

COUNCIL AND BOARD MAY CLASH OVER LORNE AVE. SCHOOL PLANS

City Architect's Drawings Were Not Accepted By Trustees.

MAY HOLD UP DEBENTURES

Members of the Board Say Mr. Nutter's Plans Were Not What They Wanted.

The rejection of the plans for the Lorne avenue school prepared by City Architect Nutter, by the board of education yesterday afternoon, is causing considerable discussion around the city hall today. Mr. Nutter himself is not pleased at the board's action, and can advance no reason for the rejection.

"I cannot understand it," said Mr. Nutter to The Advertiser. "My plans are as up-to-date as possible, and are not English, but American. As far as the cost is concerned, my first plans were much cheaper than those accepted, but I altered them at the solicitation of the board, with the result that the cost was increased somewhat. There were some things the board wanted that I could not agree with as their suggestions were in direct violation of the building bylaw. I put in a fire-proof stairway, and a fire-proof hallway, because that is what the bylaw requires, and it must be lived up to. The board also wanted large windows, but the smaller panes are much more up-to-date and present a better appearance. I suggested myself that the cloak-room be done away with, and in its place lockers be put up. I see by the report that Mr. Murray has put lockers in his plans.

The Accepted Plans.

Do the plans accepted by the board conform to the building bylaw? was asked.

"I do not know," Mr. Nutter said. "I have not seen them. But the building will have to be built according to the building bylaws, as it would be a mistake to allow it to be built otherwise."

"The members of the board stated that your plans do not call for a basement under the entire school," Mr. Nutter was informed.

"That is not correct, as the plans call for a basement under the entire school," he declared. "More than that, in my plans I placed the heating-room not under the hallway, but under one of the rooms, so that the hallway would not be threatened by fire in any case. I had a cement floor placed in the room."

"The whole difficulty is this: The board will not get away from mistakes that have been perpetuated in all the schools they have built. They want to continue the same mistakes rather than get away from them. My idea was to correct them so far as possible. Other than that I cannot understand what the difference between myself and the board is."

A Clash Probable.

There is a possibility of a clash between the council and the board of education on the matter.

Mayor Stevely was asked about this possibility, but declared that it was a matter for No. 2 committee to deal with, as the engineer's department is under the control of that committee.

Some of the aldermen, it was stated, do not relish the fact that the plans have been given to an outside architect, when the city has a man for that purpose.

None of them would commit himself on the matter, but it was hinted that the debentures for the school might not be issued until this matter was settled.

The board of education will insist on its choice of architect, and will maintain that the plans of Mr. Nutter were not satisfactory while those of Mr. Murray were satisfactory.

No Comparison.

"There is no comparison in the plans," said Mr. Nutter. "Mr. Murray's plans fill the bill. Mr. Nutter's do not. That is the reason we took Mr. Murray's. There is no reason why we cannot do this, and we are going to do it. We did not wish to hurt Mr. Nutter's feelings or anything like that, but we laid the two sets of plans before us, and without any opposition, Mr. Murray's was chosen. The board was unanimous. Since that was the case, there was only one thing for the board to do, and we did it. It must not be forgotten that Mr. Nutter is not an official in the employ of the board. As city architect, we got him to prepare plans for us. Had they been satisfactory we would have had to pay our proportion towards his salary. As they were not satisfactory we will have to pay our own official, that's all."

CAPT. HARBOTTLE CAUGHT

Toronto, April 14.—Capt. Harbottle, the absconding secretary of the Toronto Club, was arrested on Sunday at Havana, Cuba. Photographs and descriptions of the defaulter were freely distributed and it was thought at one time that he had headed for the city of Mexico. Search there, however, revealed no trace of him, and the detectives had to take up the trail again at New Orleans. The captain has covered a good deal of ground since he left Toronto, but finally he was located in Havana, and his arrest, as stated, took place on Sunday. The Toronto authorities were immediately notified, and Attorney-General Foy was asked to secure the necessary extradition papers.

Capt. Harbottle, who is 36 years of age, was and is very well known in Toronto. He was engaged in a general fire and life insurance business in the Confederation Life Building from 1899. In addition to being secretary of the Toronto Club and the Ontario Rifle Association, he was a member of the Toronto Hunt and Ontario Jockey Clubs. He was a captain in the 45th Highlanders and was a popular club and society man.

BRINGING OUT FARM HELP AND NOT STRIKE-BREAKERS

Colonel Howell, of the Salvation Army Immigration Department, Visits London and Makes Some Explanations—Says the Army Fathers the Sins of Others.

Col. Howell, of Toronto, who is in charge of the immigration department of the Salvation Army, was a visitor in the city this morning, and discussed the immigration policy of the army with The Advertiser.

He pointedly refutes the statement that the army brings out strike-breakers and mechanics to take the places of Canadian workmen, but declares that the policy of the army has been, and still is, to lead men back to the soil.

Blamed for Others' Sins.

"We have been blamed for the sins of many immigration societies," he said. "There are any number of societies in England which are sending immigrants to Canada. There is the Church Army, the East End Emigration Society, and a host of others. In fact, there are 2,000 booking agents in the old country, all sending emigrants to Canada. Very few of these societies are represented here. They have no organizations in the Dominion, and the people in Canada do not know them as immigration organizations. But still they pour in their multitude of men into Canada. When they get here, there Continued on Page Nine.

Miss Everly Is Located in Detroit

The Chatham News says: Because Miss Merritt Everly, daughter of Nelson Everly, Woods street, night watchman of the Chatham wagon works, changed her mind about returning to London, having visited her parents here last week, preferring to go to Detroit, considerable anxiety fell to the lot of a large number of friends in London and Chatham.

A week ago Saturday she left London, where she was employed in the east end, for her home in Chatham. She arrived here safely and spent the week-end in the Maple City.

On Tuesday she boarded a train for London, after having informed a number of intimate friends in London that she expected to return to that city. However, she did not arrive, and a "mysterious disappearance" was at once spoken of.

Nothing was thought of the matter until the other evening, when, according to a London paper the girl's parents in Chatham telephoned a Mr. Laird, of the Teumseh House, London, who is said to have been keeping company with her, making it clear, and she simply changed her mind and did not care to go back to London and went to Detroit instead.

He was driving home from Ingersoll, when at a bridge over the Thames River at Thamesford the blind horse he was driving got out of the track and pitched headlong over the stone abutment twenty feet above the water. The buggy and man followed, breaking away from the horse in the descent, and the man being pitched out. Each struck the water separately. Allen got to shore without assistance, apparently not in the least injured. The horse escaped without a bruise, and the buggy was only slightly damaged.

MARDI GRAS WEEK FOR LONDON BIG PLAN OF LOCAL OLD BOYS

Festival Is Proposed Which Will Rival the Famous New Orleans Event—Members Are Enthusiastic and Determined to Carry It Out—A Big Thing for London.

Preparations are being made for an Old Boys' Reunion that will be the most elaborate affair ever given in the city.

If the plans of the home guard go through, a carnival rivaling even the celebrated Mardi Gras of New Orleans will be presented in this city.

Last night the members of the executive met at the home of Mr. B. C. McCann, and discussed a proposition that will shortly be submitted to the general committee.

A Big Surprise.

"The scheme that we have in mind will surprise the people of London," said Secretary McCann.

"Nothing like it has ever been given in Canada, and it will be equal to any given in New Orleans or anywhere else. We are getting all the information we possibly can get on the subject, and in a few days a definite proposition as to cost and the details of the scheme will be made known. The only feature is the cost. The expenses will be quite heavy, but not beyond our reach, I am certain. If the plan we have adopted for the sale of seats in the grand stand meets with the hearty support of the citizens, as I anticipate, we will have sufficient money and more to put this on. I know many people who have seen this and they say that it cannot be beaten. Every person who knows anything about it is most enthusiastic.

Splendid Proposition.

"The proposition is splendid," said ex-Ald. Gillen, the treasurer. "The only drawback is the money. It will cost us some money but it will be worth more than anything we ever had. It will make the Mardi Gras look cheap. We will have a man here from New York shortly, who will explain to us the details, and when we get that information, something will be done."

Reports are coming in from the associations, and in all communications there is expressed the opinion that the reunion this summer will be the best of the long series.

Another meeting will be held next week to discuss the plans for the pageant.

75,000,000 OF WHITEFISH PLANTED IN GREAT LAKES

Dominion Hatcheries Plant One Million at Port Stanley and Report That Whitefish and Pickerel Are Rapidly Increasing in Lakes Erie, Huron and Ontario.

Seventy-five millions of whitefish will be planted in Lakes Erie, Huron and Ontario within the next few weeks.

Yesterday Mr. Wm. Hill, assistant superintendent of the Dominion fish hatchery in Chatham, took one million whitefish and planted them in Lake Erie at Port Stanley. This afternoon he left for Hamilton with another million to plant in Lake Ontario at that point.

"We expect to plant 75,000,000 whitefish this month in Lake Erie, Lake Huron and Lake Ontario," said Mr. Hill in conversation with The Advertiser. "We have been doing this work for many years, and it is highly successful. From all over come reports that the fish are increasing in the lakes, especially whitefish and pickerel. The Government is building a new hatchery at Point Edward. This will be ready for pickerel hatching by May 1, and I understand it is the intention of the Government to establish other hatcheries in the Province. In May the pickerel hatching begins, and we expect to plant as many pickerel in the lakes. There is no doubt that hatcheries are doing great things for the preservation of the fish in the great lakes."

Administration Building Is Cut Out

Isolation Hospital Plans Altered

Chairman Stewart Thinks They Will Now Be Found Satisfactory.

The isolation hospital plans will come before the special hospital committee this evening, when they will be considered by the committee and the hospital trust.

City Architect Nutter has the plans prepared, and so far as can be learned they are satisfactory to all parties concerned.

The new plans call for two separate buildings, one for scarlet fever and the other for diphtheria.

The administration building has been done away with in the new plans as it was thought that the isolation hospital can be administered from the present hospital.

"I think the building will be satisfactory this time," said Ald. Stewart, the chairman, this afternoon. "It provides for 38 rooms, and there is complete isolation, the scarlet fever and diphtheria wards being completely separated."

"Some of the hospital trust think there is not enough room, but the building is so constructed that it can be added to without destroying the appearance or symmetry of the building. We can build it well within our estimates, too, I think. The other building was too elaborate. This one is more like it."

Mayor Stevely After White Springs

No definite arrangements have been made yet for another meeting of the water commission to settle the water problem.

Mayor Stevely informed The Advertiser that Engineer Moore has not yet finished his report on the cost of the land for the many schemes or an estimate of the possible damages the city might have to pay the millers along the Thames in case filtration is adopted.

This is expected within a day or two.

"We will get together in a day or two," said Mayor Stevely, "and try and settle this matter. I am out and for spring water, and as long as there is a possibility of getting it we will investigate. Mr. John White, who owns certain north branch springs, told me that there was any quantity of water in that region, and that if properly developed, there is more spring water there than there is in the city. We want to find out if that is the case. If there is that much spring water there, we want to get it, as I am convinced that the citizens want spring water. We are just setting all the information we can on the subject, and when we have all the information that it is possible to get, then we will do what is thought best in the interests of the citizens."
