

insert it.—Whereas L. D. White, who was a sojourner among us until about the first day of March 1870, and who claimed to be a member of La Moille Lodge, No. 383, Illinois, and who removed from this place to Mexico, Missouri, (where he now resides we are not advised), has been guilty of living in adultery with a certain Mrs. Davison; while at the time or so living she was the lawful wife of John B. Davison, of Rock Island County, Illinois, and a member of Doric Lodge, No. 319, A. F. & A. M.:

Therefore, be it resolved: That L. D. White has been guilty of gross perjury, and that he is unworthy the confidence of all men. First, for living as he did with the said Mrs. Davison, and secondly, for visiting our lodge while he stands as a suspended mason under the action of La Moille Lodge, No. 383, and for living in adultery with the wife of a master mason, which last named offence should condemn him in the mind of every master mason, and every good citizen.

Resolved 2d. That the foregoing resolutions be published in THE EVERGREEN, with a request that the same be copied in all masonic periodicals throughout the United States.

MAINE.

On July 4th, the Grand Masonic Temple in Bangor was dedicated with imposing ceremonies by the Grand Lodge. From the Bangor Courier we learn a description of the hall and rooms which were richly and appropriately furnished.

R. W. Bro. Geo. W. Snow read a most interesting history of the Lodges in Bangor, the first Lodge dating back to January 12, 1808. M. W. Bro. Josiah H. Drummond delivered a beautiful address, which was received with great applause. He furnished a complete history of the Fraternity in the State throughout the great Anti-Masonic storm. From it we extract the following:

It has been stated in the public press that but two lodges in Maine survived the storm. This is not true. There being no work offered, the brethren, in many instances, met merely to preserve and continue their organization. As the mariner in a storm departs from his course and runs with the gale in order to save the ship, to renew his voyage when the tempest has spent its fury, so the faithful brethren for a time yielded to the storm of persecution which assailed them, looking with the eye of faith to the time when they could put the good ship of Masonry again on her accustomed course, without a single plank being started, a single timber strained, or a single spar wanting. Throughout the storm the helm was never deserted; and when the sun of peace again shone upon her she was found uninjured by the gale, and ready to spread her sails to the favoring winds. Her crew was, indeed, thinned by death and desertion, but enough were left, who had stood manfully at their posts, to put her upon her course—a course of prosperity unexampled in her history.

The Senior Grand Lodge in the Dominion of Canada, at its recent session, refused to recognize the Grand Lodge of Quebec. The principal officers of the senior grand lodge were re-elected—the Gr. Sec., T. B. Harris, unanimously.—The American Freemason.
