in the Bay of Honduras, an arm of the Caribbean Sea, which were discovered by Columbus in 1502. They were then thickly populated by native Indians who became slaves. The islands now are inhabited wholly by English-speaking people.

"The first family to settle here," the letter goes on, "was that of Joseph Cooper, who found upon landing two lone American young men, Samuel and Joshua Warren, by name. A few years later came Mark G. Morgan, an American from Philadelphia. The descendants of these men now inhabit the islands. These pioneers were of Puritan stock, all seafarers imbued with the spirit of adventure who, though filled with wanderlust, found conditions on the island so ideal that they planted their stakes deep and said, 'Alabama—here we rest.'"

Of the principal exports 110,000,000 coconuts are sent yearly to the United States. There are 14 Methodist Churches and six of the Seventh Day Adventists on the islands with more than 700 members and 300 children in their Sunday schools.

A HOLIDAY.

We'll come to greatness by and by Or failing never shed a tear; Just now the sun is in the sky Just now the brooks are running clear.

And there are pleasant lanes to tread; With beauty all the world is gay; Let him who will go straight ahead, We'll give our soul a holiday.

We'll come to fortune later on Or failing never give a sigh; The clover's fair to look upon And not a cloud is in the sky. The trees are greened once more in green.

The birds, it seems, have much to say, Out here where all is pure and clean We'll give our soul a holiday.

We'll turn away from fame and gold, We'll wonder far from eager men Who clutch at things they cannot hold, And be a care-free boy again.

We'll drop the cruel spurs of haste And let the cost be what it may, What though life's precious time we waste, We'll give our soul a holiday.

And if we never reach our goal, And if we never reach success, We still can say that once our soul Has had a day of happiness. That once beneath the open sky We turned our back on sordid schemes

And gave our soul a chance to try Its wings out in the world of dreams.

Household Notes.

Before wearing your rubbers rub them well with vaseline. Let them remain a few days before wearing them.

Wash cooled silks in cold water and a moderate amount of soap. Do not rub the soap directly on the fabric.

A good dessert is made with bananas put through the potato ricer and sliced orange and pineapple added. When making tomato or asparagus soup a few grains of baking soda should be added to the cooked vegetables.

If by accident soot should be dropped on the carpet, cover it thickly with salt; then both may easily be swept up.

Tooth powder is excellent for cleaning jewelry. Rub it on with a nail brush and then rinse off with scalding water.

When preparing vegetables, cook enough so that there will be enough on hand for a cream soup for the next day's luncheon.

Milk and cream stains should not have hot water put on them. Wash them out in cold water, followed by soap and water.

When cooking on the gas stove, use cooking vessels that cover the burner. All heat not directly under the utensil is lost.

When garments of any kind are washed in gasoline, add a few drops of oil of cedar. The disagreeable odor will not be noticed.

To stretch kid gloves when new, place them between the folds of a damp towel for almost one hour before they are to be worn.

When a slice or two of bread is left from a meal, do not put into the bread box to be forgotten, but cover over in a dish and use for toast at the next meal.

Add a pinch of cream of tartar to the whites of eggs when they are half beaten. This keeps them from falling before being used.
