brought before the Magistrate subsequently, expressed regret for committing a contempt of court and was discharged, Col. Denison thanking him on behalf of the city for the prompt action he had taken in bringing the scoundrel to justice.

The charge against Macleod was abundantly proven, and he was sentenced to 23 mouths in the Central Prison and to receive 40 lashes with the cat-o-nine tails, half or entering and an additional 20 two month-before the expiration of his sentence. Prisoner attempted to weep, but the tears came from a scant feantain and refused to trickle down his cheeks.

The mother of the little victim was in court and gave vent to her feelings in frequent outbursts against the scoundrel.

Which a Prayer Meeting Exhorter is Sale to Have Perpetrated. A party of three young men were return-ing to the city on Sunday from a cruise up the lake. They were in an ordinary double lugger. A squall came on and they ran into Long Branch wharf for refuge. What took place is thus narrated by one of the crew;

We left Oakville about 2 p.m. on Sunday with a fine west wind, but on nearing Long Branch we noticed an approaching storm and decided to take shelter there, as it was impossible to beach the boat in safety. We reached the wharf and tied up the boat, when a person named Wilkie (who I am since informed was conducting a prayer meeting at the time) came and peremptorily ordered us to leave, giving us, therefore, the alternative of putting out to sea in the teeth of a heavy gale, under circumstances when a person of ordinary humanity would not have so acted. We naturally decided to take the only prudent course and remain, when he took out his watch and ordered us off in five minutes under pain of arrest, despatching, or pretending to despatch, a man for a policeman. After waiting until the weather had somewhat moderated we continued our course, but again encountered a frightful gale, which put us in considerable peril, and arrived at a place of shelter about four miles from the Humber, where an old man took charge of our wet clothes and acted with a kindness and humanity in singular conlugger. A squall came on and they ran into charge of our wet clothes and acted with a kindness and humanity in singular con-trast with the treatment we received from the manager at Long Branch, in which he ap-parently was acting contrary to the feelings of all who witnessed what took place.

of His Domicile Thomas White, merchant, Queen-stree west, applied before Justice Ferguson at Osgoode Hall yesterday for permission to conwey lands without the consent of his wife. The evidence was to the effect that White was married on Aug. 30, 1887, but six weeks later his wife (who is at present an accountant in the Home for Incurables) left him, the reason alleged by White's lawyer, Mr. Fraser, for the break in the connubial bliss being that White used to walk about the house in his night dress singing hymns. Justice Ferguson remarked that any man who performed these antics when he ought to be asleep was a madman. Lawyer H. Cassels supplemented Lawyer Fraser's remark by stating that White treated his wife shearfully and during the six reach. remark by stating that white treated his wife shamefully, and during the six weeks that marital relations were continued frequently related to her the manner in which she would be everlastingly scorched in the next world for her frivolity on this mundane sphere.

Mr. T. G. Shaughnessy, Assistant President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was in town yesterday. Speaking to The World about the Manitoba crop he said:
"It is very difficult to give a close estimate of the total yield. We have telegrams from every part of the wheat growing listricts which indicate that the yield districts which indicate that the yield of wheat will be 24,000,000 bushels this year. I think, however, if it is put at 18,000,000, such an estimate will be fully borne out when the threshers have finished work. Mr. Greenway places the total yield at 20,000,000 bushels, but, as I say, it is impossible to tell what it will be. The crops are looking excellent, however, and there is no doubt that the results will be very satisfactory." "What about the hallstorm? It was reported that 100,000 acres of crop was de-"That is all nonsense. The hallstorm was mly local. He had with him $25,000 of embezzled money. He then took a house in Philip's square, one of the semi uptown fashionable quarters, where he lived with his family. Detective Howard from Minneapolis was on his track, added by a local man, and on Sunday evening they effected the arrest as Rae was standing in front of his own door, In his possession was found $20,000. He was privately guarded that night and yesterday was taken before Police Magistrate Desnoyers, where he waived extradition proceedings and left for linome to-day in company with an officer. The affair was kept so quiet that it was only at 2½ this morning it began to be suspected and even yet a knowledge of it is confined to less than half a dozen people here.
