Energy and Money Wasted

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—From 1910 to 1917 at our shops then operated by the R.N. Co. our mechanics turned out twenty engine boilers or more, and did satisfactorily and durable work, but you must remember that this work was done under the capable and efficient supervision of Messrs Turnbull and Ladley. Of course these men were first-class mechanics, and they had an interest in their work. They knew how to set men to work and they knew how much exactly a man could do in a day, and they gave men recognition for their services. They did not go around and tell the owners that the men were too slow. No sir, when asked by the owners if they could make this or that they said: "Why, yes, give us the material and we will build a rotary plow and set it to work or anything else." These very same men are walking the streets or just working 35 hours per week or 35 hours per fortnight, and right under our very noses hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of rolling stock is being landed from steamers coming in from the United States—the work of and the production of other shops and foreign mechanics. The work is not superior to that which our own men can turn out. Is that good enough? You see, Mr. Editor and Mr. Public, there must be something radically wrong in the ordering of material for the two new boilers that are getting built now. They also ordered sheets of plate 1 1/4 (one and one quarter in.) thick to press out solid domes, a process that is only just an every day accomplishment in the most modern and extensive shops. That will give an idea of the conception that these people have of their shops' appliances and the equipment that their shops possess when they import this special quality of plate and wasted the money on it. Then they imported the domes made, and all this the boiler-makers could have made and always did make. Now is that economy or capability? Now in the days when all these boilers were made here these officials whom we speak of, Messrs. Turnbull and Ladley, did the work alone during the period that each one was in charge. Now we have less work being done and seven or eight men doing what one of them did. That is an increase of salaries amounting to thousands of dollars per year and all this our own money. They talk of taxes and the unemployment, and Home Industry, and patriotism, education, Democracy, League of Nations and all such, but if the people in Newfoundland are not instructed in hypocrisy it is a strange thing. Thanking you for space.

Yours truly,

St. John's West, March 20, 1924.

Star Movie To-Day

The fastest action picture that William Duncan ever made.

"Smashing Barriers" the greatest stunt picture ever filmed, with William Duncan at his best.

See Duncan hurtling the air in a daring slide for life in "Smashing Barriers."

William Duncan dives, swims, rides shoots and fights in "Smashing Barriers," his best Western thriller.

"Smashing Barriers" the greatest thriller ever made, a story of hided lumberjacks, with William Duncan at his best.

A thrilling melodrama set in the marvellous scenery of the redwood forests, a story of a logging camp and hard living men, with a love romance that touches the heart.

A youth's fight to prove himself a man in the eyes of his father, a fight that wins riches and love!

Every William Duncan fan must see "Smashing Barriers," the greatest picture this star ever made. Stunts! Thrills! Love!

See the slide for life, the race on the logging engine, the hundred foot dive and the greatest fight ever screened, in "Smashing Barriers," William Duncan's most thrilling picture.

"The Passion Play" in Motion Pictures

COMING NEXT WEEK TO THE NICKEL THEATRE.

At last the remarkable reproduction of the world famous Passion Play has been made. The film is entitled "The Eternal Light." It is an ideal Lenten attraction which should appeal to the taste of the whole city. This film is produced by The Catholic Art Association and is endorsed by other various Religious Societies throughout America.

"The Eternal Light" is seemingly one endless series of spectacular sets. It has been said by noted critics that nothing so beautiful, so picturesque as the pretentious palaces, old world streets, etc., as are reproduced in this feature. There has been no exaggeration, no effort made to distort. Briefly, it tells the wonderful story of The Cross in a more comprehensive, emphatic and
