

Last of the "Lonelies"

A Price Razee

If you have any lingering doubt about the splendid chance this Semi-ready Sale offers to you, just consult some man in the wool trade or in the cloth trade.

Saturday, the Last Day of the Lonely Sale

The Suits and Overcoats which I am selling to-day are new—this season's styles. They were so good I bought too many of them, and rather than carry them over I'm selling them at $2 and $3 less than I can replace them for next fall. No silver tongue is needed to sell these garments—they sell themselves on sight.

The Semi-ready "Signet of Surety" is removed from every coat sold at less than cost, but just the same, return any garment if it fails any test you may put it to.
