LONDON AND DISTRICT

—Mr. Percy Parkinson, of Elmville, is spending a few days with friends in this city.

—Miss Ethel V. W. Bradford, of Dundas street, has returned to Toronto to resume her musical studies.

—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bradford, of Ottawa, Ill., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bradford, Dundas street.

—Mr. Peter Elson, M. P. for East Middlesex, who came home from the elections, has returned to Ottawa.

—Hon. E. J. Davis, ex-minister of crown lands in the federal cabinet, is at present a guest at the Tecumseh House.

—Mr. J. H. Ginge, manager of the Canadian Packing Company, is confined to his home on Queen's avenue with a very severe illness.

—The Seventh Regiment Band and the London Male Chorus Club held a joint rehearsal last evening, in preparation for tomorrow night's opening ceremonies at the Armories.

—Mr. George Angus and family desire to express their sincerest thanks to the many friends who extended to them many kind expressions of sympathy in their recent bereavement.

—Mr. Helmut Clucas, for the last seven or eight years with the John & Sons, has returned to his home in Chicago.

—About thirty young people of South London, held a very pleasant, slightly festive party to the house of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Whitehead, concession 4, Delaware street, on Sunday.

—About 50 young people gathered at the residence of Mr. J. J. Judd, 411 Hill street, to say farewell to Mr. Ed Judd, of Webb City, Missouri.

—The evening was spent in playing and other games. Refreshments were served, after which the company joined in singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and the company left on the Grand Trunk for Webb City, tomorrow evening.

MONTHS' CLEARINGS.
The clearings for January at the local clearing house were $432,750.

ANNIVERSARY ENTERTAINMENT.
The anniversary tea and entertainment of the First Congregational Sabbath School will be held at the regular fund.

GRANTED SUPERANNUATION.
The education department has granted superannuation to Mr. W. D. Eckert, ex-principal of the Lorne avenue school, from the regular fund.

AGAIN THREATENED.
Two railway stations in Glencoe have been burned within the past few years, and a third came very nearly meeting the same fate on Sunday.

The flames were luckily noticed by a London lawyer, who was waiting for his train, and they were extinguished before much damage was done. It is thought the fire was started by an ember from the stove.

AUXILIARY ORGANIZED.
The following officers were elected by the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon: President, Mrs. J. N. Wood; first vice-president, Mrs. Spry; second vice-president, Mrs. C. Clark; secretary, Mrs. Richmond; treasurer, Mrs. Gregson; convener of finance, Miss O'Neil; convener of devotion, Mrs. Tully; convener of rooms, Mrs. Scudetti; convener of boys' work, Mrs. Spry.

HAD TWO RUNS.
The firemen had two runs last evening. The first was to a fire in the London Mutual Fire Insurance Company's building, in a store occupied by Binks, the tailor. There was no damage.

The second run was to the London Foundry Company's works, corner of York and Thames streets, but the alarm proved a false one. It appears that a great quantity of castings had been allowed to cool in damp sand, and people passing mistook the steam arising from the castings for smoke.

SCOTTISH CONCERT THURSDAY.
Many applications from outside towns are already in for seats for the Jessie MacLachlan concert to be given at the Grand Opera House on Thursday night. The prospects are that the popular prima donna will be greeted by as large an audience as on former occasions. Several artists are to make their first appearance in London at this concert, and the most important, perhaps, is Miss Grace Merry, an elocutionist. Miss Merry's dialect selections are excellent, and she has consented to give as one of her numbers "Mrs. McFagan on Skates," which created such applause recently at Massey Hall, Toronto. No one should miss this opportunity of hearing Miss Merry. Another new comer is Mr. John McInden, the collector, called by the "Globe" as a "wonder".

McInden is a young man, a native of Glasgow, and had just returned from pursuing his studies in Germany when he was engaged by Miss MacLachlan to accompany her on her Canadian tour. Douglas Jarvis, a Scottish tenor, also a Glasgow man, and the ever-popular Harold Young complete this high-class concert company.

CHALMERS' ANNIVERSARY.
The anniversary in connection with Chalmers' Church, was an unusual success. Special services were held on Sunday, morning and evening, conducted by the pastor, the afternoon service being conducted by Dr. McInden, principal of the Normal School.

The attendance at all the services was most satisfactory. The annual celebration was given last night, when the crowd that sought admission was so great that many had to be turned away from the doors.

The programme was well carried out without a hitch, and was very much appreciated by the large audience, the work of the choir, the singing of hymns and the hoop drill, as also the haymakers and dairymaids' supper, were done in excellent style.

Mrs. Wiles, assisted by Miss Lillian, Mrs. Donaldson and Misses Ruthford and Baillie had the charge of the supper, and the children, after their excellent work, were given a treat.

RECITAL AT GLENCOE.
A Glencoe correspondent writes: The recital given by the pupils of Miss Gertrude L. Hart, assisted by Mr. Garthwaite, of London, and Miss Smith, of St. Thomas, in the opera house, Glencoe, on Friday last, was a decided success. In spite of the inclement weather a large and appreciative audience greeted the entertainers.

Mr. Garthwaite, although apparently suffering from a severe cold, easily made himself a favorite with his audience. Miss Lillian Smith proved that she had brought all the members of the Glencoe choir, together in order that they might know each other's voices, and thus work in greater peace and greater harmony, and consequently to greater advantage.

As long as he had been an observer of public life in London he had noticed that the men on the different boards of the city had done a very best for the city. They might have made mistakes, but they were unintentional, and as a whole the city had every reason to feel proud of its representatives.

He asked all to prepare their estimates at once, and to prepare them in a quiet way, and to prepare them in a quiet way, and to prepare them in a quiet way.

This year quite a large sum of money can be raised by a moderate tax rate, but it might be that though the rate was low the average taxpayer will be called upon to pay more taxes than he paid a year ago.

There are many reasons why economy should be exercised this year. One of these was the overdraft from last year and he did not allude to it for fear of hurting the feelings of the taxpayers.

MASONIC LODGE OF INSTRUCTION

Members From All Parts of the District Attend Function in the Temple.

A lodge of instruction was held in the Masonic Temple yesterday, and it was the most largely attended district Masonic meeting that has been held in the temple for a decade.

The objects of the meeting, which was a social and work might be made uniform throughout the district, that precision in details might be attained, and, lastly, that the craftsman from various lodges might become better acquainted with each other.

A general committee had been chosen from the city lodges, and it left nothing undone to give the guests, many of whom came from long distances, a royal welcome.

In the afternoon R. W. Bro. Roe, district deputy grand master, opened the lodge with a few happy remarks.

Bro. Matthew T. Tinsley, of the Tinsley Lodge, finished the degree. The deputy grand master minutely criticised the work of both the masters and officers, giving them much praise.

Then W. Bro. Minshall, of the St. Thomas lodge, and staff, worked the degree, and the Tinsley Lodge, and staff, worked the degree, and the Tinsley Lodge, and staff, worked the degree.

The D. D. G. M. was asked many questions of an intricate nature during the day, and he gave suitable answers to all.

The Blue Room was crowded in the evening to its fullest capacity. There were craftsmen present from Fingal, St. Thomas, Dorchester, Niagara, Belmont, Aylmer, Lambeth, Delaware, Lobo, Hideron, Alvinston, Detroit, Oshawa, Grifflin, Hensall, Ingersoll, Welland, Thamesford, Brantford, Thorncliffe, Lakeside, Mich., and many others.

A large number were unable to get within the doors of the room.

The first part of the evening's programme was taken by W. Bro. Benjamin Noble, of Union Lodge, who expounded one-half of Master Mason's degree with the aid of his competent staff.

The work was taken up by W. Bro. J. P. Armstrong, F. M. of Corinthian Lodge, and his staff, who completed the work in a creditable manner.

After all business had been finished over 50 brethren sat down to a dinner in the handsome hall of Bro. McWhinney presiding, and W. Bro. Roe acting as vice-chairman.

Interesting toast list was carried out, and speeches, songs and recitation were in evidence. One and all were loud in praise of the gathering of the day, and agreed that the best time had been done well repaid the expenses incurred.

Civic London Dines at Mayor Campbell's Board

Banquet Given by His Worship in the City Hall.

Mayor Urges Economy on All Schools' Economy.

Chairman Yeates, of the board of education, replying to the toast, said the board this year were determined to run school matters on as economical a basis as possible, but they did not feel like sacrificing the efficiency of London's schools—schools which are renowned all over Canada.

Wages in all lines of business had gone up from 25 to 40 per cent in fifteen years, and it was only natural that school teachers' salaries should also be increased, and the board felt justified in making the increases they had made some days ago, as it was the first advance in school salaries in this city in fifteen years.

To Safeguard City's Health.
Dr. English, chairman of the board of health, said he had known Mayor Campbell for many years as a capable and efficient public man, and he felt that beginning it as he had, his term will be sure to redound to the benefit of the city.

He declared the garbage system proposal had been defeated by the people. The board of health, he assured, will make every effort this year to safeguard the people's health by thoroughly inspecting all summer resorts frequented by Londoners.

As regards the sewerage system, he said it is the idea of the board to not alone complete the sewerage system, but also to install a septic tank. When this is done there will be no complaints regarding the pollution of the river by sewage.

The Public Library.
Dr. A. O. Jeffery, and Mr. George C. Gunn, spoke on behalf of the Public Library board. Mr. Gunn agreed with the mayor as regards the paring of the city's hands.

Mr. Gunn declared the increase in the city's natural growth, and the fact that each of the city's bodies should do all in their power to keep down the taxes and the tax rate this year.

Water Commissioner Jones replied on behalf of the commission. He promised to use his best endeavors to keep down the cost of water.

"The Mayor's Cabinet."
Ald. Stevens then responded to the toast of the "Mayor's Cabinet," as the chairman of No. 1 committee. He said the day is not far distant when London will be the metropolis of the entire western section of Ontario.

London is a city to be proud of, and the city owes a deep debt to the men who have guided its destinies in the past. Though many people object to the tax rate in London, it is a fact that the city has a very low rate.

The citizens as the taxes he pays. A man assessed for $100 pays about $25 in taxes, and for this sum his children are educated, his home is protected from fire, and he is given good streets and good sidewalks.

If London will not be many years until the city has a population of 7,500.

Ald. Blackwell, replying on behalf of the board of works, he agreed that the council should be economical, but he did not think that this applied to the board of works. In previous years the board had too little to spend. There was an overdraft last year, and he has heard the last of it.

To his mind it does not matter how much money is spent on the streets if it is spent wisely. The streets must be put in repair, and the board must have money to do the work. The West London sewerage has to be built, and other work must be performed, and he hoped the council will be generous. If the council gave the board a fair amount he guaranteed the board would spend it wisely.

Ald. Matthews, chairman of No. 2 committee, was the next speaker. He said he hoped if he said anything nice of the mayor the papers would not record it. People who had spoken nicely of one mayor had had their words quoted and their pictures also used.

(Laughter.) Consequently he would be very careful as to what he said. He then spoke of the efficiency of the local fire department, and he said a high compliment to Fire Chief Clark and his men. In fact, he said, there were several men in the department who should have their salaries increased. If you don't pay good wages you can't get good men, he said. In each of the fire halls there should be combination chemical and supply wagons. If this were done the efficiency of the department would be vastly increased.

He also said in good words for the fire hall in the north end, and he declared the hall should be built, not on the ground of the general fund, but on the basis of the fire insurance fund. The people paying taxes today should not be asked to stand the whole cost of improvements which will benefit the city for the next 20 years.

The Civic Officials.
Mayor Campbell next proposed the health of "The Civic Officials," and after it had been drunk by the company several responses were made.

Principal Beattie, of the Collegiate Institute, said that all educational tests in London showed our schools to be far in advance of the schools of any other city in the Province. He said, however, that the schools of London are deficient in the city's playgrounds. In fact, the city had allowed the old Union school property to slip through its fingers. This was a grave mistake. The Collegiate Institute has not the playgrounds it should have, and he suggested that the city purchase some vacant lots in the vicinity, and add them to the Collegiate Institute property at once. Playgrounds are essential to the physical welfare of our citizens.

Dr. Hutchinson, M. H. O., also responded. He made a hit by declaring that the medical health officer of the city of London, like the city of London itself, is excelled by none.

Chief Williams responded to "The Police Department." He said in the police force the city has a creditable body of men. In the last four years, but two men have been brought before the commissioners for breaches of the rules. He said it was very hard to secure the proper class of men for the force because of the low pay. But one man in ten who is taken on the department remains. Some are not cut for policemen, and others resign because of the low pay. And each time a policeman went on duty he took his life in his hands. The burglar is the criminal the average citizen fears most, and yet this is the man the policeman has to tackle single-handed in the dead of night.

Water Commissioner Jones replied on behalf of the commission. He promised to use his best endeavors to keep down the cost of water.
