BTOCK MARKETS.

H. C. Becher, broker, Bank of Commerce building, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington today:

ther did not help the market any this forenoon. The offerings consisted of $ loads of hay, which sold quite readily at $8.50 to $10.50 per ton, and one load of black oats, which went at $1.05 per York, May 18-Noon.-Stagnation prevails in the stock market today, and the total transactions for the forenoon session are exceedingly small. Taking such trading as there was, the market was firm, and towards the end of the second hour developed considerable

The range was narrow, however, which lessened the impressiveness of the bullish demonstration. Practically all the active stocks showed small gains. The Steel issues, Pennylvania and St. Paul, were among the stock traded in with a fair share of activity. London prices helped the market ta the opening. An extended short interest is undoubtedly basis of the strength in the market.

WEEKLY REVIEW. There has been a good demand for most of the lines represented at the market during the past week. The supply of farm produce was about up to the average for this time of the year. There is no material change in prices from those paid here in the previous week with the exception of hay, which is easier. Grain—The supply of oats, which form the bulk of the offerings in this line, is about equal to the demand; prices range from $1 02 to $1 04 per cental. Corn, suit able for feeding purposes, sells at $1 to $1 10 per cwt; seed corn sells at a higher price, but none is brought on the mar-ket
