

the Church of Rome. Every preacher of every little, snarling, two-by-ten Protestant sect between the mountains and the sea takes his turn at denouncing the Pope as Anti-Christ and the Eternal Church as the Scarlet Lady. They roll the precious morsel under their tongues and spit obscenity disguised as religion until the slime of it clings to the broadcloth and laces of their listeners. Many years ago, when a child in the far south-land I love so well, yellow fever epidemics were of almost annual occurrence. Then, brothers in the world, the flesh and the devil, I saw the priests come up the great river in the steamers, bound for the stricken districts. Young, bright-eyed, fresh-faced boys from France, unacclimated strangers in a strange land, they went to their deaths as gaily as ever bridegroom with a singing heart found his way to the chamber of his love. They nursed the sick, and gave the sacred oil to the dying, and held before their failing eyes the cross upon which Jesus suffered, and pointed ever upward to the path of light and folded the pitifully clinging fingers of those deserted by family and friends, and died like sheep and rotted unburied in the pestilential air. I have seen the pure, patient, dove-eyed Sisters of Charity dead on the streets of those ruined cities, but never saw I a Protestant minister of any denomination whatsoever in the lair of the yellow King of Terrors. To you and me, brothers in the world, the flesh and the devil, deeds speak more loudly than words. We look upon the wine cup when it is red, we bet our money upon the supposed fact that one horse can run faster than any other horse, we endeavor disastrously to make three deuces bigger than four jacks, we go to the theatre and buy oysters and beer for the soubrette when the play is ended, and we are never in a church, except when a friend marries or dies, but we take off our hats in the street when we see one of the black-robed men or women who are the servants of the Church that embraces the world. We do not lift our hats to the Rev. C. O. Brown and the gospel shell workers of his kidney."

HEART DISEASE.

A trouble no longer regarded as incurable.

An Orangeville Lady Who Had Suffered Severely Speaks of Her Illness and Tells How She Found a Cure.

From the Sun, Orangeville, Ont.

A remarkable case recently came under the notice of our reporter, and for the benefit it may be to some of our readers, we are going to tell them about it. In the south ward of this town lives Mrs. John Hubbard, a lady much esteemed by those who know her. Mrs. Hubbard has been a great sufferer from heart trouble, and ultimately became so bad that it would not have surprised her friends to have heard of her death. But a change has come and she is once more rejoicing in good health. When our reporter called upon Mrs. Hubbard and made his mission known she said she would be delighted to tell him of her "miraculous cure" as she styled it. "Of course no one thought I would get better. I thought myself I could not last long, for at times it seemed as if my heart was going to burst. Oh, the dreadful sensations, the awful pains and weakness, together with a peculiar feeling of distress, all warned me that my life was in danger. I consulted a doctor but he could do nothing for me. My friends saw me gradually sinking, and many an hour's anxiety I caused them. My strength waned, my nerves were shattered; I could not walk, for every step caused my heart to palpitate violently. It is utterly impossible to fully describe my condition. One day a friend brought me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and told me to use them, but I said there was no use—they could do no good. To this my benefactor replied, that if they did not they at least could do no harm, so to please her I took the box of pills. Then I procured another box and began to feel that they were doing me good. I took in all eight boxes and now I feel strong and hearty, each day doing my housework without fatigue or weariness. For anyone who suffers from weakness of the heart, I believe there is no remedy so sure or that will bring such speedy results as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Had I only used these wonderful pills at first I would have been spared months of intense suffering. Mrs. Hubbard but re-echoes the experience of scores of sufferers, and what she says should bring hope to many who imagine there is no relief for them in this world. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have saved more lives than we will ever know of

Notes from Ste. Rose du Lac.

We have now climbed up the "happy hills of Lent" and reached once more the pinnacle of Easter. This year the thaw came softly as a dream, it began on Maundy Thursday, all day a low mist veiled the mountains, all day and night the thaw continued. We almost swam from Church on Sunday, crossing at early morn the frozen streams which in the afternoon, returning, were raging torrents. How earthy and common-place we look now! No flowers and our snow wreaths gone. But if we wait, the flowers will come again, for the world is as fresh and as young and as sweet as ever, to each new soul that comes into it, although it has lasted so many thousand years. The seasons keep it perennially young, each Spring renews its youth and it is never more than a year old. How differently time deals with us! The clock which ticks so noisily in still and solitary places is like the beating of a heart, the palpitating heart of Time, ah! all too soon we spend our little share of it.

Our Indians have come back from the Mountain, where they went (not for deer of course, but) for rabbit, lynx and other small game. The squaws have finished, for this season, sitting on the ice fishing; one poor old dear last month, in the enthusiasm of sport, forgot to take her cushion of straw and got frozen on, and had to be thawed out; there was not a dry thread on her, I hear. The wild geese are flying North, like others, to the Klondyke. That most womanlike of all birds, the crow, who never opens her mouth without "caws," is chatting all the time. At last we are hammering away at our bridges for all we are worth, like people who begin to pack up their valise when they see the train coming. Hurrah! for we have bridges now, with many thanks to our valiant men in power, and now you can come and see us dry-shod, not walking upon the waters like St. Peter, nor wading through them like St. Christopher. But forgive us, if we are still a little rough in our ways, especially in that one leading from Makinak to Ste. Rose.

ACCORDING to Nilsson, the zoologist, the weight of the Greenland whale is 224,000 pounds, or equal to that eighty-eight elephants, or 440 bears.

A New Boarding-House For Small Boys.

The Sisters of Charity of St. Boniface, yielding to repeated requests from various quarters, have determined to undertake the management of a boarding-house for boys between the ages of six and twelve. Special halls will be set apart for them, where, under the care and supervision of the Grey Nuns, they will be prepared for their First Communion, while attending either the Preparatory Department of St. Boniface College or the classes of Provencher Academy. This establishment will be known as "Le Jardin de l'Enfance" (Kindergarten). The results already attained in similar institutions of the Order give every reason to hope that this arrangement will fill a long felt want.

Board and lodging will cost six dollars a month. For the boys who attend Provencher Academy there will be an additional charge of fifty cents a month. Bedding, mending and washing will be extra. The Sisters are willing to attend to these extras on terms to be arranged with them. The boys who attend the Preparatory Department of St. Boniface College will have to pay the tuition fees of the College.

Applications should be made to THE SISTER SUPERIOR, GREY NUNS' MOTHER HOUSE, ST. BONIFACE.
