"The bills providing for the establishment of a railway and municipal board, and the bill respecting steam, electric, and street railways are timely and comprehensive measures. The proper regulation of steam and electric railways, the limitation of franchises, the control of rates, and the enforcement of agreements, cannot fail to be in the public interest and to meet with general approval. I join with you in the confident hope that the operation of these enactments will tend to beneficial results.

"The bill regarding the taxation of railways, whereby the former tax is doubled, will assist the province materially in carrying on its charitable institutions and at the same time yield revenue to the municipalities.

"By the enactment of the bill amending the liquor license law more effective restrictions have been placed around the liquor traffic. It is gratifying to know that the province and the municipalities share equally in the increased revenue that this measure will yield. vation Army Handling of Arrivals, 'Tis Said.

Criticism of the alleged lack of system on the part of the Salvation Army in dealing with the immigrants it brings out to this country is being made by Government Immigration Agent Thomas Southworth.

Mr. Southworth claims that the Army is trying to handle immigrants with-out proper means at this end and with unsatisfactory results.

He gives as an instance that seven families brought out thru the Army's agency arrived within the last day or two, expecting to be met on arrival by an Army representative, who would supply them with funds. It was claimed by one young man that he had handed over $100 to the Army at its London headquarters, expecting to be repaid

A Screw Loose Somewhere in Sal- Forced to Flee From Native Land, Well-Known Publicist Won Honor in United States.

> New York, May 14.-Carl Schurz, widely known as a publicist, and former cabinet member, died at his home in this city at 4.35 o'clock this morning. Death was due to a complica tion of diseases following an attack of stomach trouble, which became acute on Thursday last.

He was born in the Village of Lib lar, near Cologne, in 1829 and became interested in the revolutionary movement in Germany, while attending the University of Bonn. When the uprising came in 1849 he served as a private in the ranks of the insurgents. ed over £100 to the Army at its London headquarters, expecting to be repaid the money on arrival in Quebec or Toronto. Having no money on arrival, he had to apply for free meal tickets to the immigration bureau.

Mr. Southworth asserts that all the members of this particular party expected to be placed in positions by the Army officials. Thrown back upon the government's assistance, the department has had to resort to Anglican clergymen in and outside the city, and this has helped toward the solution of an awkward problem.

Mr. Southworth thinks there is a movement on foot by the Church Army to send out an agent to Canada, such as those commissioned by the Self Help and East End Emigration Societies to distribute money to needy immigrants on their reaching Montreal.

He was with General Tideman when the latter surrendered the fortress of Rastadt in July of that year and made an almost miraculous escape thru the sewer connecting with Rhine and fied to Switzerland. A year later he returned to Germany, under an assumed name, for the purpose of liberating his friend, Prof. Kinkel, who had been taken a prisoner at the surrender of the fortress and sentenced to life imprisonment. This daring and romantic project, was carried to a successful conclusion and created a sensation thruout Europe. His marriage to Margaret Mayer, the daughter of a prominent merchant, in 1852, was an indirect outgrowth of the sensational rescue of his friend from prison.
